...Q. P. LEADERS ...E EARLY VOTE ...NAVY TREATY

...tification Is Sure, They Believe.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

...shington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—...-Administration leaders said today that the caucus of Republican ...ators tomorrow will adopt President Hoover's program for immediate ...on on the navy limitation treaty.

...nator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], ...der of the opposition to the treaty, ...day made a plea for postponement of ... until the winter session, in order ...o allow the country to become ...miliar with a measure affecting our ...tional defense. Not more than a ...en senators are supporting him.

...nator William E. Borah [Rep., ...ho] said that he expects the foreign ...ations committee, of which he is ...irman, to report the treaty favorably to the senate before the end of the week. It is planned to bring the measure before the senate for debate immediately after the tariff bill and rivers and harbors bill are disposed of.

Predict Ratification.

...nators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], both members of the American delegation to the London conference, predicted ratification of the treaty by an overwhelming majority. Senator Johnson declined to indulge in prophecy regarding the production of further information on the treaty.

...ngs as matters now stand, however, the ratification numbers considerably less than the 64 senators necessary to ratification of the treaty. One of the opposition senators conceded that he does not expect more than 15 votes to be recorded against ratification.

Johnson Asks Information.

...nator Johnson formally notified ...nator Borah of the foreign relations committee today that he desires the production of the following information by the administration:

1. The tentative American proposals of Jan. 27, in which appeared for the first time the acceptance by the American delegation of the limitation to eight inch gun cruisers, which the British had sought all along to impose on the United States.

2. The text of the formal American proposals made to the British and Japanese on Feb. 5.

3. The dispatches exchanged by the British and American governments on which the American navy general board predicated its memorandum of Jan. 31 advising the President that eight inch gun cruisers constitute the irreducible minimum of strength we should have in this class of ships to establish Anglo-American parity.

4. All other correspondence between the American and British governments during the London conference.

5. The memorandum of the general board submitted in August in which it was stated that 23 eight inch gun cruisers are essential to our peculiar defense needs.

No Documents Submitted.

None of these documents has been submitted to the foreign relations committee and one of them, the next to the last American proposals of Jan. 6, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson declined to submit when he was before the committee. The administration has not concealed the fact that it would prefer the senate should act on the treaty without the disclosure of all these details of the negotiations. One administration leader has looked up the law and precedents and has advised the White House that the President is not obliged to reveal anything pertaining to the negotiation of a treaty.

Senator Johnson lays the reluctance of the administration to disclose documentary information to the fact that it would expose the manner in which the United States made the agreement. He contends the American envoys accepted the British plan of dividing cruisers into two classes—eight inch and six inch gun ships—with a limitation to be fixed on each class.

Refers to Japanese.

When that had been agreed to, he says, America could not be allowed eight inch gun cruisers aggregating 216,000 tons without according Japan the right to at least her Washington treaty ratio of 60 per cent of our tonnage, 126,000. But 126,000 would have been 87 per cent of Great Britain's 15 eight inch gun cruisers aggregating 146,000 tons, a ratio which Australia and New Zealand assured they never would accept. Japan, however, America came down to 18 eight inch gun cruisers it was willing to hold Japan to her present tonnage of 108,400, which is only 74 per cent of Britain's which was acceptable to the dominions.

AL SMITH PLANS BOOK TO TEACH CITIZENSHIP

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith has signed a contract with Harper & Bros. for the publication of a popular book on citizenship, which probably will be called "The Citizen and His Government." This bit of news is exclusive with the New York Times and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Mr. Smith's book has nothing to do with any material thus far published in book, magazine or newspaper form. It grew out of a profound conviction on his part that the nature and scope of government in their relation to the individual are not understood by the average citizen, and that much of the present failure of popular government is to be charged to the lack of knowledge on the part of the man in the street of what his government, city, state, and national, can reasonably be expected to do for him.

The book will be personal and popular in its writing. It will occupy a unique position because no similar contribution to the science of popular American government has ever been made by an executive of Mr. Smith's long and first hand opinion. Woodrow Wilson's famous book on the subject was written before his active political career. In fact, when he became a politician many mourned the loss of a great writer.

Gunman Slain by Volley from Gang Avengers

A gunman was found dying from bullet wounds last night in an alley at 1011 West Grand avenue, a victim of gang vengeance. In his belt was a revolver which his hand clutched when he succumbed as he was being taken to a hospital.

Another gun, with six shells discharged, lay in the alley nearby. Children told of an automobile which raced away just after the shots were heard.

In the victim's pocket was a well thumbed card of Jack Zuta, head of a west side vice syndicate, a pal of the Aiellos, and an ally of Bugs Moran, according to the police.

Card Leads to Undertaker.

A telephone number on another card in the dead man's pocket led the police to the undertaking establishment of Peter J. Maruca, 934 West Grand avenue. Maruca, the police say, was formerly known as a partner of Sam Aiello, one of the rulers of the powerful west side alcohol gang.

Maruca was taken by the police to the county morgue, where he identified the slain gunman as Peter Plescia, his partner in an auxiliary to the undertaking business, which furnished automobiles for funerals, weddings, and other occasions.

Capt. William Killeen of the West Chicago avenue station attributed the killing to trouble over alcohol. Plescia, he said, had been involved in a recent alcohol deal and reports of a dispute had reached the police several days ago.

Investigates Macaroni Plot.

Capt. Killeen said he also would investigate Plescia's possible connection with a reported attempt on the part of gangsters to "muscle" into the macaroni manufacturing business. Among the dead man's possessions was a card of the Roma Macaroni company, 1844 West Grand avenue, which was established at that address but a few days ago.

The block in which Plescia was killed is known to be a hangout of members of the Aiello gang. James Intrava and Jack Costa, described by the police as bodyguards of Sam Aiello, who were arrested in Al Capone's home in Miami last month, gave 1125 West Grand avenue and 1160 West Grand avenue as their Chicago addresses.

Plescia was killed by a bullet which entered his neck and crashed into his brain. Another had torn away his jaw. A third went through his shoulder. Plescia was 35 years old. Formerly he was in the olive oil business. His expensive clothes showed evidences of prosperity, the police said.

SOCIAL WORKER CALLS DRY LAW 10 YEAR FAILURE

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Federal prohibition has proved a failure after ten years' trial and should be abandoned in favor of returning the problem to the individual states, in the opinion of Dr. Katharine Bement Davis, noted sociological worker. She said tonight at her home in Jackson Heights that she favors that solution as recently outlined by Dwight Morrow in his candidacy for the senate from New Jersey.

Dr. Davis, who was commissioner of correction under the administration of Mayor Mitchel and for thirteen years superintendent of Bedford reformatory for women, has been friendly to the cause of prohibition through thirty years of active social work, but has at last been convinced that the present situation is intolerable, she said.

"I would have been very happy if federal prohibition had succeeded as its friends hoped," Dr. Davis said. "But I have decided that it has not worked and never can work. It would require a veritable army of men and billions of dollars to enforce it. Even then, I believe, it would not be successful without the coöperation of the various states, municipalities, and citizenry.

"Therefore I now believe that the cause of temperance can best be advanced by a change in the prohibition laws, and I am heartily in favor of the point of view proclaimed by Dwight Morrow."

POLICEMAN SHOT IN BATTLE WITH SALOON ROBBER

Policeman Joseph Poplasky, 39 years old, of the Brighton Park station, and Matthew Frankiewicz, 4850 South Paulina street, were shot early this morning in a gun battle with a robber who tried to hold up the soft drink parlor of Steve Koschensky at 4757 South Paulina street.

Poplasky, Frankiewicz, and Koschensky were in the place with Joseph Kopidlowski, the owner of the building; Anthony Dzioka, and the latter's wife, Anna, when the bandit entered with pistol drawn. Poplasky reached for his gun and the robber fired. One bullet struck Frankiewicz in the knee and Poplasky fell with wounds in the left arm and hand and in the right knee. From the floor the policeman opened fire on the robber, and Dzioka also started shooting.

The bandit gave up the fight, jumped through the front window, and fled down the street. He obtained no money. Poplasky and Frankiewicz were taken to the Englewood hospital.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO WIN CHICAGO TO CAR MERGER

Information Board Is Appointed.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough announced yesterday the executive nucleus of "the nonpartisan committee on transit referendum," authorized by the city council last Monday. Mr. McDonough will take on the work of being chairman of the executive committee. Associated with him from the council will be Ald. James B. Bowler, Oscar F. Nelson, Jacob M. Arvey, John Toman, and John S. Clark. The citizen members selected are:

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council.

David L. Shillinglaw, past Illinois commander of the American Legion.

This committee will create a general committee from all sections of the city from among "persons actively interested in the development, prosperity, and business life of the city," according to the announcement. Ald. McDonough said he desires to obtain the services of Allan T. Gilbert, who is secretary of the citizens' transit settlement committee.

Explains Committee's Purpose.

In speaking of the purpose of the committee, Ald. McDonough said:

"The committee plans to set before the citizens the advantages that will follow the proposed settlement of the transportation problem. It is clear that the spending of $300,000,000—$200,000,000 by the consolidated companies and $100,000,000 by the city—in more than doubling the existing transportation facilities will increase employment and stimulate all kinds of business.

"Real estate values will be greatly increased and tremendous building activities will follow the adoption by the voters of the transit ordinance, which has already been approved by the city council and signed by Mayor Thompson. Car riders will be benefited through universal transfers between surface and elevated lines, the building of high speed transportation lines, the constructing of more than 300 miles of surface routes, and the extension of transportation to areas of the city which are either entirely without service or are inadequately served.

If the Ordinance Fails—

"Should the ordinance fail at the referendum there is little hope of any settlement for many years to come, and no extensions could be built."

The referendum will be held on July 1. Ald. McDonough said that it is his idea that his committee should be a bureau of accurate information.

Observers say there is at present comparatively little interest in the transit ordinance except among some groups which failed to get the extensions they desired. These groups, such as the East Side Chamber of Commerce, east of the Calumet river; the South End Chamber of Commerce and the 119th Street Business Men's association in West Pullman and Roseland, the group at 79th and Halsted

Society Author Killed Abroad; Auto Hits Tree

Mrs. Katherine Keith Adler, member of an old Chicago family, prominent in society and distinguished for a novel she had recently published, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident in France.

Dispatches from Paris last night said that she and her husband, David Adler, an architect, were motoring along a rain drenched Normandy road between Le Havre and Paris when the machine skidded and struck a tree at high speed. Mrs. Adler was driving.

Call American Surgeon.

Mr. Adler, who was only slightly hurt, extricated his wife from the wreckage and hailed a passing motorist, who drove to a hospital at the nearest town, Evreux. At Mr. Adler's behest, an American surgeon hastened to Evreux from Paris.

The medical examination indicated that Mrs. Adler had suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries. She died early in the evening without regaining consciousness. She was 34 years old.

The couple had sailed from New York for Europe on May 7, intending to stay abroad for the summer. Their Chicago residence was at 1240 North State parkway and they maintained a country residence at Libertyville.

Daughter of Edson Keiths.

Katherine Keith was born April 17, 1896, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Keith. The Keiths, who now reside at Sarasota, Fla., lived then at 1904 Prairie avenue, and Katherine passed her childhood among the children of what was then the city's fashionable neighborhood.

Upon finishing elementary studies in private schools, she enrolled at the University of Chicago, where she became prominent in campus literary affairs. Her family was prideful, her acquaintances astonished, and Chicago society amused when, in her senior year, she submitted to a magazine an intimate autobiography of her childhood, entitled "The Girl."

Gives Impressions of Youth.

In this work, Miss Keith frankly and piquantly narrated her early impressions of her family, her governess, and her playmates; told the delights of New York trips and of sweets stolen from the pantry, and related the repulsion a visiting clergyman inspired in her. There were such episodes as the following:

"We were staying at a hotel. Fraulein used to let me sit downstairs for a while after supper to listen to the music. A little boy with red hair always sat near me. One evening I asked him if my cheek was chapped. My face was very close to his. I waited breathlessly.

"'Yes,' he said, 'Right there,' and touched my face very gently.

"'How dare you,' I screamed, and boxed his ears. 'Keep your dirty hands off.'

"Fraulein jerked me upstairs and washed my mouth out with soap."

Wed Adler in 1916.

The first installment of the work was published in the Atlantic Monthly in June, 1916, almost on the day Miss Keith and Mr. Adler were married. The bridegroom was the son of the late Isaac Adler of Milwaukee, and the ceremony, performed at St. Paul's Universalist church, was an event on the social calendar.

In later installments the autobiography unfolded details of Miss Keith's juvenile love affairs and of Mr. Adler's courtship.

Four years ago there were rumors that Mrs. Adler was gathering material for another and more pretentious work. It was published in Jan-

100 WOUNDED IN FIERCE FIGHTS AT SALT PLANT

Thousands Battle Near Bombay.

LONDON, May 26.—[Monday]—(AP)—Bombay dispatches to the Daily Mail this morning reported that the police had opened fire upon a crowd of Nationalist volunteers who were attempting a second raid on the Wadala salt deposits Sunday evening.

About 1,000 volunteers took part in the raid and for three hours police were constantly beating off their rushes. Sixty Indians were injured by blows of police sticks.

At nightfall some of the police were cut off and when the mob refused to disperse or give way, the police fired a warning shot into the air and then six rounds into the crowd. The effect of the firing was not stated. The crowd eventually dispersed.

Police Defeat 30,000 Rebels.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BOMBAY, May 25.—The Bombay police weathered the third serious conflict in one week with national congress volunteers, when early this morning another raid by a small band of Gandhi's disciples supported by a mob of more than 30,000 followers, was carried out against a group of private salt works at Wadala, the biggest in western India. In the fighting five European police officers and about 35 rioters were injured.

The march of the volunteers from congress house to the center of the city began shortly after 7 o'clock. Long before that hour thousands of Gandhi sympathizers had gathered along the harbor branch line of the Gipp railway, which runs from north to south in the vicinity of the salt lagoons.

The police had taken up positions both along the railway line and at the foot of a small range of hills which acts as a natural bulwark between the railway and the salt pans stretching back to the sea. They endeavored to establish a cordon to hold back the crowd.

Mob Runs in All Directions.

The police had no difficulty in maintaining order until the first batch of volunteers, who had divided into four groups, arrived on the scene. The volunteers themselves calmly submitted to arrest the moment they reached the first police post, but as they were being marched by one of the European officers back to the waiting prison vans the mob suddenly lurched forward and ran wild in all directions.

The whole rocky plain west of the railway, which up to now was forbidden territory, became a shouting mass of rioters. There were more than 300 Indian police, and 30 Europeans to deal with the situation along the three mile "front." Police used their batons freely. About 113 were arrested.

Police Unable to Check Rioters.

The most serious trouble of the day came later in the morning, when, after the mob had successfully battered down the first lines of the police defense and had made their way close to the vicinity of the actual salt pans, they started to break through. The police were unable to check them. Thousands of raiders penetrated to pyramids of salt piled up ready for export and, under the eyes of the Indian police, who showed little or no inclination to support their officers, scurried away with caps and bags of the stuff.

Cloth Boycott Forbidden.

BOMBAY, India, May 25.—(AP)—Authorities of the city of Madras today issued orders prohibiting for two months any assembly meeting, procession, or other demonstrations in connection with the civil disobedience campaign. The boycott of foreign cloth was also forbidden.

At Multan the police charged a procession which was being held contrary to the ruling, and in the ensuing fight a police officer and five paraders were injured. One of the injured volunteers was reported dying tonight.

In Bombay, a riotous crowd shouted revolutionary cries outside a courthouse where seven members of the national congress were going on trial after having been arrested a fortnight ago at Kohat. The police charged with their staves and several Indians were hurt. Thirty-five were arrested.

"An All-India Question."

DHARSANA, India, May 25.—(AP)—Ambalal Patel, who was arrested in a police raid on Untadi camp, near here, today, told a magistrate who questioned him that the activities at Dharsana had become an all-India question.

The magistrate asked him how long the volunteers purposed to stay at Dharsana.

"As long as we live!" Patel replied.

Urges Moslems to Keep Out.

KARACHI, India, May 25.—(AP)—Word was received here today that Sir Shah Nawaz Kahn Bhutto, a member of the Bombay legislative council, while presiding over a Mohammedan meeting at Sukkur, in Bombay province Thursday night, had called upon his hearers to ignore the civil disobedience agitation as a Hindu movement. He said it tended toward anarchy and revolution.

Charging that the civil disobedience campaign is the climax of efforts of the advanced Hindus to get possession of the government for themselves, he said it was time for the Indian congress to save its own reputation by calling a halt to the movement.

The meeting adopted a resolution deploring the extremists' attitude in rejecting the British offer of a round table conference to discuss India's status. The resolution urged all Indians, particularly Moslems, to keep aloof from the civil disobedience campaign.

BANKER SAVES WOMAN'S GEMS FROM BANDITS

The police yesterday were hunting two armed men who late Saturday night held up Charles Fernald, a second vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, and Mrs. Shea M. Smith, a divorcée, living at 5851 Kenmore avenue, as they were returning to her apartment from a theater. The couple had dismissed their cab and were sitting in Mrs. Smith's car.

Mr. Fernald, who lives at the Chicago Athletic association, saved Mrs. Smith's jewels, valued at $10,000, and her purse, by his presence of mind.

"Here," he said, when the robbers appeared, "leave her alone and take this."

He then displayed his diamond ring, valued at $2,400, his wrist watch, and a purse with $100. After hesitating for a moment the robbers accepted the offer and fled.

Sink Blazing Ship at Docks in Honolulu to Avoid Blast

uary of this year, a novel entitled "The Crystal Icicle."

Critics pronounced it a seasoned and skillful treatment of a difficult subject. The style was declared to be imbued with charm, grace, and humor.

Its theme was the struggles in a man's mind between love for his wife, a temperamentally cold woman, and his passion for another woman, of ardent disposition. Its scene was Chicago and a north shore suburb. The author proclaimed her characters strictly fictional.

Besides her parents, Mrs. Adler leaves a brother, Frederick W. Keith, connected with the firm of Keith Brothers & Co., manufacturing milliners, the company on which the Keith fortune was founded.

Mr. Adler's studio is in the Fine Arts building. He has designed a number of north shore country residences and has executed interiors in town houses and apartments.

POLICE CHIEF DRAWS LINE AT TEAR BOMBS TO STOP SUNDAY SHOW

Dover, O., May 25.—(AP)—Rather than obey an order from Mayor W. R. Stucky to use tear gas bombs to stop a Sunday motion picture show at the Bexley theater here, Police Chief William E. Byers, 62, resigned his office today.

Frank H. Javens, appointed by Stucky as Byers' successor, broke into the theater's projection room where two operators had barricaded themselves and arrested them, stopping the performance. Five other employés also were arrested.

They were arraigned tonight and held to the grand jury.

Two years ago a grand jury heard similar cases and refused to indict. Mayor Stucky says that regardless of what the grand jury does, he will prevent future Sunday motion picture shows.

KIDNAPING YARN STIRS UP POLICE; "VICTIM" IN JAIL

Five policemen of the Warren avenue district wasted many hours yesterday afternoon and last night, but early this morning they did not know it. The five were hunting three men who were reported to have kidnaped Jefferson Mumert, 25 years old, late of Milwaukee, from the cigar store of Mario Del Beccaro at 1716 Ogden avenue on Saturday afternoon.

The kidnaping was reported by Vincent Del Beccaro, a son of the cigar store owner. He told the police that Mumert was lounging in the store when the three kidnapers entered, surrounded the young man, marched him out to an automobile, and drove away.

Sergt. George Parker detailed five policemen to investigate. Early this morning they were still on the trail of the kidnapers after having interviewed the senior Del Beccaro, who is also a bailiff in the Criminal court. "Mumert was a fine young man," said Del Beccaro. "I do not know why any one would want to harm him."

But while his men were searching Sergt. Parker became inquisitive. He called the lockup keeper at the detective bureau. "Why, yes," said the lockup keeper. I know Mumert. Sergt. Jack Martin pinched him Saturday and we turned him over to the Milwaukee police that night. He's wanted there for robbery and assault."

TANKER RAMMED; CREW STICKS TO POST; SAVE SHIP

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—The American tanker, W. W. Bruce, which was in collision with the British tanker, Scottish Maiden, off Barnegat light on Saturday night, was kept afloat by the dogged determination of her crew, working all night at the pumps, and by the pluck of her captain who sailed her into port at Clinton, Staten Island, this morning.

With a hole in her port bow, extending from the rail to the water line and measuring 20 feet long by 6 feet wide, and with 6 feet of water in her forward hole, the W. W. Bruce was just able to creep into port.

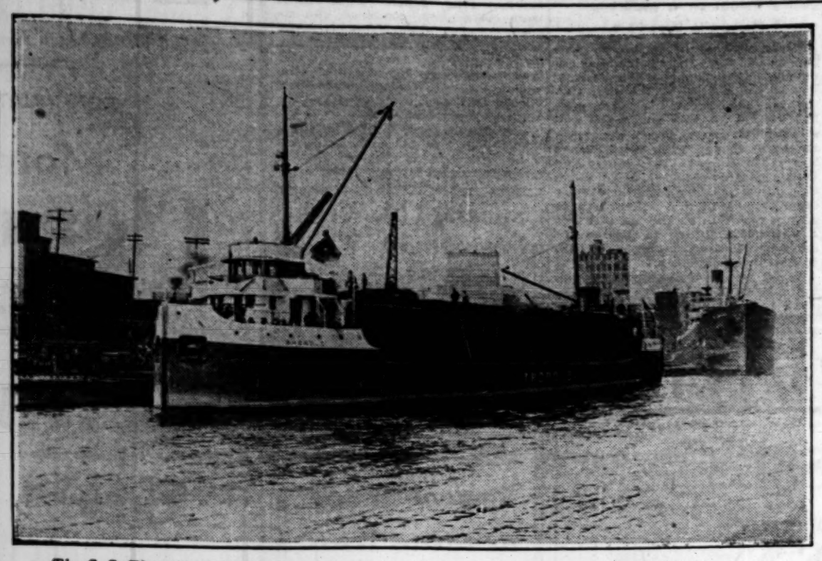
SHIP TO CARRY PAPER TO TRIBUNE PLANT



The S. S. Thorold of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company as it appeared on its arrival at Section 40 in the harbor of Montreal at the completion of its first trip to that city. The ship will carry newsprint from Thorold, Ont., to The Chicago Tribune plant, having a capacity of 4,400 rolls per trip.

FIND KILLER USED CRIMSON PAINT TO HIDE BLOODSTAINS

Police Discover Room Where Boy Died.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 25.—Montreal's "thrill murder" was nearer solution tonight with the announcement by the police that they had arrested a suspect, identified the victim, and located the room where the crime was committed.

They have been working unremittingly since early in May when the first of the 18 pieces of the dismembered body, each wrapped separately in newspapers, was discovered on a small island east of the city by a man hunting kindling wood.

Boy Died in Torture.

The victim is said to be Phillippe La Fontaine, 17 years old, about whom, so far, little is known. The motive for the killing also remains a mystery, but there is no doubt in the minds of the police that the boy was cruelly tortured.

A small room in an apartment house at Sherbrooke street and City Hall avenue was the scene of his death. Investigation disclosed extraordinary precautions to conceal the evidence. The doors, floors, and window casing had been freshly painted with the most brilliant red paint obtainable.

New wallpaper had been hung. Removing it, the police found blood splattered all about the room. An attempt had been made to scrape some of it away with a knife. Noting that a chair and a table had been repainted red, they conducted chemical tests which disclosed that these, too, had been splattered. Even the bed springs and the pillows were bloodstained.

Called "Homicidal Orgy."

"'Murder,' does not describe this crime," said a sergeant. "It was a homicidal orgy."

To gain entrance to the room the police had to climb through a window, the door being double padlocked.

The suspect is known only as A. Forbes, 35 years old, of 185 Sherbrooke street. He was still being questioned at a late hour, but the police declined to issue a statement. The sole information came from Inspector Dorais, who said: "There is no doubt that Forbes will be charged with murder."

It was learned that Forbes was arrested last Wednesday, after a 24 hour watch at his home. Inspector Dorais withheld announcing it until tonight to enable his men to complete their investigations.

Inspected at Montreal

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 25.—Journalists and engineers were given an opportunity to inspect the new S. S. Thorold of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company on its arrival in Montreal at the completion of its first trip. They showed a great interest in the new vessel, which will carry newsprint between the paper plant at Thorold, Ont., and the plant of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and is now on its way to Milwaukee on a trial trip.

The vessel is a pioneer of its type and is equipped with specially constructed Diesel engines for the great lakes service. The Diesel type of propulsion was decided on by the company's experts after an intensive study of the vessel's requirements and the Thorold will be the first boat of its type propelled by this kind of machinery plying the great lakes. The auxiliary engines are also Diesels, while all deck machinery will be electrically controlled and operated.

The S. S. Thorold has the added advantage of being able to be transformed at a moment's notice into the grain or pulpwood carrying trade. The new ship made its first stop at Halifax in order to be fully equipped with the latest type of radio apparatus before proceeding to Montreal.

WOMAN DIES OF SCALDS.

Mrs. Mary Prusha, 47 years old, 2836 West Twenty-first street, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital of scalds she suffered April 5. Mrs. Prusha was carrying a pail of boiling water when she fell in her home.

SCANTILY CLAD WOMEN TO BE BARRED AT SHRINE

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 25.—[U. P.]—Women who are immodestly dressed will be barred from the Carmel of Lisieux (the Carmelite convent) now being erected to Saint Therese of the Infant Jesus, and from Lisieux cathedral, Msgr. Emmanuel Suhard, bishop of Bayeux and Lisieux, has announced.

Feminine attire to be approved must fulfill the following regulations, according to the bishop's announcement:

Dresses must extend from the neck below the calf, and sleeves must be below the elbows. Clothes must neither adhere to the body nor be transparent, and stockings must be neither transparent nor flesh colored.

These rules were indorsed by the International Congress of Women's Catholic Leagues and are said to meet the approval of the Vatican.

PLANE TAIL RIPS 'CHUTE; GIRL, 19, KILLED IN FALL

Bloomington, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Florence Palmer Davis, 19, of Normal, Ill., died in Brokaw hospital here tonight as a result of her first attempt at a parachute jump. She dropped 2,500 feet this afternoon. Her chute ripped on the tail of the plane.

More than 3,000 persons saw the accident from the airport here. Mrs. Davis went up in a cabin plane piloted by Art Carnahan. At 2,500 feet she stepped out. But she pulled the ring of her release cord too soon, and the tangle of rope caught the tail of the plane. The jerk ripped the chute.

Carnahan put his plane into a steep dive in an effort to tangle his wing struts in the chute streaming above the falling woman. But he could not get down fast enough.

Makes 25,000 Foot Leap.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 25.—(AP)—Bert White, 27, parachute jumper, leaped from a plane piloted by Earl Gordon today, approximately 25,000 feet above Lancaster, Cal., in the Antelope valley and made a safe landing. He was attempting to break Capt. W. A. Stevens' record jump of 24,412 feet made at McCook field, Dayton, O., in 1922.

Killed in Plane Crash.

Iola, Kan., May 25.—(AP)—Henry Kickel, 25 years old, of Girard, Kan., was killed and Robert E. Morris, 50, was injured seriously in an airplane crash near here today.

Two Hurt When Plane Falls.

Omaha, Neb., May 25.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Haines, Omaha, are near death after an airplane crash at the north edge of the city late this afternoon when their two place biplane fell from 350 feet. They apparently slid into a tailspin after banking too sharply.

1 Burned to Death, 3 Hurt as Fire Destroys Home

Southampton, L. I., May 25.—[Special.]—A maid was burned to death and Mr. and Mrs. Lucian H. Tyng, 620 Park avenue, New York, and three of their guests were slightly injured when fire destroyed the summer home of the Tyngs on Halsey Neck Lane here early today. The property damage was estimated at $100,000. Mr. and Mrs. Tyng, Mr. and Mrs. Casey Greene, and Mrs. William Allen Hunt Bartlett, 299 Park avenue, New York, were taken to the Southampton hospital after the blaze. Mrs. Ella Turcas of 27 West 67th street, Dr. Cornelius Van Wagenen, and Miss Franes Mitchell escaped uninjured, as did six servants. The maid who lost her life was Mrs. Annie O'Grady.

GRAND RAPIDS REVERTS TO THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Decides That Politicians Govern Best.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY,

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 25.—[Special.]—Out of the dirt and grime of many years two lovely golden girls are emerging these spring days at the entrance way to the old city hall.

Originally iron statues, then painted black and neglected, they are now taking on real gold leaf bodies and draperies and their beautiful lines shine in the light of a new day. They hold aloft two lamps to light the way for citizens and are symbolic of what is happening today in Grand Rapids civic affairs.

After years of discredit and opprobrium and mud covering the "politician" as an institution has been restored to power, the theorists in city management have been swept out, and Grand Rapids has contentedly gone back to "boss" rule.

Deficit Is Wiped Out.

Walk into the city hall. The old gray ceilings and walls reflect new, artistic coloring and decoration schemes. The painters and cleaners are at work. The employés are courteous. The books are in order. The finances for the first time in years are in good condition. A deficit of $1,311,500 has been wiped out in a year. The voters have just bonded the city for a $1,500,000 auditorium, and things are looking up.

On the second floor, at an ordinary desk behind an open railing, sits City Manager George W. Welsh, who is responsible for much of this change, particularly the new attitude of the people toward the politician, as shown by the recent vote in his favor and the present support of his old journalistic enemies.

In outward appearance he strongly resembles Chicago's First ward boss, "Hinky Dink" Kenna. A small man, with gray hair and blue eyes, shrewd and twinkling, he moves and speaks in that same soft way, getting things done quietly. Back of him is an assistant of rare efficiency, George H. Waring.

Respects "Politicians."

Mr. Welsh has not much use for professional city managers and he has an enormous respect for the "politicians" who founded this government and framed the constitution.

"If you are sick you do not call in a plumber, do you?" he said. "Well, why not call in a politician to cure the ills of the body politic?

"You might as well try to fix up a Michelangelo as to tamper with the science of government the way some of these long haired ginneys are doing.

"Government should not step in where people are able to do things for themselves.

"You do not make efficiency in legislation just because you have a small body. You must have a body that legislates and a man to carry it out. It is the military idea of the general staff and the order, then the man to put it into execution.

"You do not keep out politics and bring in the millenium just because you call a man city manager instead of mayor. The professional city manager comes along and looks the job over and thinks he must lay his plans to keep his job.

Finds Politics Pays.

"I hope sometime some one will tell me the right definition of politics. If progrers was made through me last year I attribute it to my knowledge of politics, and if headway is to be made this year it will be through the knowledge the city officials have gained in the science of government. With the right kind of politics this commission can make this year worth one million dollars to the taxpayers."

Mr. Welsh is 47 years old and was brought here from Scotland by his parents at the age of 3. He was thrown out upon the world at the age of 12 and went to live at the newsboy's home in Grand Rapids. There was a school here and he went through it, working his way partly through high school in the same way, as news boy and copy boy. He joined the Federation of Labor and became interested in politics, finally becoming an alderman.

CITY MANAGER

Grand Rapids has passed through an interesting cycle in government. For ten years it was under the political domination of George E. [Deacon] Ellis, old time gambler and political boss who had himself elected mayor term after term. As it is recalled now Deacon Ellis gave the city a good administration, but the cry of "politics" was raised against him so bitterly for many years that in 1916 the city adopted the commission-manager form of government.

Business Man "Washout."

"The big business man in a political job is a washout," says the plain speaking Mr. Welsh. "In the first place he doesn't know what it is all about and in the second place it is a minor interest to him. His business comes first."

People still tell of the terrible condition of the streets during the last winter of the old commission. The ruts were three or four feet deep and the autos had to go where they led. Nothing like that under Welsh. Here is something that people see, and it is politically important. In the winter of low finances he spent $110,000 to keep the streets clean. And more than that, he killed two birds with one stone. He gave the job of keeping the streets clean to men out of a job, home owners and citizens, and they were paid in script good at the municipal store for groceries.

"No one went hungry in Grand Rapids last winter," he says, "although the city hall was filled with unemployed every day."

In the meantime, from a city-wide choice of commissioners, the voters had gone back to the old ward system and Welsh and his group had slowly been working toward control of the commission. They had one man, two men, three, and finally four out of the commission of seven. Welsh went to the factory, the printshop, to the trades, for his commissioners, and trained them in the job.

Once Declared Model.

"The commission manager form of government as provided in the Grand Rapids city charter is universally looked upon as a model and the operation of this form of government here has a nation-wide interest."

The reform element had in mind Col. Edward M. Markham of Washington, an army officer, and his selection was considered certain, until Welsh was heard from.

"I got to thinking it over," he said, "and I wondered if it would work. The commissioners with me wanted me to take it. I had had years of experience in ward and state politics. I had not thought seriously of it until then. I had worked for years close to the greatest administrator Michigan ever had, Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, and I thought this city job would be small in comparison. I decided that the boss had better step out and take the knocks himself. Courage with which to meet opposition is the one quality needed for a politician.

Meets with Opposition.

"I had plenty of opposition. One paper said, when the election was announced, that this was the blackest day in the history of the city, that the rag-tag-and-bobtail element now had control. I had no friends outside my own group. Every one looked upon the change with misgiving. I was at the bottom. They sent a university professor over here to spank me. I told the Lions' club and other organizations that it might pay to have a politician on the job, and that I was going to try to change the minds of a few persons, anyway, about politics and politicians."

What has been accomplished during the first year of the Welsh régime is generally acknowledged in Grand Rapids. Paring expenses to the bone, no major city activity was curtailed and $300,000 was turned back into the operating fund. A special tax was put on to take care of the sinking fund deficit. Departments were reorganized, combined, the cooperation of employés and department heads gained in a remarkable degree for the necessary economy. Mr. Welsh took no salary for his first year. His assistant, Mr. Waring, was given $12,000, but took care of jobs that had previously cost $37,000.

The city manager, instead of being the office boy of the commission, became the boss of the whole job.

SEARCH IN VAIN FOR BODIES OF 3 LOST IN YACHT

Coast guardsmen dragged Lake Michigan off Belmont avenue all day yesterday in a vain effort to recover the bodies of three young men who were drowned on Saturday evening when the sailing yacht Wagtail sank two miles off shore.

Those who lost their lives were Earl Shutes, 22 years old, a commercial artist, residing at 433 Wrightwood avenue, who owned the yacht; Lloyd J. Bishop, 22 years old, a commercial artist, of 4906 Kenwood avenue, and Joseph Raioum Jr., 19 years old, 611 North Kedzie avenue.

Hundreds Watch Searchers.

Chief Mate Carl Howell of the central coast guard directed the search, which extended from Waveland avenue south to beyond Belmont avenue. Hundreds of Sunday strollers along the lake shore watched the searchers. As daylight faded the bodies had not been recovered.

Shutes had purchased the craft only a week ago and was not experienced in its operation, the authorities learned. Raioum, a member of the Sea Scouts, had been giving his friend instruction in sailing.

The theory of coast guardsmen was that the sail sheets were half hitched and so the boat caught the full force of a sudden gust of wind and was overturned. Fragments of the sail dragged to the surface by grappling hooks on Saturday night appeared to confirm this theory, it was said.

McDonald Yacht Aids Search.

Eugene F. McDonald, radio manufacturer, learning of the accident, hurried to the scene with his yacht Nimah, and participated in the search for the bodies. Coast guardsmen and the Nimah's crew raised the sunken yacht and it was towed into Belmont harbor.

Mate Howell said that the rocky contour of the bottom of the lake where the craft sank was making difficult the search for the three bodies.

Cuba Leaders Blame Army Chief for Artemisa Riot

HAVANA, Cuba, May 25.—(AP)—Charging that Gen. Alberto Herrera, chief of staff of the Cuban army, was directly responsible for the army clash with civilians at Artemisa last Sunday, Dr. Cosme de la Torriente, former president of the league of nations, and other nationalist chieftains yesterday posted $500 bonds in order to carry forward their complaint.

Girls Will Sell Poppies for Veterans Tomorrow

Young women will dispense poppies in every section of the city tomorrow, the annual Poppy day, for the benefit of disabled veterans of the world war. H. H. Higgie, chairman of the Poppy day committee of Chipilly post of the American Legion, issued a call yesterday for additional workers. The post has the territory between Harrison and 26th streets and from Wells street to the lake. Mrs. George Kellogg is chairman for the Legion.

Prisoner Strangles Self to Death in Cell with Sheet

George Richardson, 27 years old, 5504 South Michigan avenue, arose early yesterday in his cell at the county jail, where he was awaiting trial on four robbery charges, shaved carefully and donned clean clothes. Thirty minutes later when a guard went past Richardson's cell he found the prisoner dead upon the floor. Richardson had strangled himself to death with a sheet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, May 25.—Argentina celebrated the 120th anniversary of its independence today. President Yrigoyen and his cabinet attended a Te Deum at the cathedral and many patriotic demonstrations were held during the day. The city was brilliantly illuminated tonight for the anniversary.

FIVE CHICAGOANS MEET DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

A woman pedestrian was killed and another seriously hurt yesterday when an automobile south bound in California avenue was struck by a west bound car at Bryn Mawr avenue. Overturning, the south bound car crushed to death Mrs. Bertha Bauchman, 65 years old, 3637 Ward street. The other victim, Mrs. Emily Schillint, 58 years old, 1640 Berwyn avenue, suffered a fractured leg. Neither motorist was hurt.

Mrs. Bauchman's death and one other increased the county motor toll this year to 338. In addition, three Chicagoans were killed outside the county.

Jack Damato, 18 years old, 520 West Curtis street, was fatally injured when the truck on which he was riding overturned at Irving Park boulevard and Cumberland road. Damato and his brother, Dominic, 17 years old, were en route to Mount Carmel cemetery to place flowers on the grave of their father, who died a year and a half ago. Dominic, who was driving, made a sharp turn into Cumberland road. Seeing that the truck was about to overturn, Jack shouted to his brother to jump and then leaped himself, but was pinned beneath the truck.

Sidney Sonmertz, 17 years old, 3209 Argyle street, died in the Belmont hospital of an infection arising from injuries suffered in an accident in East Chicago, Ind., three weeks ago.

Wallace Shipton, 80 years old, retired locomotive engineer of Savannah, Ill., died in the Washington Boulevard hospital of a gangrene infestion contracted in an automobile accident at Ashland, Ia., on May 3.

Mrs. Amandtine Sheridan, 27 years old, 5717 Dorchester avenue, was killed while motoring with her husband, Thomas, and their 4 year old son in Detroit yesterday. Their car was struck by another machine and overturned. The others escaped with slight injuries.

CITY PLANNERS OBJECT TO SITE FOR POSTOFFICE

Fear Blocking of Congress Street Extension.

The government's proposal to erect Chicago's new postoffice as an air rights building over the railroad tracks bounded by the Parcel Post building, Van Buren, Harrison and Canal streets, was viewed with disfavor yesterday by officials of the Chicago Plan commission and civic leaders.

The new site was declared a danger to the extension of Congress street as a superhighway to relieve west side traffic, a proposition which was part of the original Burnham plan. Government officials have been quoted as saying that a way could be found to prevent the blocking of Congress street. If the new highway became a reality and the air rights site were selected by the government it would be necessary to cut directly through the new postoffice site.

Committee Plans Action.

A committee of the plan commission, composed of Harry A. Wheeler, chairman, Albert A. Sprague, and Walter H. Wilson has been appointed to draft a resolution upon the proposed site. This resolution will be submitted for approval at a meeting of the commission next Thursday.

"The Congress street improvement is a most necessary one for the city's growth," said Eugene S. Taylor, manager of the commission. "The right to open up this street through the new site should certainly be reserved. Outside of this factor, I, personally, see not much difference between the new site and the old one. The saving pointed to by the government because the Parcel Post building would be a part of the building on the new site, did not impress me much, as it was always proposed to include the Parcel Post building in the new postoffice."

Doubts Trucking Economy.

The government's claim that a great saving would be effected because of more convenient railroad facilities if the postoffice were erected over the tracks was not regarded highly by Edward H. Bennett, consulting architect of the plan commission.

"It is true that mail handled by the railroads operating out of the Union station will cost less," he commented. "But not all the mail coming into Chicago is handled by these roads and it will be necessary to truck such mail to the new station. I think that the original plans should not be altered. There are economies, to be considered in providing for Chicago's future traffic needs as well as economies in handling the mail."

James Simpson, chairman of the plan commission, pointed out that the proposed air rights site was considered at the time the present site was chosen and that all the arguments in favor of the air rights site were discussed fully at that time.

"The change will undoubtedly cause a considerable delay," he said. "It will be a matter of months, if not years, before negotiations for the air rights site can be completed. I think we should go ahead with the present site at Harrison and Clinton streets.

"The one important thing is: We want the postoffice and we can get it if the present site is decided upon. The plan commission favors the present site. We had better start building if we are ever to have a new postoffice."

Compromise Ends Strike of Michigan City Carpenters

The strike of 150 carpenters in Michigan City was settled yesterday through the efforts of O. S. Dynes of the United States department of labor. Contractors granted a raise of 10 cents an hour demanded by the carpenters and the carpenters surrendered their demand for a five day week. The increase makes the wage scale $1.35 an hour.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH SHOTGUN.

ask a Soldier Or a Sailor

For who should know better the things that make for comfort in shoes? Everyone knows that the soldier and the sailor must be on their feet for hours at a time, marching "o'er hill and dale" or pacing the deck far out at sea. Few people, even fathers and mothers, realize that a boy takes as many steps a day as any soldier. With that in view we offer a complete line of shoes for boys combining comfort, style and durability.

GEAR SHIFTING MAIN EXERCISE FOR MOTORISTS

Rush to Country After Rain Causes Jams.

BY HAL FOUST.

The clouds of yesterday morning, which let fall just enough rain to clutter windshields, were blown away by a sharp north breeze in the afternoon, and there followed a rush of motorists from the city to enjoy sunshine in the country.

The chill kept the rural highways from being as congested as usual on a Sunday, yet the narrow highways were inadequate to accommodate even the curtailed holiday motorcade. There were blockades at the intersections of important routes where grade separations have long been agitated, recently promised, but as yet unbuilt.

Blockade on Roosevelt Road.

The TRIBUNE road car, rolling west over the fifty-six foot concrete of Roosevelt road through Forest Park and Broadview, was stopped by a solid row of stalled machines as it approached 25th avenue. The time was 1:15 p. m.

Automobiles crept forward in low, a few feet at a time. Step on the clutch, shift gears into low, depress the accelerator, then release the accelerator, apply foot brakes, step on the clutch, release the gear, and wait —that was the mechanical procedure repeated time after time.

Thousands were taking this Sunday exercise of Chicago motorists trying to get their families into the country for a few hours.

State Promises Paving.

This particular blockade was due to the double lane of west bound vehicles getting into single file for the detour over the narrow road through Winchester to Mannheim road. The state has promised to pave this mile with forty feet of concrete this year, but the only evidence of construction work on the road was the work being done on a new bridge for a little south of Salt creek.

On approaching Mannheim road the string of cars was held at a standstill for minutes at a time for cross traffic. This is the site of a grade separation that has long been recommended for state construction. When the TRIBUNE car reached Mannheim, it was 3:46 p. m., twelve minutes to drive one mile, making the average speed five miles an hour.

New Drivers Knot Traffic.

Further out Roosevelt, where the state has announced it will let a contract for widening next month, automobiles were bunched in strings of six to ten cars each, a slow driver ruling each group at from twenty to thirty-five miles an hour. The driver who wanted to get some place, occasionally risked swinging into the face of oncoming traffic to pass the slow machines one at a time.

From west of Geneva, the limits of Gov. Emmerson's biennium widening program, these blockages of cars were found, held to the speed of the slowest driver because of the narrowness of the pavement. The Chicago Motor club's recommendations for road building in 1932 and 1933 would widen Roosevelt—here a part of the Lincoln highway and a busy farm to market route—to west of De Kalb.

8 SLAIN, MANY HURT IN PRISON BREAK IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, May 25.—(AP)—Dispatches received here today from Amoy, Fukien province, said eight were killed and many wounded in a battle of prisoners at the Amoy jail. One hundred and fifty of the prisoners were said to have escaped.

Amoy officials placed the blame on Reds, advancing the belief arms were smuggled to prisoners captured in recent anti-communist raids here.

The coup was made suddenly by the prisoners, who rushed and disarmed the guards and controlled the cells after a sharp fight.

ROSENWALD GIFT MADE TO STUDY UNEMPLOYMENT

The Julius Rosenwald fund yesterday announced a gift of $75,000 to finance a study of the causes of sporadic and seasonal unemployment in the Philadelphia area. The study will be made by the department of industrial research of the Wharton school of the University of Pennsylvania. The industries of the city are to cooperate.

"It is hoped, through this study, that seasonal fluctuations may be prevented and employment be made regular throughout the year," Edwin R. Embree, president of the fund, said. "The experiences of one large industrial area should be a direct benefit to communities throughout the nation."

The study will extend over three years under the direction of Prof. Joseph H. Willette. Philadelphia was chosen because work of a similar nature is now under way in that city. City, state and civic organizations are to cooperate.

STUDENT KILLS HIMSELF BEFORE GIRL AND RIVAL

Swallows Poison on Porch of Her Home.

Jealous at finding the girl of his affections with another youth, James Parkinson, 19 years old, 8106 Anthony avenue, a pre-medical student at Crane college, drank poison in their presence on the porch of the girl's home at 8551 Cornell avenue early yesterday. He died a short time later at the Jackson Park hospital.

Passing the Cornell avenue address, Parkinson saw Miss Margaret Cole, 20 years old, an art student at Crane college, on the porch with Walter Crane, 19 years old, 6153 University avenue. He spoke to the couple and passed on.

Reappears at Girl's Home.

A few minutes later he called Miss Cole by telephone with a demand that he be permitted to see her immediately. She told him he might call in half an hour.

Without waiting for Crane's departure Parkinson reappeared at Miss Cole's home and called her aside. He handed her a book he had borrowed and a ring which she had permitted him to wear. Then, Miss Cole said, he drew a test tube from his pocket and before she could knock it from his hands he drank the contents.

Parkinson was taken to the hospital and antidotes were administered but without avail.

Tells of His Jealousy.

Miss Cole told the South Chicago police that Parkinson had proposed marriage often since they met last fall. Although she had neither refused nor accepted him, she said, she had tried to persuade him to take his father's advice and wait until they were older and had completed their courses in school.

He was jealous, she said, of her friendships with other young men. An inquest will be held today at 6110 Cottage Grove avenue.

Asks Search for Family He Left 45 Years Ago

An appeal was made to the police yesterday to find a family "lost" for 45 years by Jacob Hoke, 719 North 74th street, Seattle, Wash. Hoke left his home in Chicago in 1885 at the age of 14. He believes that his parents are dead, but asks that police seek two brothers, whose names he has forgotten.

DIES FOR LOVE

JAMES PARKINSON.

KIDNAP MANAGER; ROB STORE.

John Moore, 10235 Vernon avenue, manager of a National Tea company store at 156 West 103d street, was forced by two robbers to return to the store on Saturday night after he had closed it and compelled him to open the safe. The bandits took $100.

4 SHOT TO DEATH IN ARKANSAS RUM WAR; 8 WOUNDED

Lepanto, Ark., May 25.—(AP)—Four men, who officers said were known as leaders of two liquor running factions, met at an outdoor carnival early today and shot it out with revolvers.

Police Chief W. R. Adam joined in the firing. Two of the gangsters and a third man were killed, another of the quartet died of his wounds tonight, and eight bystanders were shot.

Here's List of Dead.

The dead were Ira (Blackie) Williams, 21; Walter Mobs, 38; Clyde Keller, 33, and George Laudermilk, 35, who was in the line of fire.

Keller, who was shot nine times by the chief of police, died in a Jonesboro hospital.

Hugh Luttrell, 40, was arrested at his home near Marked Tree, Ark., by Sheriff Landers of Harrisburg as one of the participants in the battle.

The story told today by City Attorney John Mosby of Lepanto and E. L. Shinaberry, town marshal at Marked Tree, home of all the dead, was an account of a feud spotted with fist fights and court appearances during the last year.

Keller Badly Beaten.

The authorities said that about a year and a half ago Keller and Luttrell fought each other. Eleven days ago, Shinaberry said, Williams and Luttrell, who, the marshal said, led a faction opposing Keller and Mobs, attacked Keller and beat him badly.

Last night, both Mosby and Shinaberry agreed, the quartet met suddenly and the shooting resulted. Mosby said Chief Adams shot Keller as the only means of ending the row and saving a crowd standing about the tent show.

Laudermilk, it was said, was not involved in the feud. He had been hired to transport the carnival from Lepanto to Luxora after it ended its engagement here last night.

Of those wounded, Jess Wright, farmer, about 40, suffered most seriously. A Negro, Curly Bradenton, Lepanto, was shot several times, but was expected to live. Two women, Mrs. Nathan Scudder and a Mrs. Carr, also were wounded, as was Mrs. Scudder's husband.

Benny McArthur, 17, and Cletus Loftus, 24, were wounded as they scattered with others of the panic-stricken crowd before Police Chief Adams shot down Keller and stopped the fight. The name of the eighth victim was not known here.

A federal indictment charging Keller with dope peddling is on file in the Jonesboro federal court, City Attorney Mosby said.

KONJOLA

—seven million bottles used in two years.

And a medicine must have merit to make a record like that. Konjola does have merit, for, in case after case, Konjola triumphs when all else tried has failed. Read the words of Mr. W. C. Gears. Can you wonder that he is enthusiastic over this new and different medicine? He says:

MR. W. C. GEARS

"For several years I suffered with lumbago. My back hurt so that at times I felt that I could not stand it. I had always enjoyed good health until I returned from the World War, and then my trouble started. I read so much about what Konjola was doing for Chicago people that I decided to try it. I have used four bottles and the lumbago has been eliminated. I never hesitate to recommend Konjola."

M'BRIDE PRAISES RESULTS OF DRY LAW IN CHICAGO

Cermak and Yates Issue Statements.

"Why run for a train when you are aboard it?" asked Dr. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, concerning a proposed wet and dry referendum.

"We're on that train, too, and we want to get off, and to stop the train we must throw out signals," replied Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook county board, wet leader and Democratic county chairman.

"When Cermak says: 'There is Congressman at Large Richard Yates, who votes dry despite several referendums and who says, "The people are fools and don't know what they want,"' he utters an abominable and wicked lie," said Congressman Yates in a wire from Washington.

Cermak Asks Question.

"Yates doesn't deny that a wet referendum carried in Illinois by a half million votes and he said he wouldn't pay any attention to it and he didn't pay any attention to it," replied Cermak. "Doesn't he therefore take the people for fools, and isn't that the position of every one of our other dry congressmen? Either they act like fools or they take the people for fools. I'd like to ask Congressman Yates: 'When the question is voted on again, will you pay attention to the voice of the people?' Let him answer that."

Dr. McBride spoke yesterday at the First Methodist Episcopal church of Oak Park, mainly on referendums, while Cermak and James Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic nominee for United States senator of Illinois, were considering the expediency of another wet and dry referendum in Illinois. Dr. McBride took issue with the results of the Literary Digest poll which resulted in a vote of 40 per cent "wet," 29 per cent "moist" and 31 per cent "dry."

"Advised Drys Not to Vote."

"They sent out 20,000,000 ballots and got only 5,000,000 replies," he said. "I would like to know what became of the 15,000,000 not voted ballots. The Anti-Saloon league and the churches advised drys not to vote in the contest and a great majority of the fifteen million nonvoters were for strict enforcement. Personally I tore up my ballot.

"Don't let any one fool you into believing that the Bible sanctions the use of liquor, which is likened to the bite of an adder. Prohibition is a success despite what its opponents say and its enforcement in Chicago is much better than in former days.

Tells of Chicago Conditions.

"I remember when there were 17,000 saloons in Chicago and 7,000 or 8,000 wholesale and retail stores in addition that had only government licenses. Conditions were terrible then but now not. Two months ago I made a personal tour of South State street, West Madison street and the old red light districts. I walked from 10:30 o'clock to midnight and I didn't see one drunk and there were no saloons and the people were walking along peacefully, window shopping.

"Prohibition is enjoying a great victory, but we must fight on. A great moral victory was scored in Pennsylvania with the nomination of Pinchot, who had no organization support, only that of the church and moral people. The talk of light wines and beer is camouflage. The wets want hard liquor, not beer and light wines. I called their bluff in the Illinois legislature ten years ago when the wets told me they had 27 voes for beer and light wines and asked me to help them with the votes of 50 drys, as 77 votes are needed to pass a law. I knew they weren't sincere and I gave them 52 votes and then only 1 of the wets voted that way."

Ex-Senator Lewis said that while there is no dissension among the Democrats about the referendum there is a difference of opinion. He has been told, he said, that if the Republicans in state convention in June find some method in which Republicans can express themselves on the prohibition question, his Republican opponent, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, will agree to abide by that decision, notwithstanding her own views. Wet platforms in both party conventions might result in the creation of a new dry party in the state, he said.

QUESTIONNAIRE SENT TO ALL IN CONGRESS TO TEST DRY STAND

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Questionnaires designed to put every member of congress on record as a wet or a dry were sent today to each senator and representative by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The single question asked was "Do you favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States?"

The congressional poll, Mr. Curran said, is being taken in connection with the political activities of the association in the 1930 campaigns. He stated that every candidate receiving its support will be called upon to answer the question.

So far at this session of congress there has been no vote in either house regarded as a clear cut wet and dry roll call, other issues having borne upon the dry unit transfer bill and other measures touching prohibition which have been acted upon. The intent of the A. A. P. A. apparently is to compel members either to take a stand or definitely refuse to go on record.

Meanwhile, the wet bloc of the house is seeking in another way to single out the wets and drys among the house members. Petitions to discharge the judiciary committee of the Norton and La Guardia wet bills have been placed on the speaker's table and the wets have passed word that they expect to place the list of signatures in the Congressional Record.

WOMEN MEET TODAY

The biblical quotations adopted by the Anti-Saloon league are to be discussed at a meeting of the Illinois Women's Moderation union in the Stevens hotel at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The purpose of the meeting is to interest Chicago women in the anti-prohibition movement.

Charles A. Windle, editor of the Liberal magazine, will discuss the biblical references claimed by the league as substantiation of its platform. Stephen A. Day, Chicago attorney, will speak of the legal aspects of the 18th amendment. Miss M. Louise Gross, national chairman of the union, will tell "why women are opposed to prohibition."

LA GRANGE POLICE READY TO ACT IN UNION STRUGGLE

Village President Tells of Cleaning Dispute.

The history of the invasion of La Grange by union agents a month ago which led to the filing of an injunction suit by a cleaning and dyeing firm, which charged that force and violence had been used in efforts to unionize its shops, was told last night by Walter P. Saunders, president of the village board of trustees.

"The trustees heard some weeks ago that the union men were coming to La Grange for the purpose of getting the cleaning firm of Abarbanell Brothers into the union," said Mr. Saunders, who spoke for the other five trustees. "Our chief of police, Harry McInnes, saw the labor men and warned them that any threats or any violence would cause their arrest. We saw no legal manner to prevent their entrance into town, but we wanted to be sure that the peace was not disturbed."

Charge Use of Terrorism.

In their injunction suit the Abarbanell Brothers charged that six automobile loads of hoodlums used terroristic methods in an attempt to enforce their demands. According to the testimony of Karl Hofmeister, a Hinsdale tailor, in a hearing before a master in chancery, he was warned that he would be killed if he continued trading with the Abarbanell concern.

"If any such methods were used, we cannot understand why a complaint was not made to the village police," declared Mr. Saunders. "We would have arrested the men immediately. We want to keep La Grange a peaceful suburb and we intend to enforce the law strictly. Any charges that the police would not protect the business men are untrue. The police kept the union men constantly on the move. They were not allowed to park their cars for more than one hour."

Tells of Retraction.

The board president then told of the meeting attended by himself, Trustees William M. Galvin and Kenneth E. Rice, and the chief of police, at which Irving Abarbanell signed a retraction of charges that the police interfered with him instead of the labor agents who were picketing his place. Abarbanell later told Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office that he had been intimidated into signing the retraction.

Saunders admitted drawing up the statement before Abarbanell's arrival, but asserted that the cleaning company official had not been threatened or intimidated in any way.

"We simply told him that he owed it to La Grange to cleanse its reputation," the board president said. "And he signed the retraction willingly. The entire affair took only 25 minutes."

Arrest Harvard Students for Handbills at Dry Rally

Boston, Mass., May 25.—[Special.]—Twenty thousand persons who crowded the Boston garden tonight in a demonstration sponsored by the Prohibition Loyalty league, heard several speakers brand the state dry law repeal movement as a "bootleggers' referendum," and saw six young Harvard Socialists, headed by Lawrence B. Cohen Jr. of New York, arrested for attempting to distribute circulars which read: "Why worry about booze? When do we eat? What about the millions unemployed?" A number of unemployed men accompanied the students.

BUDD HERE ON WAY TO REBUILD SOVIET RAILWAYS

Tells of Plans for Trip Around World.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railroad, is to aid the Russian soviet government in rebuilding its railroads to conform with American standards and practices. He will make a survey of the Russian railroad systems in a three month tour which will take him around the world. Mr. Budd began his trip from St. Paul Saturday night and paused in Chicago yesterday to discuss the invitation of the soviet government.

"I have been invited to advise on reconstruction and rehabilitation of Russian railroads," Mr. Budd said. "Information on their roads in this country is antiquated. I will go directly to Moscow to meet with Russian officials. It is my intention to visit almost all of their roads, particularly the newer lines, to Americanize the systems.

Climatic Conditions Similar.

"I believe that I was asked to go there because climatic and topographical conditions of the Great Northern railroad are similar to conditions there. It is likely that the soviets may revamp their present system on lines established in America as a result of a study. Until I have seen the country I cannot venture an opinion as to the practicability of such a complete reorganization, although I believe it to be sound."

Mr. Budd will be accompanied by Homer Bassett, his secretary; Henry K. Dougan, civil engineer for the railroad; W. R. Wood, mechanical engineer; and John Budd, his son, who is a senior at Yale university. The party will sail from New York Wednesday and return by way of Vladivostok.

No Effect on Merger.

Mr. Budd's first railroad job was as a rodman in 1899. He advanced in various railroads until he was elected president of the Great Northern in 1919.

His departure for Russia will have no effect on the proposed merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, Mr. Budd said.

GYPSY PRINCESS TELLS BOSTON A KIDNAPING STORY

Rosalie Bimbo, 22 years old, daughter of Tiny Bimbo, king of the Romany gypsies in America, bobbed up last night in Boston, Mass., with a story of blighted love and an appeal to the police for protection.

She was kidnaped in Chicago three weeks ago, she said, by a member of her father's bodyguard because she defied him and married outside the tribe. She said she had been spirited away to Boston and kept a prisoner until yesterday, when she escaped to make her way to a police station.

Her first experience with the Chicago authorities was in 1923, when she walked into the juvenile court and said she wanted to be Americanized; that she was tired of "lying, stealing and telling fortunes." But after two nights in the detention home, she changed her mind and obtained her release. Her father, she said, had promised to send her to school.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days (not including Sundays), the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.
NOTE—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 25.—Finland and Norway are the most beautiful countries in northern Europe. Norway has high mountains and deep fjords and one of the most enjoyable excursions in the world is the steamship journey to North Cape, threading inland passages through mountains jutting up from the sea. Finland is planning another equally picturesque route for tourists, who will be able to disembark on the arctic coast, east of North Cape, and travel down through the tundras of Lapland by autobus to the River Kittenen, and then canoe down the rapids to the Finnish lakes and thence by steamers and launches to either Helsingfors or Viborg.

This projected tourist route is furnishing another argument for the anti-prohibitionists, who say that it will be difficult to maintain a chain of tourist hotels during the short Finnish summer unless they can increase their income by the sale of wines and other drinks. Foreign hotel syndicates, who have been approached with this proposition, turn it down because of the dry law.

Climate a la Minnesota.

Although Finland lies on the same latitude as the Hudson Bay passage, the climate here is not much different from that of Minnesota. Between forest covered granite hills and lakes are stretches of fertile land, which make the country habitable. With a population of 3,500,000, Finland is an agricultural country, and its wealth lies in its dairy herds and forests.

The gulfs of Finland and Bothnia bound the country on the south and west.

Finnish fishermen, who formerly made a meager living, netting the small Baltic herring, lampreys, and salmon, are now wealthy. They are building fine houses and in place of the big rowboats, which required a crew of nine men to lay the mile long seine nets, smart racing launches lie at anchor and expensive American motor cars are housed in concrete garages.

The prices for fish have increased in Finland. The fishermen now follow their old trade as a side line. The yearly catch has greatly decreased and police authorities report 80 per cent of all fishing communities are trafficking in smuggled alcohol.

Coast Line Long One.

No one has ever measured the exact length of the Finnish seacoast and no one ever will. The entire waterfront from the Russian frontier, just opposite Kronstadt, to the Swedish frontier at the head of the Bothnia gulf is an archipelago of thousands and thousands of small islands and jagged bayous, which stretch for miles into the interior, connecting with the 40,000 lakes within the country. This is a government figure and the same authority estimates that Finland has more than 30,000 islands along her seaboard.

In between the islands are nasty looking rocks. Around these islands the smugglers play hide and seek with the Finnish customs guard. With their fast boats, the smugglers can dodge behind an island when pursued, dump their cargo of raw alcohol into the shallow waters and then let the slow government launch overtake them and find the evidence gone.

When the American government succeeded in negotiating a treaty lengthening the three mile limit to eight, the Finns thought this a clever move and so, after two years of diplomatic negotiations with the other Baltic countries, they succeeded in 1925 in lengthening their three mile limit to 12. The smugglers' ships immediately registered under the flags of countries who had not signed and pulled off a few miles further into the gulf.

Rum Running a "Sport."

The rum runners found this increased distance from shore convenient, since they had a greater choice of avenues for escaping the customs boats.

The great majority of Finns consider rum running a legitimate sport, and some well known sportsmen spend their summer vacations running alcohol into their "dry" country.

Willy Poppius, chief of the Finnish customs department, admits that thus far Finland has made no headway against alcohol smuggling.

"When Finland inaugurated prohibition 11 years ago I informed the cabinet that I thought we would be able to partially check smuggling, but I was mistaken," said Mr. Poppius. "Our department has not sufficient means at its disposal and the smugglers have been too numerous and well organized. We do not know the identity of the big leaders of the alcohol ring, but there are many Finns, Germans, and Esthonians.

"The majority of the smugglers' ships sail from Danzig and Kiel, and we have made arrangements with the authorities of these ports, who send us reports of sailings of boats loaded with alcohol. During the last season of open navigation a total of 52 ships sailed from Danzig and Kiel loaded with 10,024,000 liters of raw alcohol and 9,382 liters of case goods. The ships sailed under the flags of France, Hungary, Rumania, Greece, Czecho-Slovakia, and Persia.

Mr. Poppius concluded by saying he was glad the government had decided to relieve his department of the duty of enforcing the law against smugglers.

A. Linturi, minister of the interior, believes that the new law to combat smuggling by organizing a coast guard department under his supervision, will make smuggling much more difficult in the future.

Torpedo Boats New Weapon.

"Till now the customs guards have been attempting to capture the smugglers in the passages between the islands along the coast," he said. "The government has decided to build eight fast torpedo boats between 70 and 80 feet long, capable of a speed of 27 knots and armed with a quick firing anti-aircraft cannon and machine guns. Assisted by the launches these boats will carry the fight against the smugglers outside the islands, and through establishing a chain of patrols operating between the rum ships and the islands, we hope to force the smugglers to withdraw their warehouse ships.

"If successful, alcohol will become so expensive that many present consumers will stop purchasing and drinking will be decreased."

Girl Accidentally Kills Self with a Shotgun

Petersburg, Ind., May 25.—[Special.]—Vicil Crow, aged 16, a student of the Winslow High school and a daughter of Otho Crow of Little, accidentally shot herself yesterday while her parents were in Petersburg shopping.

Miss Crow had taken a single barreled shotgun and gone into a field. Her body was found last night by a fence. The gun had been discharged in coming into contact with the fence, it is believed. The girl was shot through the heart.

GERMANS BEWAIL LOSING AIRPORTS AS FRENCH LEAVE

Find Fly in Ointment of Liberated Rhine.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 25.—In the fulfillment of the Young plan the French authorities informed the German government that French occupational troops are being withdrawn from the Rhineland. Gottfried Treviranus, German minister of occupied territory, has just received details of the evacuation.

Zweibrecken, Ludwigshafen, and Bingen will be evacuated by May 31, Kaiserslautern by June 17, Landau and Neustadt by June 26, Kehl by June 28, Mainz and Weisbaden by June 30. The greater part of the troops will be withdrawn from Maine to Wiesbaden by June 21. The civilian employés of the occupational force must leave the occupied territory between May 25 and June 10.

Resent Airport Destruction.

Meanwhile, German public opinion is upset by the decision of the French government that all hangars and buildings on the air fields at Lachen-Speyersdorf, Kaiserslautern, and Griesheim, near Darmstadt and Trier, must be destroyed before the occupation terminates. The destruction involves 80 erections at Lachen-Speyersdorf alone. Germany looked forward to the use of these to develop its civil aviation.

The German Air Traffic union has urgently appealed to the traffic minister to endeavor with every means to persuade the French government to reverse its decision.

Point to Air Exploits.

The Air union says, "In these days when the flight of the Graf Zeppelin once more demonstrates the importance of air traffic in bringing peoples closer together it is inconceivable that the French government insists on the destruction of these landing fields and their equipment.

"Should such prove the case then the Air union hopes that it will be no German undertaking and that no German workman will participate in the task."

'YOU LACK SINEWS OF WAR,' FRENCH REPLY TO IL DUCE

See German Support Behind Italy.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 25.—The French press this evening does not comment editorially on Premier Benito Mussolini's renewal of saber rattling in Milan, but publishes long extracts of hostile comment against France by the Fascist newspapers.

Political circles maintain the same attitude toward Il Duce's virulant and swashbuckling discourse, but attach a certain significance to the statement that Italy is closely attached by bonds of friendship to certain of her former enemies.

Rumor Entente with Germany.

This admission confirms rumors which were current during the London naval conference that Rome proposed an entente with Germany, according to the view of certain quarters here. It is pointed out that Premier Mussolini's truculence is only justified by the support and promises of aid from some power which is able to supply Italy with the essential requisities in raw materials, munitions, foodstuffs, and other supplies in case of war.

Italy Lacks Sinews of War.

"Italy lacks money, credit, iron, coal, wheat, and many other necessary sinews of war," said a high placed personage. "Although Premier Mussolini's inflammatory speeches remind one of the former kaiser's bombastic threats prior to 1914, the situation is entirely different.

"The Hohenzollerns had a mighty military and naval machine ready for instant operation with a vast and powerfully prepared country behind them. Premier Mussolini has no such organization, nor such material means to draw on in Italy. The Junkers plan contemplated overwhelming France in the month of August, 1914—surely Il Duce does not contemplate overswarming the Alps and overrunning France in 30 days?"

SPANISH BULL FANS CHEER AND BOO U.S. MATADOR

ZARAGOZA, Spain, May 25.—(AP)—Sidney Franklin, Spain's only American matador, was both applauded and booed in the bull ring here this afternoon during his third fight since he was gored at Madrid several months ago. The Brooklyn bull fighter, after courageous and skillful cape work, killed his first bull, winning the applause of the "aficionados."

To dispatch the second bull, however, Franklin had to make five sword thrusts, failing four times to pierce a vital spot. This is considered by fans much as American fans consider fumbled footballs and muffed flies.

The spectators began to shout jokes and threw several cushions. The judge gave Franklin "first warning," which is an indication that the matador must hurry in killing the bull. If "third warning" is reached, which rarely happens, the matador is disgraced and his career ended. Franklin killed the bull before "second warning" came.

MOTHERS OF YANK HERO DEAD VISIT ARMISTICE CAR

Lay Wreath at Gate of French Cemetery.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 25.—The first group of gold star mothers today wound up their visit to the battlefields and the cemeteries with a pilgrimage to the famous armistice camp in the forest of Compiegne, where allied commanders met emissaries of the exhausted Germans on Nov. 11, 1918.

Sixty-eight mothers left Rheims this morning and drove out along the historic Chemin des Dames sector, where the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch watched the ill-fated disaster which ended in a mutiny of the French troops which nearly cost his command. It was also through there that the Germans broke in the spring of 1918, crumbling the allied lines until the American machine gun battalions stopped the advance, near Chateau Thierry.

The blood soaked fields of this district gave the mothers one of the most horrible glimpses of the war that they have yet seen, particularly the famous Hill 108, the top of which was blown off, leaving a crater 150 feet in diameter.

Stop at French Cemetery.

After stopping at Soissons to rest and pick up two sick mothers, Mrs. Anna Platt and Mrs. Catherine Dodge, the party left Compiegne. Along the road in Soissons from Compeigne they stopped at the French cemetery of Abley and there descended in a driving rain to lay a wreath of poppies, corn flowers and lillies at the gates of the cemetery.

The mothers were disappointed at the famous armistice car, for where they expected to see a peace shrine fronting there was instead a monument of glory to French arms. The entrance to the park where the car stands is a stone shaft dedicated to the French soldiers who fell "to restore Alsace and Lorraine." On a huge marble slab is inscribed, "Here the criminal pride of Germany was humbled by the free peoples whom it sought to enslave."

The car is an ordinary sleeping car and diner, housed in a concrete shed built with American donations. Its windows are plastered with French papers announcing the victory.

One group of mothers, who had already visited the car stayed at Compiegne and saw the picturesque pageant in honor of Joan of Arc.

London Welcomes Mothers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 25.—A band of 156 elderly women who compose the delegation of American gold star mothers visiting Great Britain were today officially welcomed by the British government in Westminster hall, the same building where King George a few months ago welcomed the delegates to the naval conference.

The brief but imposing ceremony greatly impressed the visitors, most of whom were seeing England for the first time. With them were 116 veterans of the 27th division, who arrived with them on the liner Republic yesterday.

The gold star mothers and war vets were received by the Earl de la Warr, parliamentary undersecretary of state for war, and the Countess de la Warr, while the Earl of Jellicoe, Lady Edward Spencer, and Winston Churchill extended a welcome on behalf of the British Legion.

Following the reception the mothers, accompanied by the former doughboys, visited the tomb of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey while Ambassador Charles G. Dawes laid a wreath.

Gold Star Mother Takes Gold Plaque to France

Mrs. Carrie Albert, one of a party of fifteen Gold Star mothers who arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad en route to France, carried a gold plaque which is to be placed on a tree in a French cemetery. The plaque is dedicated to the Gold Star fathers.

Genuine Mahogany at Attractive Prices » »

A DEMONSTRATION of Colby leadership in offering furniture of authentic design and fine workmanship . . . There are pieces based on originals in Mount Vernon, in Monticello and in the Metropolitan Museum. In addition to American designs of the Federal era, there are reproductions of pieces by the great Georgian English designers . . . Because of the growing appreciation of correct design, we are particularly proud to offer this furniture far below what has heretofore been considered possible for fine reproductions . . . A splendid opportunity to acquire furniture that will always be a source of pleasure and enhance in value as time goes on.

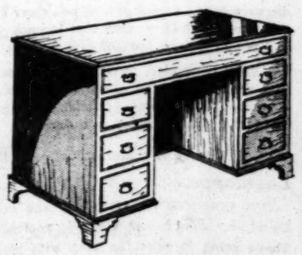
LIVING ROOM PIECES IN WIDE VARIETY

Whether you furnish complete in the styles of this period, or use them with various other furnishings, they will give charm to your room interior. . . . The occasional tables, the cabinets, the upholstered pieces chosen for this collection are all examples worthy of place in homes where good taste rules. . . The graceful Duncan Phyffe sofa pictured is priced, in a brocade cover, at $269.50.

STYLE FOR THE DINING ROOM

WHILE eighteenth century mahogany furniture is ideally adapted for all rooms in today's house, the individual beauty of the pieces is perhaps best observed in dining rooms, where greater space usually sets off each piece. We include a collection of dining pieces which we believe is unsurpassed in America in extent and in the values offered. . . . Consider how unusual it is to see a set of fine design, of genuine mahogany, like the one pictured, for $535!



A splendidly-made kneehole desk, in genuine mahogany at the lowest price we've seen for such a piece of furniture, $69.50.

—AND THE BEDROOM

A bedroom group typically Federal in design, Duncan Phyffe motifs apparent in the sleigh beds, pedestal dressing table and detail of ornament. The large bed is $146, the dresser $200 and the chest of drawers $172.50.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS IN COOK COUNTY.

The Republican candidates for county offices at the November election have dined with the Republican committeemen of Cook county. There was much talk of hatchet burying and all pulling together, regardless of faction and previous bitternesses. There was much talk, too, of the happy outlook for the party in the county.

So the November prospects may have appeared under the mellowing influence of the banquet hall. The appraisal to many observers will seem to have left out a few relevant items.

The national Republican party administration is at present no great asset. Business has suffered and there is much unemployment, especially in industrial centers like Cook county. A greater irritant is the disposition of the national party to accept the leadership of the most backward section of the country. A party which aims to please the hill billies and night riders, with all their inherited fanaticism untempered by the warmer currents of modern life, is not the party to appeal to metropolitan voters. A party which knows no temperance in its enforcement of prohibition must alienate thousands of voters in the cities. It may or it may not gain support in primitive communities to balance the loss, but whatever the gain in Tennessee the loss in Chicago must be reckoned with.

Turning from the national to the state administration, the observer finds more of the same thing. A Republican governor, with the help of seven Republican senators from Cook county, has pushed a resolution for a tax amendment through the state senate, though the amendment under present circumstances is poison to Chicago voters. The amendment is intended to permit the imposition of a state income tax by a legislature gerrymandered against the cities. The tax would relieve rural property owners, perhaps, but it will certainly raid the pockets of the wage and salary earners of the cities. The Republican party in November will ask Chicago voters to indorse this Republican measure.

Finally, there is the record of the party in the local governments to be considered. The long story of incompetence, higher taxes, and public interests neglected cannot be forgotten by a host of Republican voters who may forgive or ignore the record of the party in the state and national governments. The necessities of politics may for the moment erase the lines of factionalism which have separated the party's candidates in the past, but it is far from certain that the good fellowship displayed at the dinner will infect the voters as well as the leaders.

If this outlook is hopeful, we should like to see plans and specifications of a gloomy one.

SMALL HARBORS.

Small harbors for Chicagoland deserve attention not only from the city and other local agencies but from the federal government. Though they now are used primarily for pleasure craft there are commercial craft, as well as flying boats, that can find great value in them. Regulations preventing federal aid, such as they are, for harbors of this sort would seem to be written for middle western congressmen. They have not bound congressmen of other states from getting aid for little harbors from Maine to Florida.

Small harbors should be built by one agency or another at short intervals along the lake shore from the Dunelands to Milwaukee. An island and a harbor built of dumpings now scattered in the lake should be raised six miles or eight off the Chicago shore. On Chicago's beach line other improvements are much needed. The inner breakwater by Grant park should be retained after the outer breakwater and drive are completed. The large harbor north of Navy pier should be made a safe anchorage for little boats. There are other needs. If these are in a measure met, Chicago can become the yacht and small boat center of this continental area.

HIGH BOOKS.

Books that save money on production costs have added most of it to the costs of distribution, and a book that costs 25 cents to make, says Mr. Doubleday, now costs two dollars or so to distribute. The public, on the other hand, has learned at last to resent the $2.50, the $3, or $3.50 book of general fiction and turns more and more to magazines instead. Reprints of books sold at $1 in the drug stores now additionally upset the market, the business of publishing, already pressed hard by magazines and a buyers' strike, receives a new serious blow.

Books have become so high in price that the buying habit is declining, and if publishers continue on this course a book will be a luxury afforded only in the wealthy home. Some way to reduce the price is necessary to save books as a general business. With the increasing use of public books from libraries and like institutions, with the decline of the large home in competition with the small apartment, with other social and mechanical changes now upon us, the book in any case has a doubtful future. Its hope lies in skillful efforts in large scale distribution.

Books have had a great part in our history, but the future may witness their decline. If other agencies can do better what the book now tries to do they will replace it. If the price of books becomes so high that these agencies are encouraged, the book as a general tool of education and amusement will disappear.

THE COLLEGE AND THE NATIONAL DEFENSE.

At Purdue intense activity on brass buttons, leather putties, belts and buckles, guns, caps, and general equipment has been going on. The reserve officers' training corps of the university has had annual inspection. At Northwestern ninety men or so are loading sea bags and working out departure sights for a fortnight's cruise on the battleship Wyoming to the Azores: The naval unit there is getting ready for commissions. At Illinois and Michigan and Ohio and at scores of other colleges young men are going through the training course for officers in the service of our national defense. They are the reserves, pinch hitters, as they called them in the war, and the several thousand of them turned out every year are uniquely valuable in our defensive system. Green, perhaps, but they will come across in time of need. No other nation could produce them.

That the democratic system of America and its colleges can produce leaders in a pinch in quantities almost unlimited was shown in the great war. England had a few young men fitted for such jobs by training and tradition. When they were killed there were no more. France and Italy fell in the same predicament. Even Germany ran short of officer material as the war progressed. The fixed class system of old Europe worked for a little while until attrition and grinding stones of a long war wore off the upper surface; then it collapsed. But America could feed in officer material as long as any men were left and the colleges kept going. Hundreds of thousands of good officers were ready for the front before the war was over.

The reserve officer was an American contribution to the war. Trained in four months by intensive schools, and ready in a few months more to lead troops at the front, he came by hundred thousands from this country's huge reserve of general training, of hope and of ambition in all of the people, and he proved decisively that a democratic country can make leaders of highest quality in numbers far exceeding those of the old lands and European classes. The class system of Europe broke down under the great pressures that modern times impose.

A reserve of leadership the American college undoubtedly produces. With all its faults, and they are serious, the system of our higher education turns out men for emergencies as well as for the routine life of day to day. On their college background events have intelligent perspective, and the technical information that the younger army officers must have promptly is acquired. The special knowledge needed is not really great in order to command units up to a battalion. The general qualities needed in an officer are already there in the average college man.

The gang loyalties and the willingness to sacrifice for a group or institution, the will to stick until the end, the friendliness and the consideration for other buddies, the good humor under trial, the athletic power and mechanical ingenuity, all are soldier qualities, and all characterize the normal college man. Discipline follows easily such a man's belief in the cause for which he fights. In wars supported by the people the college and democracy are invincible.

From all occupations and all groups these men are drawn, and, though the system has its military faults, its virtues are far greater. With West Pointers and old noncommissioned officers to train the college man, a war that gives us time enough for a few months' preparation will produce leaders without limit. But not all wars will give us time.

The mass and thunder of the modern age is too great for the frail systems of the old aristocracies. They are inadequate to great events. They crash, and a people whose training and powers are well distributed emerges into power. From the broad base of all the people our schools and colleges try to develop leaders. The record of reserve officers, thken in great part from colleges, shows that the effort in that sense is successful.

Editorial of the Day

NOT AN ATTRACTION.

[Hartford, Conn., Courant.]

It is announced from New York that one of the attractions at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933 will be a caterpillar, sixty feet long and eleven feet high, its dimensions being not far from that of the average mogul locomotive. Visitors will enter this counterfeit insect and see the eighteen intakes of its breathing system and its heart, pumping water. Entomologists are expected to explain by way of showing how the creature is adapted to its purposes, why it is that the human race may eventually be exterminated by insects, because the latter will destroy vegetation. Along with man would go most of the birds and quadrupeds, and having disposed of man the insects would perish in their turn, there being nothing upon which they could feed.

We are told that experts in the Bell Telephone laboratories will build this counterfeit insect and, for aught we know, will set about to construct a potato beetle of the size of a two story frame house, and possibly a cucumber bug no larger than a two car garage. Science does wonderful things and if it elects to construct brobdignagian insects of heroic size it will undoubtedly do so.

But who will care to see them? We are assuming that many prosperous men who were farm bred will attend this coming world's fair and they will not register interest in mammoth caterpillars, no matter how much attention to detail has been bestowed upon their construction.

The average boy, until he grew sufficiently sturdy to do a man's work on the farm, spent much of his time in fighting insects that preyed upon farm products and there were always more than enough of them. Nor was that all; if the boy prowled about on his own affairs for a few moments a caterpillar was more than likely to curl itself into a circle and drop between the boy's shirt collar and his neck, which was extremely unpleasant. We cannot, as we have said before, believe that any adult with a farm background will be drawn to a world's fair because he wishes to see artificial insects, even though a great deal of care has been spent in their construction.

MAKING THE SENATE BEHAVE

looks like something that Washington has to worry about. The senate is asked to ratify the London naval treaty and if it doesn't then maybe it'll be called back for a special session. If you've never spent a summer in Washington you won't know how the senate hates the idea of being kept in after school. Well, you know yourself how you used to moan when you were kept in at recess or after school. Washington is a grand place when you just go there to see the White House, the big dome of the Capitol, and Pennsylvania avenue. It's a wonderful place for a wedding trip—that and Niagara Falls. But if you have to live in Washington it's liable to get on your nerves. And the senate hates the idea of being kept in after school because then all the rest of it may happen.

They might be given report cards with all the times they're marked tardy or late or didn't vote according to the way teacher thought they ought to have voted, and they will have to carry the report cards back to their states and explain why they got such poor marks. They may have to recite pieces on the last day of the session, and if they're bad boys they might have to stand in the corner with a dunce cap on. And if they're caught chewing gum or throwing paper wads during classes they might be called up and get their knuckles whacked. And if the senators play hookey, as they often do to go to a baseball game, they might be turned out of school. So the senate's scared. If it has to be kept in after school on account of the naval pact the boys don't know where that sort of thing is going to end.

ROULETTE.

When time is come for the unburdening,
I'll take the minor part; have I not less
Than you to leave as votive offering
Beside the secret shrine where we'll confess?
You who are given to a game of chance,
In which a heart is just a colored chip
To lay at odd or even when the dance
Of rouge et noir gives love the usual slip!

You built a system to outwit the gods
That spin the wheels in cadence to the stir
Of little, hidden passions, but the odds
Forever wavered toward the croupier.
You played too long your easy game of chance;
Now all you've left's the tinsel of romance.

DOC BUTCHER says the publishers are going to do something about the static in the book business and give us novels at one buck per throw. It'll be a great help. It's been so that when we got so doggoned sick of trying to wade through the slush that the authors are writing nowadays and stepping hastily to the window hurled the book at a tomcat on the back fence, we stepped back guiltily with the reflection that we had thrown away two dollars and a half or three dollars. But we can throw one dollar books at the tomcat in the alley without undue remorse.

Old Solomon thought he had some beauty to describe, too, but he didn't put on such a snide job once he really set his mind to it. And take Walter Pater. Walt had to worry along with ordinary words in describing quite a raft of beautiful things, and you'd be surprised at what a fairish success he made of it. Then there was Keats' dilemma when he had to describe his Grecian Urn; and Dante gazing up at his Beatrice; and old Art Brisbane dreaming about California. Tut! tut! You advertising men oughtn't to give up without a struggle like that. Buck up!

INCREASE IN FISH EATING.

THE use of seafood is scheduled to increase if the supply can be conserved and if the possibilities are availed of. The rains are washing the ingredients of the soil into the sea while the water as it returns in the clouds has no minerals in solution. In consequence, when the accounts between land and sea are balanced about once a century it is found that the land tends constantly to go deeper into the red.

We know that the sea has drawn on the land for most of its iodine and men pay in goitre in consequence. We are just learning the body's need for other rare elements in addition to iodine. It behooves us to draw on the sea for food to an increasing extent. As a means to this end scientists are learning about fishes.

They have discovered many facts about oysters and the application of some of these has made oysters a safer food. Clams are also being studied. There are seasons when oysters are safe and others when they are unsafe. In a certain district in California a seafood in a particular area is poisonous in the egg producing season but wholesome at other times.

There is much folklore and some scientific writing about the poisonous qualities of some fish all the time and all fish under certain circumstances. One folk belief is that the fins and spines of fish are poisonous in the same way that snakes are. There is no basis for this. There are no poison bags at the roots of fins and spines and no tubes similar to those in fangs. The wounds made by fins and spines are somewhat dangerous because they are really hypodermic wounds made by unclean instruments. Such wounds properly cared for do not develop signs of poisoning. Aside from being readily infected, fish bites are not poisonous. A few fish, such as stingarees and rays, are apt to have a poison tool and a poison sack. However, the dose of poison does not compare with that of a poisonous snake. The skin of many fish is slightly poisonous partly because of the slime on it and partly because of substances in it. The folklore remedy for wounds infected with such slime is to apply the liver of the fish to such wounds. There is a good deal of scientific basis for this folk practice.

Eating fish may be hazardous. In the first place, fish spoil quickly unless iced. Most cases of poisoning due to eating fish are because the meat is spoiled. There are a few poisonous fish, that is, the meat itself is poisonous. Dr. E. W. Gudger says that barracuda jackfish and muletto kingfish are among these. The meat of a young barracuda is wholesome; that of an older one is not. Age is one factor. Spawning causes the meat of some fish to be harmful.

As facts accumulate eating fish will be made freer from hazard. In consequence there will be an increased use of them as food.

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

J. B. writes:

1. From what source does St. Vitus' dance spring?
2. Is it curable?
3. To what would you attribute the following symptoms: a sharp twitching of, first, the leg and then the right foot and arm; speech slightly impeded, a slight hesitancy and drawling being noted.

The child in question is 12 years of age and is a normal, healthy girl.

REPLY.

1. St. Vitus' dance is a combination of an infection with rheumatism microbes, with anemia.
2. Rest, tonics, and rheumatism treatment generally cure it. Relapses occur frequently.
3. This history does not suggest St. Vitus' dance. It suggests hysteria.

MASSAGE SOMETIMES HELPFUL.

A. S. C. writes:

1. Can stiffness in knees and ankles be cured or helped in the aged?
2. Can an adult give up all cream and milk in reducing and not harm the health?
3. Should abscessed teeth always be abstracted?
4. Are tomatoes too acid for one with rheumatism?

REPLY.

1. Yes. Massage and use are helpful.
2. Yes.
3. Not always.
4. No.

"ALL" IS TOO MUCH.

T. M. writes: Does the removal of tonsils preclude all possibility of a person having quinsy sore throat?

REPLY:

"All" is a little too inclusive. We will not quarrel with "nearly all."

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 26, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—The trial of the assassination conspirators was barren of interesting incident further than the painting of the horrors of southern dungeons in which federal soldiers were imprisoned. The conclusion of the government's testimony was devoted to Dr. Mudd, who, with Surratt, was shown to have been harboring rebels and holding secret meetings with them last summer. Mrs. Surratt's witnesses were the first called on the part of the defense and in two instances gave evidence damaging to her. Mrs. John Hallahan said she boarded at Mrs. Surratt's and had seen Payne and Atzerodt there. Payne passing as a minister. The Rev. Fathers Wigett, Boyle, and Honestreet testified they had heard Mrs. Surratt well spoken of and that they had never heard anything that would detract from her Christian character.

WASHINGTON.—The waterproof cloak and shawl worn by Jeff Davis at the time of his capture was presented to the war department. The cloak was worn as a skirt and the shawl as a hood. Jeff's toggery will be forwarded at once to Chicago for exhibition in the Northwestern Sanitary and Soldiers' Home fair that begins next week.

CINCINNATI.—Gen. Sheridan and his staff arrived here and received a large number of people at the Burnett house. He will proceed immediately down the river on his way to assume charge of the federal armies in Texas.

WASHINGTON.—President Johnson has removed his business office from the treasury department to the executive mansion, which, for the first time since the assassination of President Lincoln, was today thrown open to visitors.

CHICAGO—William C. Clarke, son of the Rev. M. G. Clarke, and Miss Mary M. Hawkins were married at the First Baptist church on May 24 by the bridegroom's father.

WASHINGTON. — Ex-Gov. John Letcher of Virginia was captured at Lexington, Va., by a detachment of Gen. Carbutt's cavalry. He arrived at the Arsenal wharf, whence it was understood he was conveyed to the Old Capitol prison. At Fortress Monroe there is a report that Jeff Davis has been manacled to prevent his injuring his guard. It is understood that he is to be tried in the civil courts in Washington on charges of high treason.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 26, 1900.

MANILA.—Maj. Peyton C. March with a battalion of the 33d infantry and Col. Luther R. Hare with another part of the same regiment, while scouring the country northeast of Benguer, report that they have struck the trail of a party of Filipinos in the mountains and believe they are escorting Aguinaldo. Maj. March is continuing the pursuit across an exceedingly difficult country beyond the reach of telegraph lines.

WASHINGTON.—Instructions were sent to Ambassador White at Berlin to make representations to the German foreign office with a view to laying before that government the injustice that would be done American meats if pending legislation is enacted.

CHICAGO.—Adam Ortseifen will be the Cook county Democratic machine candidate for the nomination for governor. His candidacy was indorsed by the executive committee yesterday.

LONDON. — Lord Roberts is expected to cross the Vaal river today or tomorrow. His advance from the Rhenoster river has been rapid and unopposed. As anticipated in London the Boers are making no stand south of the Vaal. After crossing the river, war experts believe Lord Roberts will march directly on Johannesburg.

PHILADELPHIA. — Sig. Giuseppe del Puente, the widely known baritone, dropped dead at his home of apoplexy. He was 60 years old and came to America in 1873, where he became widely known in opera roles.

CHICAGO.—With the grand jury ready to proceed with an investigation of the business methods of wholesale dealers in building material an apparent lull in the war between the Building Contractors' council and the Building Trades council was noted. Both sides seemed confident there would be an early settlement of labor troubles and an end of the strike which has paralyzed construction work.

CHICAGO.—Miss Bonnie Abbott of John Marshall High school won the first prize of $100 and a gold medal at the sixth annual oratorical contest of the Chicago High School Literary union at Central Music hall.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 26, 1920.

CHICAGO.—With a raid on the palatial apartment home of a north side millionaire, federal liquor agents launched a proposed campaign of whisky seizures which promise to "shake the very foundations" of the gold coast and its environs. The raid was made on the apartment of Charles B. Smith, president of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company, 3314 Sheridan road. The family was out and two maids accompanied Maj. A. V. Dalrymple's men on their rounds. Ten cases of bonded whisky were seized and taken away. There were many more cases of liquor in the flat, federal officers said, but only ten could be identified as having marks that distinguished them as having been illegally procured.

Chicago, May 22.—In your "Voice of the People" a day or two since there appeared an article suggesting the control and diversion of the Wisconsin river and a reference to Mr. Hoover as a "great engineer." I have seen this reference a great many times. Apparently it has come to be accepted that Mr. Hoover is "a great engineer," but just as a matter of information where can I secure any description of any "great engineering" works, particularly in the United States, for which Mr. Hoover is responsible, or under whose supervision such "great engineering" works were conceived or completed? I know of none such and inquiry among my technical friends fails to produce the information.

If "Mr. Hoover is a great engineer," and if Mr. Hoover is, as we have been led to believe, greatly interested in farm relief, he would see that Chicago, the best concentration point and the best distribution point, was assisted in retaining and preserving its prestige as the greatest grain market in the world. This cannot be done without modern improved harbor facilities and modern improved and increased grain storage, and when I refer to a modern harbor I don't refer to the land grabbing scheme of filling up Lake Calumet and leaving merely a ship channel through that area while certain railroads secured, merely for the taking, millions of dollars worth of valuable land for switch yards. The Lake Calumet harbor plan might be a bonanza for the real estate agent and the railroad stockholder, but to the practical engineer it means little or nothing, perhaps a lighterage channel; but what large lake craft, to say nothing of an ocean going steamer, could afford to waste its time wandering through the sinuous channels of the Calumet river? The harbor belongs in the water; not in the land. The lake shore is the place for it.

Perhaps, and I am not sure of this, the many millions of dollars spent in beautifying the city's lake front is well spent, although that is lost for harbor facilities. However, down in the territory made famous years ago by the Roby track and at the lake shore there is a wonderful opportunity for a real commercial harbor, with all of the principal trunk line railroads either at the door or but a short distance away.

The Chicago Board of Trade and its members, in the early days did more toward the creation of the city of Chicago than any other one industry, not even excepting the packing industry. The Board of Trade and the packing industry furnish a tremendous amount of business to the Chicago banks. If this grain trade passes from Chicago through lack of proper facilities, the banks and every other industry in Chicago must suffer. It is an old saw that no chain is stronger than its weakest link. The commercial chain of the city of Chicago is extremely weak in the fading and passing of harbor facilities and, incidentally, with the disappearance of many and obsolescence of other warehouses for the storage of grain. All Chicago grain warehouses do not come within this class. There are many good ones, but it is a true fact that while the grain crops in the last thirty years have doubled, the storage facilities of Chicago have steadily decreased.

A modern commercial harbor cannot be built overnight. It needs a campaign; but a modern commercial harbor is necessary and should be built or the financial interests and every other interest in Chicago will suffer. A harbor scheme eight or ten miles inland, "as the "snake wiggles," not "as the crow flies," would be worthless. Waukegan might as well plan a harbor at Fox lake. The industrial life of Chicago demands a modern commercial harbor and it is as important to the financial life as it is to the industrial life. Money comes and stays where there is activity.

Maj. Putnam has made some wonderful suggestions. They should be followed up. Can't you emphasize the thought "build a modern commercial harbor," and some time within the next five years make some one worth while listen to it?

JAMES E. BENNETT.

THE BLACK HORSE TROOP.

Chicago, May 22.—It was my pleasure on the evening of May 19 to witness the formal debut of the Chicago Black Horse troop, and, while the presentation was in a way spectacular, yet as an ex-cavalryman I was very much disappointed in the drill.

The troop as a whole appears to ride well, with the exception of mounting and dismounting, which was accomplished in many instances by the use of packing boxes, and in one case the assistance of two grooms was necessary to successfully dismount a trooper, much to the horror of one acquainted with cavalry monkey drill.

The manual of the saber appeared to include only drawing, carrying, presenting, and returning, the finer technique of cuts, parries, moulinets, etc., being omitted—and one would not expect such omissions by a crack outfit on display. Perhaps they are not a finished product as yet, but then have they not been drilling for a year?

The uniform, while striking, is in some ways impractical. The shako has a coat button on either side instead of a shako button, causing great discomfort to the wearer, and the baldric, while ornamental, could have been put to use had it been attached to the belt, thus supporting the saber and thereby relieving the strain from the blouse.

The troop, in a street parade, will perform to the satisfaction of most Chicagoans, but they did not function the other evening as a crack organization, by comparison with the balance of the 106th cavalry regiment.

It is high time that the military of this country were elevated to a position that will command the respect of citizens, but if the military expects this respect, they must be so superbly drilled as to merit that honor.

EX-CAVALRYMAN.

PRACTICAL JOKE.

Chicago, May 22.—We all know that at the present times are very hard. Almost every person has had a taste of financial embarrassment and I am no exception. While being thus embarrassed the radiator on my car had to spring a leak, and to save a few pennies I took the car to a friend of mine to have it repaired. This friend lives near the place where the sand boats deposit their sand. While the radiator was off the car, somebody, either for spits or to be funny, put about a quart of sand into the motor, where ordinarily oil is put in. Any one knowing a little about motors knows the result of such an act.

It is my earnest desire that the party who played this little trick will derive a lot of pleasure from it. I know I did! I have lost the use of the car for over a month, and have spent many a sleepless night worrying how I am going to get the $197.90 that it is costing me to have it repaired. I doubt very much if the car will ever be the same as it was before.

Some tricks may be funny but I think this one was carried too far.

E. F. JOHNSON.

WHEN WOMEN WERE BUXOM.

Racine, Wis., May 23.—It is amusing to listen to the loud squawks coming from the modern woman against the new 1930 styles. And yet one can not blame the poor things—because on their starved to the limit figures they are hideous. On the girls of the gay '90s these clothes were gorgeously beautiful. They had the figure to carry them but on the shapeless modern woman the effect is that of the clothes carrying the woman and is, of course, grotesque. When the fashion makers decreed that the thin, shapeless femme be the darling of the mode, they sounded their own death knell—and they now realise it and how.

FAMILY DOCTOR MADE MILLIONS OF FRIENDS

Fifteen years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became famous for a single prescription, which now, after forty years, is still making friends.

Today Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people never think of using anything else when they're constipated, sluggish, bilious, feverish or weak; their breath is bad, tongue coated, or they're suffering from nausea, gas, or lack of appetite or energy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made today according to the original formula, from herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant-tasting; thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

FIND 'GARDEN OF EDEN' OF FOSSILS IN MONGOL SAND

Uncharted Lake May Be Key to Earliest Man.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, May 25.—The discovery of a mysterious unmapped lake amid the Mongolian sand dunes which may prove to be a veritable "Garden of Eden" was announced in Peiping today by Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the central Asiatic expedition which is preparing to leave for Mongolia tomorrow.

Mr. Andrews sent out in advance a Mongol explorer, and he returned recently with news of the uncharted lake, bringing with him samples of fossils. These portend the possibility of the most important finds, including possibly the ancestors of the "Peking woman."

Will Ride on Camels.

The automobiles of the advance expedition were unable to reach the lake and it will therefore be necessary to travel for a month on camels through the shifting dunes in order to reach it. The Mongol explorer reported also that the high cliffs which surround the lake contain abundant fossil remains, so that Mr. Andrews is very hopeful that these will include clews to the earliest man.

The district has not been inhabitated for centuries, and where the cliffs have been eroded by the action of the weather hundreds of fossils lie on the surface. Walter Granger, the chief paleontologist of the expedition, said that the sample fossils brought back include those of rhinoceroses and prehistoric animals.

Hope for Several Strata.

"The stratum," said Mr. Granger, "is probably of the Pliocene period, which makes man's presence unlikely, but possibly a stratum of the Pleistocene or glacial period will be found, in which case remains of the earliest man may be discovered."

The expedition will have to pass through a bandit infested country, but Mr. Andrews has purchased passage privileges from bandit leaders, who privileges from bandit leaders who are sending an escort. The Chinese discoverer of the "Peking woman," W. C. Pei, and the noted French Jesuit geologist, Pere Teilhard Chardin, are accompanying the expedition.

Mrs. Blacklidge Recovers from Two Weeks' Illness

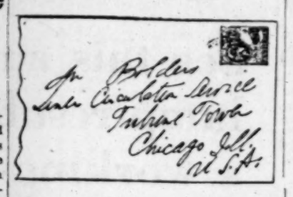
Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, collector of internal revenue, who for the last two weeks has been ill in her apartment at the Del Prado hotel, will be able to return to her office in the federal building tomorrow, it became known yesterday. Mrs. Blacklidge within the last six weeks has lost both her husband, John W. Blacklidge, south side druggist, and her son, John W. Jr. Both died of pneumonia.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

FROM ST. JOHN, BRITISH WEST INDIES

Letter received by Joseph L. Baldus, 1604 Tribune Tower.



"This letter was written by Harold T. Wilson, publisher of the Magnet, at St. John, Antigua, British West Indies," Mr. Baldus writes. "The Magnet is a four column tri-weekly paper, printed in English, which has 1,050 subscribers at $4.32 per year.

"Mr. Wilson states in his letter that business conditions on the island are not flourishing at the present time, but that he can perceive signs of better times ahead.

"Antigua is the most important of the Leeward islands, and has a population of about 30,000, of whom 1,800 are white. The island is twelve miles long and nine and one-half miles wide. Of the 114 square miles comprising the island, 20,000 acres are under cultivation. Besides about 12,000 tons of sugar cane, Antigua annually produces molasses in large quantities, limes, and other fruits."

Antigua was discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1493, and was settled by the British in 1632. The towns are St. John, the capital of the island and the seat of government of the Leeward group; Parham, English Harbor, and Falmouth. The island has a fertile soil and the climate is dry and pleasant, although hurricanes sometimes occur in the summer. St. John has a fair harbor and a number of substantial buildings. It has an approximate population of 7,000, of whom about 1,000 are white.

The presidency of Antigua, which also includes the islands of Barbuda and Redonda, is the most important member of the colony of the Leeward islands. It has a governor and legislature, and Anglican and Moravian bishops.

streets, the Ridge Civic council of Beverly Hills, the Logan Square Business Men's association, and the Amalgamated Improvement Clubs of the Northwest Side, may stir up a sizable sentiment against the ordinance, it is believed.

Past Referendums Recalled.

Previous referendums on transportation ordinances have stirred up vigorous contests, it was recalled yesterday. The 1907 ordinance was carried by only 33,086 majority. The 1918 ordinance was defeated by 33,652 votes. The 1925 ordinance was defeated by 106,726 votes.

The 1907 ordinance took 301,648 voters to the polls to express their opinion of it. That is less than a fourth of the voters now qualified to take part in the referendum on July 1, but at that time it was 76.5 per cent of the registered voters.

In the 1918 referendum the voters participating totaled 453,016. That is an increase of 150,000 over the total in the 1907 referendum, but for that time was a smaller vote in proportion to the total number of voters. The intense interest in transportation had cooled. This is indicated by the fact that only 56.8 per cent of the registered voters took the trouble to express their opinion of the ordinance.

The Outlook for July 1.

In 1925 the referendum brought out only 51.5 per cent of the registered voters, although the total number who voted on the ordinance was 560,792. If there is a 50 per cent vote on July 1, which the trend of interest in transit referendums does not indicate, there will be 675,348 persons voting on the indeterminate franchise. Some of the aldermen hope for a 55 per cent vote. If that happens, there will still be 607,800 registered voters in Chicago who will not take part in deciding the transit question.

"It is my desire," said Ald. McDonough last night, "that a very large percentage of the voters express their views. That was the reason why I wished the referendum to be held before many persons leave the city on their vacations. The more people who vote the more pleasing it will be to me. The committee will be glad to give information to any one who desires it.

No Limit on Car Spending.

"I feel that much of the opposition to the ordinance by those who did not get their extensions is caused by a lack of appreciation of the facts. The ordinance specifically provides that the new company is not limited to the spending of $200,000,000 in the first 10 years, although that is all that has been guaranteed in the ordinance.

"The new company recognizes that it can be required by the local transit commission to build other extensions in the ten year period. The commission can place heavy penalties upon the new company if it fails to obey an order issued.

"I do not care to give any false hope to any one, but I feel confident that extensions will be built in the 10 year period which are not contained in the present plan if the transit program works out as well as the engineers, operators, and bankers now believe it will."

The Civil legion, with headquarters at 163 West Washington street, yesterday adopted a resolution favoring the transit ordinance and emphasizing the effect on employment which the project will have if approved at the referendum.

STRUCK BY FALLING STEEL; DIES.

GLENN TELLS LEGION HE FAVORS BUILDING VETERANS' HOSPITALS

Carbondale, Ill., May 25.—[Special.]—Declaring that centralization of government power at Washington and the placing of three federal laws upon the books, the Dye: auto law, the narcotic law, and the prohibition law, has overloaded the federal jails of the country, United States Senator Otis F. Glenn of Illinois told the meeting of the American Legion that "if it comes to a vote for more jails or more hospitals, I am going to vote for more hospitals and more legislation that will bring relief to the disabled soldiers and their dependents."

Past National Commander Paul V. McNutt of the American Legion, speaking at the same gathering, warned that "disaster is ahead unless congress passes the relief legislation now before it for the disabled."

"Each claim that passes across the deck," McNutt said, "represents a human life, for most of us the war ended on Armistice day but for many it has not ended yet. Those who are suffering mentally and physically deserve a chance to be restored to citizenship. Other speakers were Edwin J. Foster, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Edward A. Hayes, commander of the Illinois department of the American Legion.

SEEK PASSAGE OF VET BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS ENDS

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—The American Legion, through its national legislative committee, today appealed to members of the senate to prevent the pigeonholing of three pending house measures described as "of great importance to world war veterans." The bills are:

1. The Johnson or Rankin bill extending relief to disabled veterans. This bill passed the house April 24 and is now in the senate.
2. The Snell resolution calling for an investigation of the feasibility of the universal draft. This resolution passed the house April 1.
3. The Hawley bill extending the time on applications for adjusted compensation so as to validate 40,000 applications received since the expiration date last January. This bill passed the house March 4 and is in the senate finance committee.

"These three important pieces of legislation only require favorable senate action, and presidential approval, before they are enacted into law," the Legion message to the senators stated. "The 800,000 members of the Legion and the 350,000 members of our auxiliary sincerely hope that you will employ your best efforts to see that congress does not adjourn prior to enacting these three important measures of the world war veterans."

Getting more heat from screenings than hand-firing gets from lump, is only one economy of Combustioneer automatic coal burning. Even with screenings, there's no smoke. For here is the sensible, scientific way to burn coal. Hand-firing gets but a fraction of the heat in coal. It permits smoke and ash. Combustioneer uses up coal as completely as a carburetor uses gasoline. It properly mixes forced air with coal and gets combustion so perfect that nothing is left to make smoke or ash. See this sane, modern way of burning the oldest, safest and most reliable fuel in the world. See how a small investment, spread over a long period, converts a coal-burning boiler room into a bright, clean, well-kept automatic heating plant under automatic control. INDIANA WHEAT, CORN IN NEED OF MORE RAINFALL

Observers Speculate on Chances for Bumper Crop

BY PAUL POTTER.

Lafayette, Ind., May 25.—[Special.] While faced crop observers are beginning to speculate on whether the weather man intends to dish out another unfavorable season for Hoosier farmers, as rainfall continues much below normal for the spring, while the southern half of the state is actually suffering from drouth on winter wheat and on corn just piercing green shoots through the soil.

While farming has continued with little variation in acreage devoted to the major crops for nearly 60 years in Indiana, the bumper yields of most corn belt states have somehow missed Indiana, otherwise fertile area for six years running, but one exception.

Reserve Moisture a Help.

"It's about Indiana's turn to have a favorable year," says Miner M. Justin, federal agricultural statistician for Indiana, "although a check of the rainfall the last two months is disappointing. Fair weather has enabled farmers to get their soil ready and crops planted a little earlier than usual, and with some reserve moisture from winter snows, we're not suffering in any manner yet."

Indiana, the home of world's champion corn growers for many successive years and the first state to establish records for producing ton litters in six months, has advanced greatly in production of a wide variety of crops in the last half century, its only material losses being in reduced wheat acreage, and gradual elimination of farm orchards.

The state produces more corn, oats and hay than it did sixty years ago, Mr. Justin points out, and the production of dairy herds has been materially increased. Commercial production of tomatoes for canning has, with the increased planting of soybeans, been quite general over the entire state. But the diversified income of the Indiana farmer has carried him along all this way, preventing serious losses from any one crop depression.

Crop Values Up $4,507,000.

Field crops, vegetables, and fruits brought Indiana farmers nearly a quarter billion dollars last year, a gain of $4,507,000 over their returns in 1929. Diverse cropping in the state brings such crops as these into national consumption: Corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, tobacco, peppermint, tomatoes, onions, sweet corn, cucumbers, cabbage, melons, berries, legume hay crops, timothy, sorghum, cane, peaches, pears, apples, grapes, and potatoes.

Indiana's agriculture has an investment in animals estimated on Jan. 1, 1930, at $5,564,969,000. While horses have shown a decrease of two-thirds in numbers since 1920, more cattle are producing milk and meat in Indiana than ever before. The government estimates Indiana dairymen received nearly $48,000,000 in milk and cream checks alone last year.

Truck crops have receded from the northwest part of the state, caused by competition of farmers on cheaper land, with less labor and better transportation to the Chicago metropolitan area. Dairying has been extended to a wider area, milk from even Steuben county in the northeast corner coming daily into Chicago now. There are only 2,240,000 bearing fruit trees in the state now, compared with 8,620,000 in 1900. This depletion is offset by yearly advances of 20 per cent in acreage devoted to soybeans in the last three years.

That Hoosier farmers are progressing in home comfort and modern conveniences is indicated in a state-wide census by assessors recently announced. Radio sets exist in 22 per cent of the farm homes, 14 per cent have either private or high power wired electricity, 10 per cent have furnaces, 17 per cent have tractors, 13 per cent have trucks, and 87 per cent of the state's farms have autos.

FLIVVER BRIGADE FIRES EDISON PK. TO TAX PROTEST

Residents Demand Relief from High Bills.

A flivver brigade yesterday roused home owners of Edison Park in protest against high tax bills under the reassessment. The brigade was formed by Theodore H. Lunde, 424 Armour street, who resolved with a few neighbors to crystalize feeling against the high bills into united action.

They toured the community, calling on home owners to meet in a hall near the suburban railroad depot. Taxpayers left their radios to voice complaints. The hall was thronged with a good natured but determined crowd. The district is in the township of Maine where valuations were raised together with all country townships.

Bills Raised 200 Per Cent.

The meeting was not conducted in a strict parliamentary fashion. The chairman announced that the gathering was a neighborhood affair and asked members of the gathering to state their complaints. Taxpayers shouted from all corners of the hall that their bills had been raised from 200 to 800 per cent.

"We know all about the raises," a man shouted. "That's done. What are we going to do about it? That's what counts with me, and my pocketbook. Let's do something."

"Clean out the county building," a woman answered.

"With bare fists," a man added, rolling up his sleeves.

Want Justice, Not Law.

Similar suggestions came from other taxpayers. An attorney arose to announce that he would undertake to secure cuts on the basis that he would receive 20 per cent of reductions won. He was hooted down with the cry, "We've been robbed by politicians and want justice not law."

From the storm of suggestions a resolution was drafted described by Mr. Lunde as: "A new declaration of independence promulgated by the taxpayers of Edison Park under the yoke of increased tax bills, increases ranging from 50 per cent to 800 per cent, with residents offering as suggestions lowering of the tax rate and cleaning out the county building. We are determined to starve out the city hall, county building and sanitary district."

Another Meeting Is Called.

The meeting disbanded with the request that the taxpayers consider means of securing reductions and offer them for a meeting which is to be called later in the week. One taxpaper recommended that all the residents march on the city hall in a protest parade, declaring that their ranks would be swelled as they passed through the west side.

In other districts of the city home owners discussed bills with their neighbors and talked of organization of a similar nature. Their indignation mounted in view of the impending higher bills in 1929, when the special session of the legislature increases tax rates of local governments in the financial relief program.

FALLS TO DEATH IN ELEVATOR.

Gus Novak, 54 years old, 2116 Irving Park boulevard, a janitor in the R. C. building, 609 North La Salle street, fell two floors to the pit of the elevator shaft in the R. C. building yesterday while greasing the elevator cables and suffered a skull fracture which resulted in his death a few hours later.

ESTRANGED WIFE SHOOTS RIVAL SHE FINDS WITH MATE

When she met her husband escorting another woman yesterday, Mrs. Josephine Kujawa, 36, of 5317 South Menard avenue, drew an automatic pistol out of her handbag and fired six shots at Mrs. Mary Slomba, 37 years old, of 5211 South Kilpatrick avenue. Mrs. Slomba was in a critical condition from her wounds last night at Holy Cross hospital, one bullet having pierced her lung.

Mrs. Kujawa gave a statement to Chicago Lawn police, when arrested at the scene of the shooting, 5534 Archer avenue, to the effect that her husband, Stanley, had deserted her for Mrs. Slomba two years ago.

BINDS PAIR IN LOOP CAFE; GETS $4,000 FROM SAFE

A Negro bandit escaped with $4,000 early yesterday after binding two porters and robbing the cashier in Harding's restaurant at 68 West Madison street. Fred Ahlgrim, 3224 North Central Park avenue, the night cashier, was seized when he returned with collections from three of Harding's loop restaurants. The robber already had bound the two porters. One of them, John Washington, colored, 5900 Calumet avenue, was held by the police for questioning last night. The robber left his coat, through which the police hope to trace him.

THREE ROB GROCERY STORE.

Three armed men entered the grocery store of John Bankus at 6332 South Central avenue Saturday night and took $25 from the cash register.

"What! Run my motor for 50 hours at 80° above 'boiling'...?"

NOT EVEN RACING CARS reach such a temperature—let alone ordinary cars. But, in the special laboratory engine at the left, New Iso-Vis was run at a temperature of 300° F. for 50 hours. Here is proof that it holds its lubricating value at the highest driving temperatures.

PROOF THAT New Iso-Vis will not thin out in the crankcase may be seen at any Standard Oil service station. Ask to see the Ball and Bottle Test.

YOU ARE RIGHT. You couldn't do it. The only place such a radical test of motor oil could be made is in the laboratory—and that's where it was made.

In the ordinary motor car, this experiment would be impossible because water boils away at 212° F. In the laboratory engine, however, the cooling system was filled with liquid that boils above 300° F. With the temperature at this extremely high point, they let the engine hum for 50 hours.

Strange as it may seem, the engine was unharmed. This new oil had retained its lubricating value throughout those gruelling hours.

This test shows clearly one of the important advantages of New Iso-Vis. It gives effective lubrication at the highest driving temperatures although none of its lubricating value is lost at extremes of cold.

New Iso-Vis brings a new factor of safety in motoring and a relief from lubrication troubles. In addition to giving better lubrication at extremes of temperature, it forms less carbon and is the only oil that will not thin out in your crankcase.

You can get New Iso-Vis at any Standard Oil dealer or service station. To get the most out of your engine, use New Iso-Vis regularly.

New ISO-VIS 30¢ a quart Motor Oil

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. This price is 25c a quart.

U. S. WILL SPEED PRISON PROGRAM, EXECUTIVE SAYS

New Legislation Provides for Expansion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, today outlined his plans for putting into effect the huge prisons reorganization and expansion program just authorized by congress.

As seen by Mr. Bates who, with the backing of Attorney General Mitchell, his superior, and President Hoover, who sponsored the program, the new legislation paves the way for significant improvements in the handling of Uncle Sam's army of prisoners, now numbering more than 25,000 and growing at a rate of nearly 50 per cent annually.

The president has signed three of the five major bills on the program, those authorizing construction of a hospital for criminal insane and the creation of a new prisons bureau and a new parole board. Tomorrow, Mr. Bates said, he probably will sign the other two, one providing for two new federal penitentiaries and another to liberalize convict employment.

Appropriations Required.

Each of the bills will require appropriations, requests for which will be submitted to congress at this session with a view to obtaining them in the second deficiency bill. This would expedite the program, in particular the construction projects which call for expenditures of around $8,000,000.

"Big as they are—and they are the biggest in the nation's history—our expansion plans still are conservative and hardly do more than care for our immediate needs," Bates declared.

Prohibition as a contributing factor to prison problems has been carefully avoided by Mr. Bates, who takes the position that federal criminal law making is not his official business. The department of justice records show, however, that one third of the federal convicts in federal institutions and more than two thirds of those farmed out to local jails are dry law prisoners.

New Prison for East.

As direct relief for the overcrowding situation, according to Mr. Bates, the bill authorizing two new penitentiaries is the most important. It provides for an adult prison in the northeastern states, probably New York, and a reformatory west of the Mississippi, costing in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 each.

"We will waste no time in selecting sites and letting contracts for these buildings for we need them badly," Mr. Bates declared. "Atlanta now has 3,800 men, Leavenworth 3,900, and our three other institutions are also filled to capacity. No prison should have more than 1,200 men."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: High and Dry

Air Offerings Prove Light but Interesting

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

One feels quite lost these early summer Sundays. Even the best programs are minor events compared to those of the winter season.

The regular standby from New York through W-G-N at 8:15 is now a half hour concert of summertime lightness, yesterday's being a Victor Herbert program. In this the Revelers' male quartet [formerly the famous Shannon quartet], with Elliot Shaw, baritone, were featured jointly with a studio orchestra. Mr. Shaw sang the once popular catch title song "I Want What I Want When I Want It."

Eusebio Concialdi, baritone, one of the largest voices in radio, together with the station's symphony orchestra, presented a Verdi program from W-G-N, 8:45 to 9:15. Considering time limitations, this was one of the more serious and enjoyable concerts of the day.

As sticklers for heavy programs we have to hand it to the Theater orchestra from New York through KYW, 1 to 2 o'clock. Tschaikowsky's somber Fifth symphony was given.

Those who can pass up the ball game broadcast for a half hour may regularly tune in Toscha Seidel, violinist, through WJJD, 4 to 4:30. He is an excellent player.

The South Side Women's chorus, Carl Craven directing, from WLS, 3 to 3:30, was one of the day's nice things from that station.

The Pro-African male quartet gave a miscellaneous musical program during the Sunday Evening club preliminary service, Orchestra hall, WMAQ, 7:30. And I think the applause of the radio audience would have been much louder than that of the local audience.

FIVE NEW RELIEF BILLS WILL GO TO ASSEMBLY TODAY

Five new bills prepared by the citizens' committee of which Silas H. Strawn is chairman will be ready for presentation to the legislature in Springfield this afternoon. This was announced yesterday. The legislature will reconvene in special session at 4 o'clock and, after the Strawn bills are presented, it is expected that both houses will adjourn till tomorrow, when the house may get down to the business of disposing of Gov. Emmerson's resolution for amendment of the revenue article of the constitution.

A slim attendance is expected in the senate which has already adopted the resolution. Chicago, Cook county, and sanitary district officials were said yesterday to be worried about this situation, fearing delay on passage of the bills that are intended to relieve the financial distress of Cook county's taxing bodies.

C. C. IRELAND FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Clifford C. Ireland, former congressman and a state executive under Gov. Len Small, will be held at the Mohammed Shrine temple in his home city of Peoria at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The body of Mr. Ireland, who died suddenly in the Chicago Athletic association Saturday, was taken to Peoria Saturday night.

Peoria Commandery No. 3 of the Knights Templar will participate in the Shrine services and will provide a guard of honor. The Rev. William E. Shaw, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Peoria, will officiate. The body will lie in state in the temple from 1 o'clock tomorrow until the services, after which it will be taken to Washburn, Ill., about twenty-five miles away, for interment.

MATHER BUSTS TO BE PLACED IN NATIONAL PARKS

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Plans to place a bronze memorial in each of the twenty-three national parks and thirty-three national monuments in honor of the late Stephen T. Mather of Chicago were announced today by John Hays Hammond, chairman of the Stephen T. Mather appreciation committee. Mr. Mather, for many years prior to his death last winter, was head of the national park service.

After Mr. Mather's retirement his friends formed the committee and oversubscribed an appreciation fund, a part of which will be used for the memorial plates. Mr. Hammond said they would be designed by an outstanding sculptor and would carry in relief the bust of Mr. Mather and a tribute to his work. Granite bases will be provided.

LORD DAVIDSON TO BE BURIED IN OWN CATHEDRAL

LONDON, May 25.—(AP)—Lord Randall Thomas Davidson, former archbishop of Canterbury, who died peacefully in his sleep early today, will be buried with impressive ceremonies in Canterbury cathedral on Friday. The services will be conducted by Lord Davidson's successor in the see of Canterbury, Archbishop Cosmo Gordon Lang, primate of England. King George will be represented.

Lord Davidson, who was primate of England from 1903 to 1928, had been ill for some time in his Chelsea home and began to sink yesterday. His vitality steadily ebbed until he died at 1:05 o'clock this morning.

Lord and Lady Davidson had no children. Thus there is no heir to the barony and the first temporal peerage bestowed upon an English churchman thus becomes extinct.

Moving Body of Lincoln's Grandson to Arlington

Springfield, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—The body of Abraham Lincoln II. was shipped from here tonight to the Arlington National cemetery near Washington, D. C., to be interred beside the body of Robert Todd Lincoln, his father, son of the civil war President. Abraham Lincoln II. died in 1890 and was buried in the national Lincoln monument here. When Robert T. Lincoln died last year and it was proposed to bury him at Arlington Mrs. Lincoln assented on condition that the body of the son be moved to the side of the father. A permit was issued for the exhumation two days ago.

Isaac Groner, Known for Charity Activities, Dead

Isaac Groner, 2230 Cortez street, well known on the northwest side for his activity in Jewish charities, died suddenly Saturday night at the University hospital. He was 63 years old and is survived by his widow, Anna, six sons, two daughters, two brothers, a sister, and 20 grandchildren. Interment will be today at the Ezras Israel cemetery, Waldheim.

ANIMAL SOCIETY HIRES PLANE TO STOP BULL FIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 25.—A pitched battle between 20 municipal officials who are bull fight enthusiasts and members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is expected at Melun, near Fontainebleau, next Thursday and the government already is preparing to concentrate a mounted civil guard to maintain order. Many Americans are going to see the battle royal even if there is no bull fight.

The society has recruited 300 militant members to break up the bull fight and has chartered a private airplane which will drop smoke bombs in the arena, making an impenetrable screen so that the thousands of rabid bull fight fans cannot see the fun anyway.

Bull fights in France are prohibited by law, but are frequently held when the promoters are fined a nominal sum afterwards. The Melun bull fight was organized by the mayor, who justifies it because the proceeds are to go to a school fund. Following the outcry against the sport it is announced that the horses will not be gored and the bulls will not be killed by matadors, but will only be tickled with short six inch swords.

GERMAN FASCISTS WAYLAY REDS; 1 KILLED, 13 HURT

PIRMASENS, Germany, May 25.—(AP)—One person was killed and thirteen injured tonight in a Fascist attack on a party of communists returning from a meeting. The communists, riding on trucks, were waylaid by a large band of Fascists. In the fight that followed revolvers and knives were freely used.

Berlin Factions Riot.

BERLIN, May 25. —(AP)—Two bystanders were wounded and a third was stabbed in free for all fights between communists and Fascists today. Four communists were arrested. In the west end of Berlin another fight later developed between communists and Fascists, and several policemen were hurt. Eight more communists were arrested.

LOWELL OBSERVATORY SCIENTISTS CHRISTEN NEW PLANET 'PLUTO'

Flagstaff, Ariz., May 25.—(AP)—"Pluto" has been selected by scientists of Lowell observatory here as the name for the recently discovered trans-Neptunian body which they believe is the long sought planet X. The name is symbolic of the comparatively dark and distant regions through which the celestial body rides on its orbit about the sun.

The announcement was made by Roger Lowell Putnam, trustee of the observatory and nephew of the late Dr. Percival Lowell, founder of the observatory, who predicted the existence of planet X 16 years ago after extensive mathematical research. On Jan. 21 last scientists here saw a tiny speck of light which they announced last March was the planet X.

EX-ARCHDUKE, ERRAND BOY FOR MOVIES, IS DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, May 25.—Rainer-Karl Hapsburg, once Austrian archduke and eldest son of Archduke Leopold Salvator and Princess Blanche of Castille, died here this evening from blood poisoning. He was 35 years old.

He renounced his title in 1919 to settle in a simple flat here. But it takes money to maintain even a frugal household and Karl could not find much money. He finally got a job as messenger boy, peddling films from one Vienna movie house to another on his trusty cycle. In Vienna several chain movie houses depend on one film each, the reel of which is hurried about from one house to another.

Sometimes the archduke got stalled, which led to a standard joke in the movie houses when the film was late. "Why does not the performance start?" one Democrat asked a movie manager. "We are waiting for the Archduke Rainer," replied the manager. "Must we wait for an archduke in this democratic age?" would snarl the Democrat.

Rainer's brother Leopold recently gained prominence in the United States in connection with the sale of a necklace from the Archduchess Maria Theresa.

COUPLE ROBBED OF GEMS, CASH; GIVEN BACK $3

Miss Kay Feldman, 30 years old, 5115 Kenmore avenue, and Alexander Diamond of Hammond were munching barbecue sandwiches with another couple in an automobile at Sheridan road and Argyle street last night when two scrupulous robbers drove alongside. They took a diamond ring valued at $1,200 and a $300 brooch from Miss Feldman and $43 from Diamond. The other couple, in the rear seat of the car, escaped unnoticed.

"Two double sawbucks and three fish," said the first robber, enumerating the cash haul.

"I guess they can't trust each other, counting it in public that way," Diamond remarked to Miss Feldman.

"Shut up!" retorted the bandit with the money. "I was just going to give you back the fish. Now I'll give it to the little lady."

Saying which, he handed the three dollar bills to Miss Feldman and drove away with his pal.

Manager of Theater and Girl Cashier Robbed of $171

Harry Trapper, 3938 West 18th street, manager of the Criterion theater at 1222 Sedgwick street, and his cashier, Miss Irene Roth, 608 Belden avenue, were leaving the theater shortly after midnight this morning when they were stopped by three young men, one of whom carried a gun. The robbers compelled Trapper to hand over a sack containing $171, the day's receipts of the movie show, and escaped.

FATHER CLAIMS CHILDREN LEFT WITH HIS DEBTOR

Two children abandoned in a rooming house at $12 Crescent place Wednesday night will go back to their home today, but their father must seek a new method to collect a debt of $250. The father, Thomas Cowan, 4051 Sheridan road, appeared at the Town Hall police station last night and told Sergt. Charles Mueller that he would go to the St. Vincent's orphanage this morning and claim the children.

William Charlesworth, the boarder at the Crescent place address, who abandoned the children, Dolores, 3 years old, and Bobby, 5 years old, owed the father $250. Cowan needed the money for the support of his five children, he said. Charlesworth, a taxi driver, said he could not pay. Then the two agreed, Cowan said, that Charlesworth and his wife Peggy would board the two children for a credit of $7 a week until the debt was paid. Last March the children were taken by the Charlesworths.

Wednesday night the Charlesworths left the rooming house taking their own daughter, Doris, 2 years old with them, but leaving Cowan's children with Mrs. Helen Apeck, the manager of the house. Cowan is the father of 3 other children.

Is "The Best" . . . Any Too Good For Your Child?

Of course it isn't! We have a better, a special milk for drinking that your children ought to get.

The quality of "Selected" Milk couldn't be more zealously guarded if it were produced for royalty. 105 picked farms near Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, produce "Selected" and are paid a liberal premium for meeting our requirements.

All this extra care results in milk with a "Sweet Natural Taste" that children love. Children who have to be coaxed to drink ordinary milk, drink "Selected" with self-evident satisfaction, and ask for more.

Get a bottle of "Selected" . . . make a comparison of the taste . . . and you instantly appreciate its betterness. To give it to your children and the other milk drinkers of your family costs only three cents more a quart. Where can a few pennies be used more wisely?

Follow one of these three suggestions and make a trial of "Selected": SPEAK to your Borden's milkman . . . PHONE Franklin 3110 . . . or MAIL the coupon.

JUDGE PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH OFF 175 FOOT LEDGE

Oakland, Cal., Jurist Had Been Missing Week.

Oakland, Cal., May 25.—(AP)—The crushed body of Superior Judge Edward W. Engs was found today in a stone quarry at Clifton street near Broadway, Oakland, within a few blocks of his home. The jurist, who had been missing since a week ago Friday, had fallen 175 feet from the crest of the quarry, which adjoins a cemetery.

Posse and Dogs Search.

The quarry, owned by the Oakland Paving company, had been searched for days by police and possemen accompanied by dogs. That the body of Judge Engs, who disappeared after a nervous breakdown occasioned by the strain of a court trial, was not found earlier was explained by the fact he fell by a clump of willow trees, the foliage of which almost exactly matched the judge's gray-green clothing.

The body was found shortly after 7 a. m. by Paul Bonham and Jack Mayer, workmen who have spent days within a few feet of the willows dragging the lake in the bottom of the quarry.

No Evidence of Foul Play.

Coroner Grant D. Miller and Dr. N. N. Ashley, county autopsy surgeon, examined the body. They reported that while the immediate cause of death was an internal hemorrhage of the lungs, Judge Engs' body literally was crushed. Both arms and legs were broken, the right thigh was fractured, the chest was crushed and all the ribs on the right side had punctured vital organs.

No evidence of foul play was discovered. Examination of a ledge at the quarry's crest disclosed a fragment of slippery bark, crushed as though by a foot. It was probable, County Coroner Miller said, Judge Engs slipped on the bark and fell to his death.

POLICE TAKE LIQUOR FROM HIJACKER AND LEADER IS ARRESTED

Falmouth, Mass., May 25.—[Special.]—Hi-jackers who stole $13,000 worth of imported liquors from a Falmouth woods cache Thursday night, were outwitted by state police troopers today. The liquor was seized in another hiding place and Joe Costa, ostensibly a farmer, was arrested as leader of the hi-jacking band.

Tomorrow the Barnstable court will be asked to determine whether Costa may be charged with the larceny of the liquor, the main point being whether it is a crime to take something from another if the other had no right to possess it.

The 167 cases of liquor, much of it champagne, was found in a barn owned by Manuel Nunes, a neighbor of Costa. The recovery followed a report from Costa that his truck had been stolen and a report on the same night from the original owners of the liquor that it was gone.

The officers who found Costa's abandoned truck near his farm visited his house after the seizure, roused him, and took him to the Barnstable jail where, despite his denials, he was charged with driving his own truck when the liquor was stolen, with illegal transportation of liquor, keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

Death Shatters Romance by Mail of American Girl

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 25.—Death has shattered the romance of Eloise McBride, a university graduate, who lives in Alston, Ga. Three years ago Laurence Victor Morris, a Sydney engineer, wrote to an American magazine inviting correspondence from his American cousins. Eloise replied. Photographs were exchanged and Morris proposed marriage and was accepted. He recently obtained an engineering post in America and was preparing to sail when he was suddenly taken ill Thursday and was buried yesterday on his 31st birthday.

HINDENBURG PENS NEW OATH FOR GERMAN ARMY

Demands It Be Read to Soldiers Once a Year.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 24.—A new credo for Germany's small but model army has been penned by President Paul von Hindenburg, who wants it read to the German reichswehr at least once a year and who wants every man to take an oath of fidelity as his code of honor.

President von Hindenburg, who was field marshal under the former kaiser, was said to have been dissatisfied with the haphazard oaths and instructions given Germany's new army.

After a careful study he summarized the principles which he believes in as follows:

"The reichswehr is an arm of legal authority. It protects the German reich, its frontiers and its very existence against the enemy without or within. The German reich is a republic. A soldier swears fidelity to its constitution. Inviolable fidelity to the oath sworn to the fatherland is the soldier's supreme duty.

"The reichswehr serves the state and not parties. Political activities are forbidden to the soldier. Fidelity compels the soldier to carry out his duty in war and in peace with all his powers, even to sacrifice his life to avert every danger to the fatherland.

"Whoever seeks by force to change the constitution of the reich or its states is guilty of high treason. Whoever betrays his fatherland or its secrets is guilty of treason to the country."

1,500 Arrive in Chicago as Summer Rates Go in Effect

Approximately 1,500 persons from the northwest arrived in Chicago yesterday on the first excursion rates of the summer season. The low fares were effective May 23 on the Burlington railroad. The Empire Builder carried eight extra sleeping cars and the North Coast Limited six. Passenger Traffic Manager A. Cotsworth Jr. said that the movement augurs well for business conditions in the northwest.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The curtain goes up on the Chicago racing season at the Washington Park course this afternoon. If the track is fast along about 4 o'clock, when the $5,000 added Inaugural handicap is run, the little red streak Misstep is likely to be the hero of the opening ceremonies.

G. MATT WINN.

"Misstep is on edge and if we have a fast running strip I don't believe there is a horse in America that can take his measure at six furlongs," Mose Lowenstein of Chicago, who trains the fleet son of Upset, declared yesterday.

Meets Fast Field.

And in Cayuga, Brown Wisdom, My Dusty, Pansy Walker, Martie Flynn, High Post and others which are to go in the first day's feature, Misstep will be meeting the fleetest horses in the west. There are but few in the race that could give him more vigorous opposition. Misstep will be making his first appearance of the year under colors but that did not seem to worry his backers last night.

On the eve of the opening of the thirty day Washington Park season the followers from every section of the country were moving into Chicago. Others will come later and the horses representing nearly all of the powerful racing establishments in the west were either here or were en route.

Racketeers are also patronizing the Chicago track. Divisions of Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable, of Harry Payne Whitney's stable, the W. J. Salmon stable and color bearers of Audley Farm stable of Capt. P. M. Walker, H. Guy Bedwell, E. K. Bryan and other easterners will see action during the early days of the meeting.

See Big Race in Derby.

The Washington Park meeting is sponsored by the American Turf association, of which Col. Matt J. Winn is president. He is endeavoring to make the American Derby on June 14 as big a race as the Kentucky Derby. But he admitted last night the American Derby may soon outpace the Kentucky Derby. This will be particularly true if Gallant Fox, Whichone and Gallant Knight all accept the issue in the American Derby.

Washington Park, as it stands near completion today, was opened last season. Numerous improvements have been made since that time, the plant has been beautified by the landscape architects and there is room for a crowd of 75,000 to be handled comfortably. Officials of the Washington

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 25.—Ted Lyons this afternoon accomplished his eighth victory of this young season to strengthen his position as the major leagues' winningest pitcher. The job was executed at the expense of the Cleveland Indians by the impressive tune of 9 to 1. Aside from being Ted's eighth win out of nine starts, it also is notable that the young man now boasts six in a row.

Ted was in a most unreasonable mood, for he allowed the hard hitting Clevelanders only four hits, one in the first, one in the fourth, one in the sixth and the last one in the ninth.

Gets 2 Hits, 2 Runs.

As per his usual custom, the Louisiana boy kept loosened up between pitching sessions by taking a big part in the offensive. He made two runs, two hits and two sacrifice hits in the batting phase of the engagement.

This was one time, however, when Lyons' batting wasn't essential to the triumph, for in addition to his two hits his mates pounded out 14.

Before we go any farther with the batting attack, however, we'd like to get a little more statistical about Lyons. A tabulating shark announced after the game that the Sox star had made 71 pitches. Inasmuch as 31 batsmen faced him, it is obvious that he pitched 2.29 balls to each man. Ted walked the first man up in the game on five pitches. Otherwise, his control was superb.

The cast of hitting gentlemen was led by Cissell and Reynolds, Bill with a double and two singles and Carl with singles his first three trips to the plate.

Jolley, Harris Help, Too.

Smead Jolley and Lyons were runners up in the hitting business with two each, and Harris, now the first string left fielder, got into things with a double which drove in two runs and enabled him to later score his second run of the contest.

The two teams will engage in a double header tomorrow. Red Faber and Pat Caraway are scheduled to perform for the Comiskeys and Ferrell and Brown are the probable starters for Cleveland.

The Sox started out like they were going to make a hatful of runs in the first inning, but instead they didn't make any. Hunnefield opened with a single to left and stopped at second when Reynolds singled to right. Shires attempted to bunt, but popped to L. Sewell. After Harris had taken two strikes, Hunnefield and Reynolds staged a double steal. There was an argument when Umpire Moriarity ruled Miller's pitch during the steal was a third strike on Harris. Jolley also fanned.

Indians Score in First.

In their end of the first the Indians seemed in a fair way to accomplish more than the one tally they did ring up. Morgan walked, then J. Sewell tapped one out to short right and it was scored as a double when the ball bounced past Jolley. Morgan stopped at third on the effort. Averill was thrown out by Cissell, Morgan scoring and J. Sewell taking third. Fonseca popped to Kamm and Kamm threw out Hodapp.

The Sox's second started out as a duplicate of their first inning, but terminated a bit more satisfactorily, thanks to a mental lapse by the left-handed Mr. Miller. Cissell pushed off with a single to center and stopped at second on Kamm's single to left. The runners moved up on Riddle's sacrifice bunt. Lyons grounded to Miller, who had Cissell trapped between third and home, but for some amazing reason, possibly, he thought there were two out, turned and threw to first, Cissell scoring and Kamm taking third. Goldman threw out Hunnefield.

Our lads also got the third inning under way with a hit, but it didn't mean a thing. Reynolds singled to center, but was doubled trying to reach second while Shires was striking out. Goldman threw out Harris.

Averill launched the Indians' fourth

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The St. Louis Cardinals seem to be serious about retaining their tenancy of first place. For a spell yesterday the Cubs had them in the mood to pack up and go elsewhere, but in the seventh they filed a protest in the shape of four runs. From this they manufactured a 6 to 3 score, which sent the champions sprawling in a battle that, along with the usual baseball incidents, amused 25,000 spectators with a little dusting off episode between Guy Bush and Frankie Frisch.

Had the performance closed in the way it started the Cubs would have had ample reason to boast of their day's labors. Their getaway was so impressive that, with a homer by Riggs Stephenson and a few other items, they piled up a 3 to 0 advantage against their new nemesis, Bad Bill Hallahan, in three innings. But that merely led to Bad Bill's removal and two men who succeeded him displayed such marked skill that the McCarthy hitters were guilty of only three safe blows in the six closing innings.

Root Weakens in Fifth.

While Hallahan was going through the process of being prepared for banishment, Charley Root was getting a flying start on what promised to develop into one of his classics. He mowed down the Redbirds with such accuracy that in four innings only three of them hit safely. When the Cardinals broke into the party with a run in the fifth, it was regarded as a mere incident. That, however, just about completed the good part of Root's labors.

Going into the seventh, he encountered a shower of base hits. The session was further complicated by the only pass he awarded. Then, to make the round a complete disaster, Hornsby, again showing the handicap of his bum heel, dropped a throw at second base. Eventually, all these happenings were brewed into four runs, and it was necessary to employ Bud Teachout to finish the inning. Then Bush came in to allow a run in the ninth and also to play his part in a near fight with Frisch.

Bush Keeps After Target.

When Frisch stepped up to face Bush in the ninth the run already had been driven home, but the swarthy Mississippian still was concerned about the fashion in which Hack Wilson had been laid in the dust by H. Bell in the seventh. On

Conference Champions in 6 Events Wind Up Competition

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Five Western conference track and field champions, who won honors Saturday at Dyche stadium, will not return next year to defend their titles. George Simpson, winner in both dashes, is twice champion. Thus six titles will be on the market.

Orval Martin, Rut Walter, Holly Campbell, and Verne McDermont are the others who have finished their Big Ten competition.

Unless they fall victims in the classrooms, nine winners will return. Two are sophomores and will be eligible for the Big Ten games in 1932.

Simpson Supreme in Dashes.

Simpson will be graduated this year from Ohio State. During his competition he has become world famous. His record of 9 4-10 seconds for the hundred yards is recognized as the world's best by the National Collegiate Athletic association. Saturday he won the conference 220 yard dash for the third time. His victory in the hundred was his second, Eddie Tolan of Michigan having defeated him last year when he established the world mark of 9 5-10 seconds recently recognized by the international federation.

Martin, Purdue's track captain and a native of the Hoosier state from Rockville, won his eighth Big Ten championship Saturday when he captured the mile race. His victories have been in the half, mile and two mile.

Rut Walter, another Hoosier, finished his competition at Northwestern this year. Saturday he won the quarter mile for the third time.

Best Mark in 30 Years.

McDermont, Illinois track captain, completed his competition this year, although he is a junior. McDermont not only is the Big Ten pole vault champion but he's the best in 30 years. His home is in Riverside, Cal.

Campbell, Michigan's champion in the hammer throw, is a senior. His home is Laurium, Mich. Although Campbell had no difficulty winning his event Saturday with a throw of 159 feet 9 inches he failed by less than two feet in breaking the conference record of 161 feet 7⅞ inches. Campbell had bettered this mark in competition.

The other champions who will defend their honors next year are:

BROOKER BROOKS, Michigan, discus.
DALE LETTS, Chicago, half mile.
SAMMY BEHR, Wisconsin, shot put.
LEE SENTMAN, Illinois, high and low hurdles.
EDWARD GORDON, Iowa, broad jump.
HENRY BROCKSMITH, Indiana, two mile.
L. D. WELDON, Iowa, javelin.
RAY FELBINGER, Ohio State, high jump.

Brocksmith and Felbinger are sophomores.

Hoosiers Best at Distance.

Indiana university never has won a Big Ten outdoor meet, but Saturday four Hoosiers made history when they scored 11 out of a possible 15 points in the two mile run. Brocksmith was the winner, with Edwin Clapham, Rodney Leas, and Robert Kemp finishing third, fourth, and fifth respectively. All four runners are native Hoosiers. They are also members of Indiana's champion cross-country team.

When Behr and McDermont broke records Saturday each surpassed his best previous mark in competition. Behr has been rated a consistent 48 foot shot putter, although at the Minnesota relays this spring he won with 48 feet 9¾ inches. More frequently he has been under his 1929 conference mark of 48 feet 3 inches.

In his first trial Saturday Sammy put the 16 pound ball 49 feet 1 inch, and then, to prove he was that good, made it a half inch farther on his next effort.

Makes His Best Vault.

McDermont's case is similar. He tied with Tom Warne last year at 13 feet 7 inches for a meet record. Never before or since has he vaulted that high in competition. Saturday, on his third and last trial, he cleared 13 feet 10⅝ inches.

Warne, who has vaulted ⅝ of an inch higher, will have an opportunity to compete against McDermont in the national collegiates at Stagg field June 7. The rivalry between Tolan and Simpson, Rockaway and Sentman, probably will be resumed at the same time.

MICHIGAN BLOCKS BADGERS' PATH TO BIG TEN TITLE

Wisconsin's chance of winning undisputed title to the Big Ten baseball championship has been damaged by the Badgers' perennial jinx—Michigan.

After sailing along to eight straight victories, Wisconsin received its initial defeat of the season from the Wolverines Saturday, 10 to 4, leaving Illinois with a chance to tie for the title. The Illini finished their schedule Saturday with a 12 to 7 triumph over Ohio State, and gained a final record of eight victories and two defeats. The Badgers will play their last game next Saturday against the Michigan jinx at Ann Arbor. Another defeat would leave the pair tied for the championship. The standings:

BILL TILDEN IS FAVORED TO WIN FRENCH SINGLES

AUTEUIL, France, May 25.—(AP)—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia has been installed as favorite to win the men's singles title in the French hard court tennis championships now in progress here.

As rain continued to pour today for the fifth consecutive day, making all tennis play impossible in the unfinished doubles competition, fans and experts gathered in the clubhouse to exchange ideas as to the chances of the various stars to carry off the title.

Tilden's magnificent tennis in Saturday's doubles against Borotra and Rene De Buselet gives him the edge, the experts think, over Cochet or any other of his singles rivals.

Lipton's New Shamrock V. Laid Up; Damaged Rudder

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., May 25.—(AP)—The Shamrock V., new racing boat of Sir Thomas Lipton, damaged her rudder in coming here from South Bank Friday, it was learned today. The vessel was docked yesterday and the repair work was rushed through the day so that the boat may be ready for the important series of test races to start in the Solent Wednesday. In these tests the Shamrock will receive no time allowances.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—[Special.]—Peter DePaolo, 1925 and 1927 American racing champion, today qualified his car for the 500 mile automobile race to be run here next Friday. His average for the ten mile run was 99.956 miles per hour. Tony Gulatta, Kansas City, also qualified for the event today.

JONES' QUEST FOR BRITISH AMATEUR BEGINS TODAY

Bobby Draws Bye in 1st Round.

Bobby Sr. Wins

ATLANTA, Ga., May 25.—(AP)—Bobby is not the only member of the Jones family who can win golf tournaments. While Robert T. Jones Jr. was firing a 71 over the St. Andrews course in Scotland yesterday in preparation for the British amateur championship, his father won the one day handicap meet at Eastlake Country club. Big Bob shot a 78 and a 10 handicap gave him a net score of 68.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. ANDREWS, England, May 25.—The British amateur golf championship over the course here tomorrow will be open to all comers, but while the meet has drawn a field of 272 entries, Bobby Jones, who has been pointing for this tournament for months, remains the favorite by a wide margin.

BOBBY JONES.

Jones has attempted to win the British amateur crown twice before. The first time was in 1921, when, on this same course, he was eliminated in the fourth round. Tearing up his card in disgust after breaking two clubs, he asserted he would never play again.

Lost in Sixth Round.

The American golfing chieftain tried it again in 1926, but that time he was turned back in the sixth round. Four times the holder of the American amateur title, twice the winner of the United States open event, and twice the winner of the British open, Jones makes the supreme effort again this year to gain the one title which he has never had and the one which he has set his heart on.

He probably will find his stiffest competition among the 25 other Americans entered with him. All the members of the Walker cup team, which defeated the best of British amateurs, are opposing their captain. These are George Von Elm, second ranking United States amateur; George Voight, who stands third in this year's list; Francis Ouimet, former holder of both the American titles; Jimmy Johnston of Minnesota, holder of the American amateur title; Don Moe, Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, and Roland MacKenzie, young Wilmington challenger.

All are potential opponents of Jones in the finals. Bobby will meet Cyril Tolley, present holder of the cup, in the fourth round if both win, and Johnston and Voight will occupy the same brackets with him with the English champion. The possibility of an all-American final is promised by the presence of five of the American Walker cup players in the lower bracket. They are Von Elm, Moe, Willing, Ouimet, and MacKenzie.

Play Two Rounds Today.

All but 32 players have drawn byes for the first round and these will play two rounds tomorrow. The third round will be completed on Tuesday and Wednesday before noon. The fourth round will be finished on Wednesday. The fifth and sixth rounds will be played on Thursday, and the seventh and semi-final on Friday, all at 18 holes match play, and the final at 36 holes on Saturday.

Seven British Walker cup players have entered, as well as numbers of others who have little to do with the possible outcome of the tournament. Other Americans playing do not have an outside chance on their past performances.

Limit on Girl Events Splits Olympic Body

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 25.—The first plenary session of the Olympic congress assembled in the former house of peers this afternoon to iron out thorny problems. The United States members of the international committee are William M. Garland and Gen. Sherrill and the members of the United States national committee are Murray Hulbert and Frederick W. Rubien, with Gustavus Kirby as a substitute.

One of the points over which the congress might split is the definition of amateurism. The British Olympic committee tabled a proposal to permit compensation for the loss of salary. The Belgian committee feels that cases in which a leave is granted and the salary paid should not be regarded as unethical. It was reported that if quasi-amateurish contestants are admited the British will withdraw from the Olympic games and concentrate on empire games.

Suggests Time Limits.

Count Baillet-Latour of Belgium proposed that the duration of the games be a fortnight, not including the opening day, which probably will be adopted.

The count's suggestion that women be admitted only to gymnastics, swimming, lawn tennis and skating competition evoked the strongest opposition.

Mr. Hulbert fought for the right of women to participate in light athletics. He left no doubt in the minds of the members of the congress that a shortening of the program for women competitors would be considered an insult to America. The Swedish delegate, Estrom, supported him.

Fail to Agree on 1936.

It is anticipated that the congress will adopt a proposal that the maximum number of entries in individual events be three for each nation.

No agreement was reached on the selection of a site for the 1936 games. This will be taken up at the next meeting in Barcelona, Spain, in April, 1931. Barcelona and Berlin are making strongest bids for the 1936 games, with Berlin favored because it would have conducted the 1916 games but for the war.

45,000 SEE JAPAN WIN FAR EASTERN MEET AT TOKIO

TOKIO, May 25.—(AP)—Before a crowd of 45,000, believed one of the largest to attend a track meet anywhere in the world, Japanese athletes swept to victory today in the far eastern track and field championships. The final score was Japan 131½; Philippines, 32½; China, 1; India, 0.

Attendance at today's far eastern Olympic events at the Meiji Shrine stadium, one of the finest athletic plants in the world, totaled approximately 100,000. Of these 40,000 attended the baseball games, another 45,000 witnessed the track and field events and other thousands saw the tennis, volley ball and basketball events.

Girl Breaks 80 Meter Hurdle Mark for Women

PIETERMARITZBURG, Natal, May 25.—(AP)—Marjorie Clarea bettered the listed world's record for women in the 80 meter hurdles today when she was timed in 12 1-5 seconds. The listed world's record is 12 4-5 seconds.

RECRUIT HALTS YANK SLUGGERS; MACKS WIN, 10-3

Lazzeri, Cooke Hit Homers Off Mahaffey.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics finally halted the Yankee sluggers today after four straight defeats and won the final game of their series, 10 to 3.

Leroy Mahaffey, recruit right hander, turned the trick where his more famous mates had failed, holding New York to seven hits and shutting out Babe Ruth entirely. Tony Lazzeri and Dusty Cooke made the only Yankee homers, both in the fourth inning.

The Athletics mixed timely hitting with Yankee errors to score. They hit eleven times and the Yanks committed four errors. George Pipgras, who started for New York, was wild, and Roy Sherid not much better. Ed Wells finally finished the game. Score:

Error in Tenth Helps Robins Defeat Giants

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 25.—(AP)—An error by Hughey Critz permitted the Robins to win a 4 to 3 decision over the New York Giants here today after Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, held the men of McGraw to four hits in ten innings.

Clarence Mitchell, who had replaced Genewich on the mound for New York, set the stage for the winning rally when he permitted Frederick and Gilbert to lead off with singles. Herman sacrificed, and Flowers rapped sharply to Critz, who, with a play at the plate in prospect, fumbled.

An error by Flowers in the eighth, coupled with three of the Giant hits, permitted the Giants to score three runs and carry the game into overtime. Score:

REDS, PIRATES DIVIDE.

Cincinnati, O., May 25.—(AP)—After losing ten straight games, the Reds came out of their slump here today by winning the second contest of a double header from the Pirates, 4 to 3. Pittsburgh won the first encounter, which went ten innings, 6 to 5.

Spencer, who went to the mound for the Pirates after the Reds had knotted the count in the first game by scoring twice in the ninth off Kremer, tripled and scored the winning tally on Grantham's sacrifice. Larry Benton, former Giant hurler, pitching his first game for the Reds, turned in a fair exhibition in the first game, but was taken out in the ninth for a pinch hitter.

Red Lucas, who pitched the nightcap, scored the winning run in the ninth on Meusel's single. Scores:

Cardinals Rout Root in 7th, Hand Cubs 6 to 3 Setback

the theory that one good turn deserves another, Bush mistook Frisch's head for the rubber plate. Bush let fly a duster and Frisch dodged. He duplicated the effort and this induced the Cards' second sacker to speak to both Bush and Umpire Rigler about it.

Bush evidently believed he could hit his selected target if he kept trying. He threw another that salied over the button of Frisch's cap. He threw one more the same way, and as Frisch started to walk to first, he took a circuitous route that brought him close to the mound. He spoke harshly and Bush walked over to investigate. Frisch then shoved him, but before the little affair could become interesting Umpire Moran shoved the Cub flinger to one side and Frisch was taken in charge by his less excitable mates. The show then proceeded.

Stephenson Celebrates Return.

Had the Cubs triumphed, it would have been necessary to devote more than a few words to Stephenson, not alone for his homer but for about a half dozen other things. To mark his first appearance in several weeks, he drew a pass that forced in a run in the first inning. His homer was uncorked in the third. In the sixth he lost a hit because of a one-handed running catch by Orsatti, and he completed his attacking efforts with a single in the eighth.

The ol' hoss of Alabama also was a standout on defense. When Orsatti opened the seventh with a short fly close to the line, Stevie decided to make amends for the hit he had lost. He dived, skidded along on his elbows, turned over, and still held the ball. The riot against Root followed immediately. Then in the eighth, Stevis backed up for a long drive by Hafey, fell down, jumped up, bumped against the wall, and made the catch.

The Reds will be on hand today, Blake and Frey probably will pitch.

Passes Help Cubs Score.

Hallahan's customary generosity permitted the Cubs to get away with a one run lead in the first inning. English opened with a single between Frisch and Bottomley. The Cardinal southpaw immediately proceeded to move from one extreme to the other. He stopped Grimm on a pop-up, but walked Hornsby. He tightened up long enough to fan Hack. He filled the bases by passing Cuyler. He also walked Stephenson and this forced English to score. After doing this damage to himself, Hallahan struck out Bell.

A run in the second inning was inaugurated when Zack Taylor led off by singling to left. Hallahan couldn't get the ball over the pan for Root, who was rewarded with a pass. English bounced to Frisch, forcing Root and nudging Taylor to third. Grimm whacked a single to right and Taylor scored. With only one out and Hornsby up, there was reason to expect additional developments, but the Rajah fanned and English was doubled trying to steal third.

The next important happening was Stephenson's homer into the left field bleacher in the third.

Until Root was scored on in the fifth he had been able to enjoy himself except for an occasional hit. Jimmy Wilson uncorked one of these after a fumble by English in the second. It put men on first and third with two out, but Gelbert's liner to Hack stopped this. In the third Hallahan opened with a single, but was forced by Douthit and Adams grounded into a double play.

The Cards had another chance to go into the scoring business in the fourth when, with one out, Bottomley dropped a Texas league single in front of Wilson. Root promptly fanned Hafey and Orsatti flied to center. This completed for Root a record of permitting only four hostiles to reach base on him in four innings.

Bunt Starts Cards' Scoring.

The occurrence that became a Cardinal run in the fifth was a bunt by Jim Wilson. He aimed it toward third and legged it to first ahead of Root's throw. The Cubs weren't looking for any such maneuver. He stole second and went to third while English was throwing out Gelbert. Fisher was employed at this point as pinch hitter for Hallahan. He drove a fly to Stephenson, and J. Wilson hiked home after the catch.

Frisch gave Root something to ponder over in the sixth by lacing out a double against the left field bricks with one out. A pop-up by Bottomley and three strikes for Hafey cleared up this situation. Then things suddenly took a turn for the worse and Root's two run lead, and more besides, vanished like a silver dollar from the hand of a magician.

The sorrowful seventh began with Stephenson staging his diving catch of Orsatti's fly. J. Wilson hit one to the same spot and this fell safe for a double. With Gelbert at bat, Umpire Rigler began to act as if he had accepted employment with the enemy. He missed what appeared to be two perfect strikes, and Root walked almost to the outfield before being able to suppress his rage. The questionable judgment of the arbiter contributed to a pass for Gelbert.

Pinch Hitter Connects.

Watkins was dug from the obscurity of the bench and asked to bat for Haid. He singled to right, scoring J. Wilson and shoving Gelbert to third. Douthit bounced to Bell, who threw to Hornsby for what should have been a force out. The throw was perfect, but Hornsby dropped it, and while he was recovering the ball, second base was left unguarded. This permitted Douthit to run down to second. Meanwhile Watkins had anchored himself on third.

Adams then stepped into action with a drive straight back at Root, but it slipped between Charley's shoes and continued into center for a single, scoring Watkins and Douthit and ruining the ball game. Teachout stepped in and ended the inning on a double play.

Gelbert's single, a sacrifice, and a hit by Douthit scored the run off Bush in the ninth.

MILLER, YOUNG WIN AT ROBY; 5 DRIVERS INJURED

Four accidents supplied the thrills for 6,500 spectators who witnessed the stock car races yesterday at the Roby speedway. Five men were injured.

Joe Roemer of Indiana Harbor, who was taken to the St. Catherine hospital unconscious, was the only one injured seriously. He was leading the first 75 miles, when his car turned over.

In the second race, another 75 mile grind, Fred Barney, the favorite, was leading at the 27th mile when his car crashed through the fence on the back stretch.

Ralph Miller of Hammond took the lead after Roemer's spill and went on to victory. Miller was clocked in 1:12:30 for the 75 miles. John Adams of Chicago finished second, with Forest Hart of Pontiac, Mich., third.

Carl Young of Chicago won the second race, nosing out L. M. Altman of Sterling, Ill. H. M. Lewis of Chicago was third. Young's time was 1:13:25 1-5.

Wales Loses Golf Match When Crow Carries Off Ball

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 25.—The prince of Wales lost a golf game today to Col. E. R. Middleston at Touques when a black crow swooped down and carried off his ball, costing him the stroke by which he lost.

The prince flew from England yesterday hoping to escape the rain, but the downpour continued at Touques. Undaunted and clad in checkered plus fours and a snappy beige sweater with a pancake cap such as the Apaches wear, the prince appeared on the links and a girl caddy was assigned to carry his nine clubs.

Wales confided in the club's professional that he had picked up a lot of new wrinkles about the game from Bobby Jones in England last week and that he expects to beat Douglas Fairbanks in their next encounter in June.

with the second Cleveland hit off Lyons, a single to center. He was forced by Fonseca, Shires to Hunnefield. Hodapp then hit into a double play, Kamm to Cissell to Shires.

It was in the fifth that the Sox disposed of Mr. Miller. Riddle beat out a slow roller to J. Sewell. Lyons laid down a sacrifice bunt which L. Sewell juggled. Hunnefield also executed a sacrifice bunt and the bases were full and none out without the ball getting out of the infield when Miller made a bad throw to first.

Reynolds then came up with his third successive hit, a single to left, which scored Riddle and Lyons. Hunnefield stopping at second. Hunnefield went to third and Reynolds to second on Shires' sacrifice bunt. Harris walked, filling the bases. Jolley forced Hunnefield at the plate and the bases still were loaded. Cissell singled to right, scoring Reynolds and Harris, Jolley stopping at second. Gliatto relieved Miller and walked Kamm, again filling the bases. Riddle, up for the second time in the inning, fouled to L. Sewell.

In the sixth inning the Sox waited till two were out before making any hay. Lyons opened with a single, but was obliged to remain on first while Jeffries and Reynolds were retired. Shires then singled to right, Lyons stopping at second. Harris doubled to center, scoring Lyons and Shires. Jolley singled to right, scoring Harris, and went to third on Cissell's double. J. Sewell threw out Kamm.

A double play made it necessary for the Sox to confine their seventh inning to one run. Riddle walked, went to second on Lyons' sacrifice bunt, and scored on Jeffries' single to center. Reynolds then hit into a double play.

Boys' Ball Teams to Draw Memorial Day Schedule

The organized amateur baseball teams represented in the Chicago, Juvenile, Liberty, Boys', and Junior leagues will meet tonight at 303 West Madison street to schedule games for Memorial day and next Sunday.

what a DIFFERENCE Extra Hand-Tailoring makes!

Nunn-Bush Ankle-Fashioned GOLF & SPORT OXFORDS

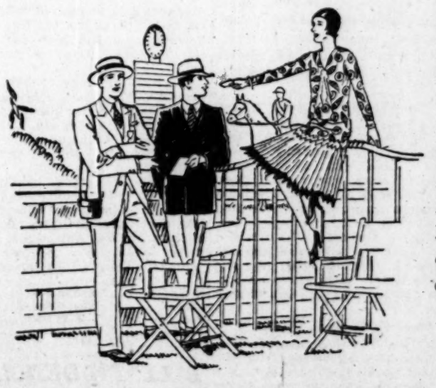
The Ankle-Fashioned feature, exclusive to Nunn-Bush oxfords, is the result of a special hand-tailoring method of shaping the uppers. This special feature not only adds smart ankle lines but enhances the comfort and fitting qualities generally. We have an unusually large assortment of styles in all tan, all black, brown and cork calf, brown and white and black and white combinations . . . with leather, Gro Cord, crepe or spike soles. Our stock of widths and sizes is complete. We know how to fit shoes and when we fit you with Nunn-Bush Ankle-Fashioned Oxfords you are assured of lasting satisfaction . . . because they are unusual examples of fine craftsmanship.



Notice how many more men are wearing sport oxfords this year than last.

An Open Letter to Mr. WRIGLEY

Dear Bill:

THE CUBS aren't going so good. They hit the ball plenty, but they're being squeezed out of too many games right at the tail end.

Maybe it's because McCarthy is keeping them in there too long after they start to blow.

Or is it because the Rajah and Stevie are sitting there on the bench?

Anyhow, the old machine doesn't seem the same. What's become of "Murderers' Row"?

There's something wrong, Bill, and you've got to trace it down.

Maybe you're jinxed! Maybe there's something missing in the combination that you had before. Wonder what it could be!

What was that the hawkers used to yell?

"Peanuts—Popcorn—Chewing Gum and—"

That's it, Bill. There's where you've been falling down—sure as shootin!

The fans are missing the very thing that gives them enthusiasm, pep and a happy mood to yell their heads off and back up the boys.

How could you expect to turn out a championship ball team when 40,000 fans in the Cub's park can't even buy a package of Cracker Jack?

Who ever heard of a ball game without Cracker Jack?

It isn't reasonable; it isn't right. No wonder the fans get sore, and boo! Why not fill 'em full of Cracker Jack? That will give the crowd the old winning spirit!

Let's get together, Bill, and pack away another pennant.

You've got everything,—almost! Just think, the highest priced ball team in the world!

You've got Cracker Jack hitters; you've got a whole flock of Cracker Jack pitchers; you've got a Cracker Jack of a ball park.

You've got all Chicago rooting for you—and Chicago is a Cracker Jack town.

Then, what do you lack? Why—Cracker Jack! That's the whole answer.

Listen, Bill—those poor Little Wrigley Kids look lonesome up there without their old pal, the Cracker Jack Sailor Boy.

Why don't you put him back where he belongs and bring another pennant to Chicago?

Say—with Cracker Jack on the job, it might even be a World's Pennant this time.

Just a friendly tip from an old friend who has always wished you well.

So long, Bill, and good luck!

Cracker Jack

A. B. SWIFT VICTOR IN MIDLOTHIAN TOURNEY WITH 74

Wins Draw After Tying with Garard.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Alden B. Swift of Old Elm and James Garard of Midlothian each scored 74 yesterday to lead home a field of more than 200 golfers who have been shooting their way along the fairways of the Midlothian Country club since Saturday noon. Swift won the draw for first gross prize.

Nine finished with a net score of par or better, but instead of all reverting to par, the draw for prizes was confined to J. E. McMahon of Midlothian, who shot 76—8—68, and L. B. Richards of La Salle, whose score was 91—23—68. The former won. In determining winners only yesterday's scores were considered.

Gets Four Birdies.

Garard's play was somewhat less consistent than Swift's, but more spectacular. He reached the turn in 39, four strokes above par. Then he hit his stride and marched through the final nine behind a barrage of four birdies and three pars to get home in 35, one stroke less than par. At one point in this last charge he made three consecutive birdies.

To get his 74, Swift negotiated eleven holes in par and made two birdie fours.

The prize for low gross foursome went to Paul Day, Floosmoor, 76; John Bartlett, Olympia Fields, 77; A. J. Paterson, Midlothian, 82; and M. D. Stewart Jr., Midlothian, 79. Their total was 314.

Owen Leads Foursome.

Low net foursome was won by Jack Owen, Chicago Heights, 81—11—70; W. D. Monroe, Midlothian, 95—16—79; M. E. Latimer, Midlothian, 86—11—75; and J. C. Reber, Midlothian, 78—5—73. Their total was 297.

The leading scores:

Feb, Favorite, Wins 50,000 Franc Race at Longchamps

LONGCHAMPS, France, May 25.—(AP)—S. Guthman's Feb, the heavy favorite, won the 50,000 francs Prix Rainbow on the wettest track of the year today. Moqueur was second, four lengths back, and Mirbat third, another two lengths to the rear. Feb, by Claissimus, out of Foliosa, paid 10 to 5 to win, while Moqueur rewarded his backers at 14 to 5 for the place. The race was over a 5,000 meter course. Château Bouscaut, the Grand Prix favorite, which was badly beaten by Xandover last Sunday, won the Prix Noailles by a short head.

30 Day Race Meeting Opens at Homewood

Park Jockey club are shooting at that mark for the Derby and General Manager C. W. Hay declared the advance ticket sale for today's opening indicated a gathering of upwards of 15,000.

In the overnight speculation on the outcome of the opening handicap there was strong backing for Misstep, for the Richert brothers' entry of Brown Wisdom, My Dandy and Tippy Toe, for the Nash brothers' High Foot which failed in the Kentucky Derby, and for the fast Kentuckian, Cayuga, owned by Theodore Mueller, a member of the Kentucky state racing commission.

Favor Bobashela in Sprint.

Another race on the opening program shared attention with the sprint handicap. This was the Western avenue purse for a prize of $2,000 at one mile. Bobashela, from the Audley Farm stable, was the overnight favorite, as it was expected he would be scratched out of the Washington Park handicap to go in this contest. Other contenders were Chicago, famous a couple of seasons ago; Devon, a Kentucky handicap performer; Jack Haskell, the Aurora champion; Ald. Coughlin's Outer Harbor; Wizardy, an Illinois owned 3 year old which performed with success at Agua Caliente during the winter, and Canaan, a stablemate of Misstep.

Post time for the first race is 2:15 o'clock. Charles F. Price, noted Kentucky official, will be in general charge of the racing. His associates in the stewards' stand will be Martin Hathanson and Robert M. Sweitzer of Chicago.

Washington Park Strip Is Fast for Today's Opening

That the Washington Park track is faster than at any time since it was constructed is indicated by the workouts several of the candidates for today's Washington handicap turned in. High Foot, the Nash brothers' 3 year old, stepped around the course in the best time yesterday. He was timed for a half mile in :48. My Dandy reeled off five-eighths in 1:03, and Cayuga was caught for the same distance in 1:03 2-5. Bobashela was breezed five-eighths in 1:01.

Charley Irwin, the Wyoming cowboy, was the leading money winner owner of the Aurora season. His horses accounted for 13 races. W. M. Mikel, the Illinois turfman, won 11 races during the 21 day meeting. Willie Moran was the leading rider.

Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American turf association; Stuyvesant Peabody, vice president, and C. W. Hay, general manager, made a final inspection tour of the Washington Park plant yesterday and found everything in readiness for the opening of the season.

Jockey Earl Sande has notified General Manager C. W. Hay that he expects to spend most of American Derby week here and will do considerable riding during his stay. He will come to Washington Park after riding Gallant Fox in the Belmont stakes on June 7.

Betty Derr, the half sister to Clyde Van Dusen, and winner of the Debutante stakes at Louisville on May 16, is scheduled to be unloaded at Washington Park early this week to fill her engagement in the Washington Park Debutante stakes on Friday.

The Bahr starting gates have been installed at Washington Park and Starter Harry Morrisey schooled many horses out of them yesterday.

The wire fence barrier placed in front of the motor entrance at Washington Park, following a dispute over the ownership of a small strip of land, has been torn down by deputy sheriffs on an order issued by Judge William L. Lindsay of Superior court.

About 20 horses which will carry the silks of the Seagram stable of Canada will arrive this morning from Woodbine Park at Toronto.

There were many jockey arrivals at Washington Park yesterday. Among them were Paul Neal, Elmo Shropshire, F. Chiavetta, P. McGinnis, P. Garrity, and C. Turk. Others to come early in the week are Willie Garner, Eddie Ambrose, C. Landolt, Tommy May, Kenneth Russell, K. Hoffman, and Earl Pool. The last named has been out of the saddle since last fall, suffering from injuries, but expects to get back into action before the Chicago season is very old.

Pari-mutuel betting handled during the 21 day Aurora season was off about 12 per cent from last year's record, General Manager Clifford R. Trimble reported yesterday. He announced the attendance was up 7 per cent over the 1929 season.

Izaak Walton President to Address Conservationists

Dr. George Edgar Vincent, recently elected national president of the Izaak Walton League of America, former head of the University of Minnesota and retired president of the Rockefeller Foundation, will speak before a meeting of conservationists, Walton league members and outdoor lovers this evening at the Palmer house.

Smart Men Look It!

Good Appearance Is Good Business!

We're all human. We all judge by appearances. First impressions are lasting.

The man who makes a good appearance has a better chance of making good. Smart men know this and take advantage of the fact. They pay special attention to the so-called "little things," but things which loom big in the eyes of those who know—the condition of fingernails, skin, complexion and hair.

These are the things that make for face value, the thing by which men are largely accepted today.

To help man increase his face value, a special line of men's toilet needs has been created. Here it is—BRISK, The Mint Julep Shave and his four brothers — ZEST, SMOOTH, TRIM and STIP.

Have You Ever Had a Mint Julep Shave?

BRISK gives you a shave that brings to mind all the coolness and exhilaration of that famous Kentucky potion. Because, first of all, BRISK makes plenty of lather—and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave!

STIP, the Modern Stoptic! Absolutely new—contains no caustic. Closes razor cuts, stops bleeding almost instantly. Handy, sanitary container keeps it clean, makes it easy to use. Stops a lot of cuts for 25 cents.

BRISK produces two to three times the lather, because it absorbs two to three times the amount of water. That means not only a profuse lather, but one that stays moist on your face until you finish shaving!

Lubricates the Cutting Stroke

You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull," skip or chop, but glides sweetly over the skin mowing down the hair cleanly at each stroke.

And as a finishing touch, BRISK acts as a balm. Leaves the skin soft and supple as a fine kid glove. Enables you to put your "best" face forward.

BRISK, at 50c, is a good "buy" from the quantity as well as quality standpoint. You get an amazing lot of shaves from a box because you have to use so little.

ZesT the Florian bracing after-shaving lotion, 75c.
Smooth the Florian powder that lifts, shine without showing, 50c.
Trim the Florian hair dressing in cleanly stick form, 50c.
Stip the Florian modern stoptic, 25c.

Purchase Any Florian Item Separately, or Get the Whole Five Packed in Handy, Handsome Kit for $2.25, any Drug Store or Toilet Goods Counter.

BRISK the Mint Julep Shave

"SURELY YOU HAVE A SISTER," implored ISOLENE

"And if I have, me haughty heiress?" scoffed Diamond Sam Spivvick, for she was in his power.

"She'd tell you, even as I do, that those terrible sounds have no business coming from a human being. You'd have me yield, yet you make your demands as though you were hawking bananas through the public streets. Gentle your growls with OLD GOLDS my friend, tame those whoops, calm that coarse croak. Soothe those frayed vocal cords with honey-smooth, heart-leaf tobacco, clear that thickened speech to mellow ease and you'll be surprised! OLD GOLDS make the throat grow fonder . . . to say nothing of the ears. There's not a bark in a billion."

...BANK'S SURVEY ...EES TRENDS OF ...MPLOYMENT

...abor Is Becoming More Efficient.

BY O. A. MATHER.

...nding industrial production by ... of better machines and meth... relatively fewer workers but ...e better paid; new industries or ...ess to absorb displaced workers. ...has been the trend of American ...stry in the last few years and ...ably will continue, according to a ...ort of employment conditions ...ed by the Continental Illinois Bank ...d Trust company.

"What about unemployment?" the ...ry says. "Only after the 1930 ...sus is finished will adequate em...ment figures be available—for the ...t time in American history. How...r, the bureau of labor statistics' in...x of factory employment shows that ...ring the last seven years the nor...l trend of factory employment was ...ervaded annual decrease of 1.5 per ...t. But industrial production was ...ntaining at the average yearly rate ...3 per cent.

"Clearly, there was a marked in...se in the efficiency of labor. Just ...ewise clearly, there was a displacement ...workers by better machines and ...more effective methods of production. ...Many of those workers have doubtless ...found employment in new occupa...ns, particularly in the service in...tries.

Upward Pay Roll Trend.

"In contrast to the downward ...nd of factory employment, there ...s been an upward trend of pay rolls ...in manufacturing industries. The ...average increase was three-tenths of ...1 per cent a year.

"During the 1920-'21 depression, ...when commodity prices were reduced ...in a thoroughgoing fashion, there was ...much talk about the necessity of 'de...flating' labor. But in spite of the ...large amount of unemployment then, ...wages did not come down as the de...flationists desired. And during the ...succeeding period, 1923-'29, it was ...usual for factory pay rolls to in...crease slightly, even while commodity ...prices were working lower and the ...cost of living was being reduced.

Building Peaks.

"Just ordinarily is the peak month ...for building but, clearly, a building ...boom has not yet arrived when the ...first month of the year has failed to ...show the customary seasonal gain. ...A boom may come later but too ...high expectations should not be ...based on new building to speed the ...recovery of business. Even the con...struction figures show that a pulmotor is ...necessary and the current assumption ...that money is the pulmotor."

"Although some branches of indus...try and trade have shown slight in...creases in activity in the last few ...months, definite signs of business re...covery are still absent, states the ...Harris Trust company of New ...York in the current issue of the ...company's Survey.

"Almost without exception, the ...major lines of production and distri...bution remain at levels far below ...those that prevailed a year ago, ...the Survey" continues.

"On the whole, it appears that the ...general situation and outlook are ...substantially what they were a ...month ago. Business concerns are ...following extremely conservative pol...icies and are holding themselves ...ready to respond to the first signs ...of improvement. But it cannot yet ...be said that such signs have ap...peared."

To Reorganize, Rename Fokker as Holding Co.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 25.—Organization of a company designed to occupy the same place in the aviation field as General Motors corporation holds in the automobile industry is seen in the plans of the Fokker Aircraft corporation, announced today, to change its name to General Aviation corporation and become a holding company rather than the manufacturing and distributing company it now is. General Aviation corporation plans to take over the Fokker company as a subsidiary and also to acquire the Dornier company of America. Both these companies are controlled by General Motors corporation.

Announcement of the change in policy of the Fokker company, in which General Motors, by virtue of its purchase of 40 per cent of the stock, has been the largest stockholder since May, 1929, was made by Harris M. Hanshue, president of the Fokker corporation. He said the directors of the Fokker company have approved the change in name and policy, and also have recommended to stockholders an increase in the number of authorized shares of the Fokker company from the present 1,000,000 of no par value to 5,000,000 shares of no par value.

Mr. Hanshue also announced the intention of the new company to acquire the Fokker company and the Dornier company. The Dornier company of America was formed last October by General Motors and the Fokker company.

Details Not Given.

While details of the ownership of the new company's stock were not announced, it is expected that after organization and issuance of its stock, General Motors corporation will have more than a majority of the outstanding stock.

General Aviation corporation does not plan any exchange of stock for the present Fokker stock, so General Motors will have a forty per cent interest in the new company before it acquires Dornier. The General Motors holding in Fokker is far larger than any other single holding, the remaining 600,000 outstanding shares of the company being scattered in small lots in the hands of small investors throughout the country.

While the exact interest of General Motors in the Dornier company has never been announced, it is assumed that it had an even share with the Fokker company. The additional stock which General Motors would receive in acquisition of the Dornier company by General Aviation corporation, undoubtedly would give it a majority control.

The announcement by Mr. Hanshue said that additional properties are now being negotiated for by General Aviation corporation, and that it was for the purpose of carrying through these negotiations that the increase in the authorized stock of Fokker was recommended to the stockholders by the directors.

Negotiate for More.

Mr. Hanshue did not discuss what companies are being negotiated for, aside from the Fokker and Dornier, but the announcement that such negotiations were going on revived a report that Western Air Express would be one of the companies included in the new corporation. The fact that Mr. Hanshue is president of the Western Air Express as well as of Fokker is the only tangible basis for such a report. At the time General Motors purchased its interest in the Fokker company a year ago, it was declared neither company held an interest in the other, and it was intimated that General Motors had no intention of acquiring any in the transportation company.

"The carrying out of the plan does not involve any exchange of the existing shares for new securities. It is stated that the 4,000,000 additional shares of common stock without par value, which it is proposed that the 'General Aviation corporation' shall be authorized to issue if the amendments are approved by the stockholders, will be issued for the acquisition of additional property for which negotiations are now being carried on."

OFFER ISSUE OF BROOKLYN UNION GAS DEBENTURES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 25.—Offering of a new issue of $18,000,000 Brooklyn Union Gas company 5 per cent debentures, due June 1, 1950, will be made tomorrow at a price of 102½, to yield 4.80 per cent. The issue will be marketed by the National City company and the Guaranty Company of New York. The proceeds of this financing will be used to retire in part the floating indebtedness of the company incurred for capital expenditures.

The issue will be callable as a whole or in part on thirty days' notice at 105 to Jan. 1, 1935, thereafter to Jan. 1, 1940, at 103½, thereafter to Jan. 1, 1945, at 102, and thereafter to maturity at 101. The net earnings of the company for 1929 amounted to $8,315,895, or more than 3½ times the annual interest charges on the funded debt, including this issue.

Thirty thousand shares of common stock of the United States Playing Card company will be offered by Otis & Co. and John Nickerson & Co. The shares, which are being offered at $82.50 each, have been purchased from individuals and do not represent any new financing.

American Agricultural Chemical to Call Bonds

New York, May 25.—(AP)—The American Agricultural Chemical company is arranging to call an additional block of its refunding mortgage 7½ per cent bonds due in 1941 for redemption Aug. 1 at 103½.

ASSAILS REFUND OF 33 MILLION IN U. S. STEEL TAXES

Washington, D. C., May 25.—(AP)—A charge that the treasury department was "guilty of gross negligence in its failure" to let the courts decide the merits of the recent $33,000,000 refund on 1918 taxes to the United States Steel corporation was made today by Representative Garner of Texas, the house Democratic leader.

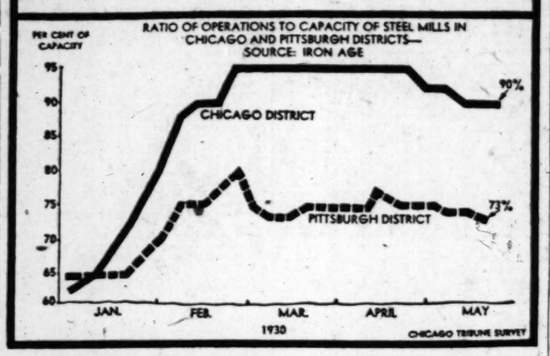
Asserting the government last at least $9,000,000 and possibly $26,000,000 as a result, the Texan said the American taxpayers were entitled to demand that tax refund matters be adjudicated by the courts.

Attacking in a statement the method by which the treasury department decided tax refunds, Garner said the rule by which the refunds were made to the United States Steel corporation was erroneous in principle and that a halt should be called. He noted that his resolution to authorize an investigation of the treasury department tax refund actions had not been considered by the house rules committee to which it has been referred.

It was evident, Garner said, from a recent decision by the United States court of claims in the Packard Motor Car company case against the government, that a loss of $9,000,000 occurred in the steel corporation refund on 1918 taxes, as, he added, the same issues were involved.

"Application of the same principles to the $26,000,000 refund to the United States Steel corporation on 1917 taxes would have saved the government $17,000,000," the Texan continued. "In my opinion, the treasury department has been guilty of gross negligence."

CHICAGO STEEL MILLS CONTINUE TO LEAD PITTSBURGH IN OPERATIONS



LIST OF HOLDINGS IS SHOWN STOCKHOLDERS BY UNITED FOUNDERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 25. — The United Founders corporation has revealed for the first time its holdings over $100,000 and those of its subsidiaries in public utilities, railroads, insurance companies, and banks. The publicity, contained in a letter to stockholders, was regarded as a step toward placing the stock on the New York Stock exchange.

The fact that the list is not complete is pointed out in the leetter, which states that bond and preferred stockholdings approximating $70,000,000, in addition to common stockholdings under $100,000, are not revealed. The published list includes 134 stocks in the five groups named.

Among the large holdings outside of those in the public utility field in which the company was known to be a large holder is the insurance field. The company owns, for example, 14,770 shares of Ætna Insurance, 30,000 shares of Insuranshares and General Management, 222,000 shares of Insuranshares of Delaware, 7,752 shares of Maryland Casualty, and 565 shares of the same company new when issued, besides substantial holdings in American Alliance Continental, Fidelity Phœnix Life Insurance of Virginia, Missouri State Life, National Life, and Accident and Travelers.

Holdings in a number of investment companies outside of those generally known as members of the Founders group were also revealed. These include 196,067 shares of American Continental corporation with warrants, 318,333 North and South American class A, 136,625 shares of United National participating preference; 139,776 shares of United States and Overseas with warrants, and 75,000 shares of this company's A stock. Holdings are also revealed in Continental Shares, General Capital, Tricontinental, Chemical National Associates, Selected Industries, and International and General corporation.

Manhattan Co. Formally Opens New Skyscraper

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 25.—Representatives of the federal, state, and city governments will participate tomorrow in the formal opening of the new offices of the Manhattan company and four of its constituent units in the seventy-one story Manhattan company building just completed at 40 Wall street, on the site which the company has occupied since 1799.

Cites Broad Activities of Federal Trade Group

BY SCRUTATOR.

The widespread activities of the federal trade commission would furnish in any given year material for a whole series of ponderous works on economics. Some of these activities are of the utmost importance to the whole population of the country; others would seem to be of limited application to the mass of 120 million.

In the first classification would come the investigation of newsprint paper supplies, with the object of determining whether manufacturers and distributors use practices tending to place small publishers in monopoly control; the power and gas utility inquiries; the study of the situation in regard to resale price maintenance, and the chain store investigation, the aim of which is to determine how far, if at all, the chains violate anti-trust laws, and to suggest legislation for curbing them where necessary.

Promise to Be Good.

Of more direct news appeal, perhaps, are the stipulations to which business men who have not always been ethical attach their signatures, promising to be good in future. One such stipulation, just signed, is a measure of effective protection to that credulous body of citizens who believe they can learne to play the musical saw. As the commission gracefully phrases it:

"No longer will a dealer in musical instruments advertise so as to imply that persons may readily master the art of playing the musical saw like a professional, or in a way which may deceive the purchasing public into a belief that the art of playing the musical saw may be acquired by persons having no special musical talent or ability, when such is not the fact."

The dogs of the country and their masters are protected, just as are the artless saw players. The commission has obtained from one corporation a stipulation that it will not misrepresent the water content of its animal biscuits nor yet claim that its competitors sell $32 worth of water in a ton of their biscuits. An extensive study is being made to determine whether there are illegal combinations to hold up the price of peanuts.

Detect Dishonesty.

Dishonesty of a more or less serious nature is constantly being detected by the commission, especially in advertising. Numerous firms have been asked to, and have, signed agreements not to assert that they have knitting or other manufacturing mills when as a matter of fact they are only distributors. Others have agreed to cease claiming their products are government inspected, when such is not the case. One publication of the matrimonial type was compelled to cease misrepresenting its widows and eligible girls, either as to beauty or to the amount of money they had in the bank.

Nothing is too large and few things are too small to attract the attention of the commission. It places its official approval on the codes of ethics that are adopted by trade associations to discourage commercial bribery, misrepresentation, secret rebates and other illegal acts. It changes from friend to judge when an individual or firm violates its promises, and to court opponent if its order to cease and desist is ignored. It is probably the most active force we have, except the law of supply and demand, for the control of business.

OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS ACQUIRES MILK BOTTLE CO.

Owens-Illinois Glass company of Toledo has entered the field of milk bottle manufacture through the acquisition of the glass manufacturing properties of Berney-Bond Glass company of Clarion, Pa., according to W. E. Levis, president of Owens-Illinois Glass.

There will be no change in the management policies of the Berney-Bond Glass company, which will be operated as the milk bottle division of Owens-Illinois Glass company. The present sales organization of the Berney-Bond Glass company will be retained and will continue to contact milk bottle users.

United Am. Utilities to Acquire Freight Lines

United American Utilities will acquire five additional freight lines operating in California, according to A. E. Fitkin, president. These acquisitions will materially increase the company's freight business service, which will be extended to other important cities.

Anglo-Chilean Nitrate Orders Elec. Equipment

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Anglo-Chilean Consolidated Nitrate corporation has ordered extensive electrical equipment for the new nitrate plant of Lautaro Nitrate company. The largest contracts go to Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing and International General Electric.

PACE OF TRADE REACTION MAY BE SLACKENING

Immediate Future Is Puzzle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 25.—If the industrial picture presented during the past week has been disappointing because of its lack of any visible change for the better, it has also given reason to believe that the pace of trade reaction, taken as a whole, is slackening.

The stock exchange has taken the position of absolute inability to foresee the immediate future. It is no longer "discounting" either the influence of easy money on business activities or the prospect that a "boom" will be resumed merely as the natural order of events. Possibly there has been some more or less unconscious reminiscence of 1920, notwithstanding that year's radically different underlying position at this season; for the speculators who bought stocks in May ten years ago, like the merchants who laid in extra quantities of goods for the pent-up demand of autumn, had a well remembered reckoning.

Business Predictions.

It is noticeable that industrial experts whose hand is habitually on the pulse of trade are just now making no prediction except for the longer future. Assurances that "everything will be right again" in sixty or ninety days are confined to Washington, and they make visibly less impression in view of the fact that similar and earlier assurances from the same source have already proved repeatedly to be erroneous.

Practical industrialists do not conceal their absolute belief in eventual resumption of the forward movement on the old time scale of activity; but they are not making definite promises for results a few weeks or months ahead.

Nevertheless, even the industrial statistics of the week give ground for at least some feeling of relief. They are not uniform in their implication, but several industries whose rate of production has fallen back during the last few weeks, the rate of decrease

WHEAT OUTLOOK LESS FAVORABLE FOR SOUTHWEST

For Northwest Reports Are Satisfactory.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Crop reports from the west and southwest are less favorable on winter wheat, while in the American and Canadian northwest they are regarded as satisfactory for spring wheat. In Europe latest returns indicate a more spotted condition.

Private crop experts who are going over the southwest are sending returns showing a wider range of conditions than heretofore, particularly from western Kansas and parts of Oklahoma. One conservative return on Saturday suggested 205,000,000 bu for Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, as compared with 218,000,000 bu last year. Estimates on Kansas are unusually wide, ranging from 110,000,000 bu to 170,000,000 bu, with a majority around 125,000,000 to 135,000,000 bu. Last year Kansas raised 137,000,000 bu, a good crop, while its average is 135,000,000 bu.

The Hessian fly has been discovered in Nebraska and Kansas in larger numbers than usual. Nebraska conditions have heretofore been considered the best of any of the southwestern states.

Crop experts have devoted all their time to the southwest, where the big surplus of hard winter wheat is raised, and have not worked into the soft winter wheat states east of the Missouri river. It would be no surprise to see returns from Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois suggesting injury by fly within a week or ten days.

Crop May Be Reduced.

Should all the unfavorable returns be confirmed estimates of a 550,000,000 bu winter wheat crop may have to be materially reduced. Spring wheat prospects in the American and Canadian northwest are practically lost sight of for the time being as the speculative world is centering its attention on less favorable reports from this country and Europe, and also on the bullish situation existing amongst importing countries as supplies are down to a minimum and must be replenished between now and harvest. Extent of replenishment of wheat is expected by the bulls to result in a sharp advance in North American prices as they are considered the only countries having an available surplus that can be drawn upon within a short time.

With no reserves in Europe, and possibility of lighter crops in this country than last year, combined with the fact that the balance of power is held by the Grain Stabilization and the Farmers' National Coöperative associations, both government subsidiaries, there is increased disposition on the part of traders to be more conservative in selling wheat short and a greater disposition to buy futures on all sharp declines, as prices are regarded as at a reasonable level.

Gloomy Bears.

There is a bear element in the trade that can see nothing constructive in the world's wheat situation, but they are not getting anywhere.

A striking feature in the domestic wheat situation was seen in the bringing of 360,000 bu red winter wheat from Buffalo to Chicago by the Grain Stabilization corporation, the bulk of grain being sold to millers. There is also said to have been red wheat shipped from Buffalo to Toledo for milling purposes. At the same time, around 1,000,000 bu of hard winters were loaded out of late from Chicago, presumably for export. To see wheat coming in and going out of Chicago at the same time by lake, is something that traders seldom witness.

This week will see a windup of May trading. Prices are down close to the season's low level, which is an inducement to traders who believe that wheat is worth the money to take hold, but there is no speculative leader. Wheat prices have covered practically the same range in the last few weeks, and the close was 1¼@1½c lower than the previous week. May finished Saturday at $1.04¾. July $1.05⅝, September $1.08¼@1.08¾, and December $1.12⅜@1.12⅞. Liverpool closed ⅝@1¼c lower for the week, December leading. Prices follow:

Liquidation in May Corn.

Holders of May corn liquidated freely during the week forcing prices down to the lowest of the season at the close, although last sales were ¼c above the low level at 77¾c, showed a net loss of 3¼c. On the other months losses were around 2½c. A feature in the corn market is the absence of leaders on either side, particularly on the constructive. The market runs into selling on every bulge above 80c, and into buying on sharp dips below 79¾c. Country holders take advantage of all bulges to sell cash corn to arrive, and a fair increase in the movement is expected this week.

WHITE STUDIO, N.Y.

Jeanne Eagels

Genius and drunkard

Artist and hellion

Poet and devil

She battled to the stars!

THE brief career of Jeanne Eagels was crowded with thrills. Starting with nothing—not even health—this fragile girl battled her way to stardom . . . She had genius. Women envied her. Men were fascinated. A few she loved devotedly. But no man could dominate her.

From Times Square to Hollywood, Liberty sent Edward Doherty to pick up the many threads of Jeanne Eagels' story and weave them into one colorful pattern . . . It is a story crowded with gay parties, feverish rehearsals, brilliant first nights, stormy love scenes. Through its pages moves a procession of celebrities . . . The Prince of Wales, Belasco, George Arliss, Ethel Barrymore, Jack Gilbert, Ted Coy, Clifton Webb, Ina Claire and countless others from Broadway, Wall Street, Park Avenue, and Hollywood Boulevard.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre de Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit, because she had received just before sailing a letter from Jeanne Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a friend of Mme. Bender, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey puts her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants except Jeanne. Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine that she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says that Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is a fool and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid Mme. Bender.

Geoffrey takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his kiss.

INSTALLMENT XLIX.

A PROPOSAL.

As they clung together hungrily she could feel the quiver of his taut muscles. Then all at once she grew conscious, frightened, and struggling from his embrace, pushed him resolutely away.

"Don't—you mustn't!" she whispered faintly. "I—I don't want you to do that."

"Is that true?" he demanded, holding her hands fast. "I don't believe it. You did want it just now."

She did not answer. They were still so close to each other that she could hear his heart pounding and feel the pulsing warmth of his skin.

"Why can't you?" he went on insistently. "Catherine—I mean this, with my whole soul. Since that day in the train I have thought of nothing but you. I believe I loved you then. I know I've never felt like this before. Will you marry me—soon?"

The urgency of his low tone took away her breath. She retreated a step, her eyes wide and dark. From the night outside the violin played on.

"Germaine!" whispered the girl in amazement, taking a step forward.

He loved her—he was asking her to marry him! This was no casual affair. Her mouth felt dry.

"O, Geoffrey," she managed to gasp, "I'm rather afraid. You see, I've not been engaged for a year to some one I didn't love, and I swore never to make such a terrible mistake again. I almost think I daren't be engaged at all, but that if I do marry it will be quite suddenly, before I can change my mind. Can you understand how I feel?" She appealed to him, laughing uncertainly.

"I'm satisfied with that," he muttered, "as long as it's me you're marrying."

With an effort she drew her hands away.

"I shall have to think it over. Marriage is so—so irrevocable, isn't it? I haven't known you very long, you know." Then seeing the disappointment in his eyes, she strove to soften it. "All the same, I did love—that." Her head rose with the intake of her breath. "Only, because I was carried away for a moment, I've got to be all the more cautious. O, please don't misunderstand me! I care, but I can't be sure it's the real thing. And I mustn't let you kiss me again till I know."

His face fell as he came slowly to his senses.

"Very well, then," he said briefly. "But it will be hard going—now."

"Perhaps it will be hard for me, too," she answered with shining eyes. "But I must stick to it, for I know I'm right."

He was gone. In the silence she heard his car start; then with trembling eyes and an odd feeling of intoxication, she moved towards the staircase.

Yes, she was right. Until she could probe into her heart and determine the exact depth of her feelings she must not let herself repeat the embrace which for a moment had robbed her of reason. Yet, O, how overpoweringly she longed to do so! As the thought swept over her she clung to the newel post, absorbed in a delicious tide of emotion. Then out of the enveloping silence her ear detected a faint, distant sound which rose and fell spasmodically. She raised her head and listened.

It came from the court side of the apartment, a stifled, piteous sobbing. Incredulous to hear. Could it be Germaine, and if so, was she alone? At this hour, too, past midnight?

Outside Germaine's door she stood, wondering what she ought to do. The sobbing continued softly, as though the hidden weeper were afraid of being overheard. It had a piteous sound which went to the girl's heart and at the same time vaguely alarmed her. Where was Jeanne? Then she noticed that the dressing room door was ajar. Cautiously she pushed it open and stole a glance inside.

The room was empty. The cover of the couch-bed smoothly drawn up. So much she could make out in the dimness, and drew her conclusions accordingly. Jeanne had gone out—perhaps to meet Blom. For once the invalid was left unguarded.

Then she stared about, mystified. The room was lit by the two candles on the wall at the head of the bed, their wavering rays casting black shadows on that half; otherwise the place was in gloom. The tumbled bed was unoccupied. There appeared to be no one there. The air was close and stuffy.

Then all at once a movement behind the big bergere caught her eye, and a pallid face, tear-streaked and drawn, rose a few inches above the arm and stared her with starting eyes. It was Germaine, crouched on the floor before the crucifix, trembling, with wild, disordered hair about her thin shoulders.

"Germaine!" whispered the girl in amazement, taking a step forward. "What is the matter, dear? Why are you out of bed?"

It was a long second before she saw recognition come into the frightened eyes and the lips move stiffly, whispering her name.

"It's you—it's you—it's you," murmured the invalid over and over, struggling to her feet and clutching the bed curtain with a shaking hand. "I—I—I thought——"

"But of course it's me," said Catherine soothingly. "I heard you crying and came to see what was wrong. I have just come in."

She watched anxiously for any sign of recoil, but could detect none. Still she helped her with a feeling of relief, she put her arm about the older woman's shoulders protectingly.

"But you will catch cold, dear. You must let me get you into bed again." As she reached for the white peignoir lying on the chair and wrapped it round the unresisting frame.

"No, no, I am not cold. It is very hot in here—too hot. I could not sleep," whispered Mme. Bender vaguely, her eyes fixed like those of a somnambulist. "Sometimes the sedative does not work. I think it is because I have taken it so often."

She allowed herself to be led back to bed, and with complete docility let Catherine arrange the pillows and remove the stifling eiderdown. It was true that the room was too hot, for the window was closed and there was not a breath of fresh air. No wonder the poor creature could not rest.

"But where is Jeanne?" the girl could not help asking, as she lowered the upper sheet a little and poured some water into a glass, which she held to the patient's dry lips.

Germaine regarded her as though in a dream.

"Jeanne? I don't know . . . she went out, I think, an hour, two hours ago. "Ah," she added quickly, "you must not tell her I was awake! It would only distress her. Poor Jeanne—she does so much for me, and I am afraid. No one in the world cares for me as she does. I know that only too well," she muttered with curious insistence.

Catherine did not oppose her. Seeing that the candles, still alight, were only a few inches removed from the thin white draperies of the bed, she got up and extinguished them, switching on the lamp which stood upon the side table. The acrid smoke from the burning wicks filled her nostrils.

"But did you light the candles, dear?" she asked, coming back to the bed. "You know, I don't think it is quite safe to do that. What were you doing when I came in?"

The gray eyes avoided hers with a look of guilt.

Good morning!

This picture is the adaptation of Katharine Brush's romance that had every good looking young newspaper man wondering if perhaps she hadn't him in mind as Toby, and every lady movie columnist WISHING, ah, yes, that she could look like Ann! The hero and heroine are, you see, newspaper folks . . . and here is a good place to remark that it's a relief to see a fourth estate drama whereln the reporter is not depicted as a sort of magician who sees everything, or, if he doesn't, smells it, and can ALWAYS lead you to where the body's buried. (Of course, bodies are out in this piece, for the sport and movie departments of a daily paper do not indulge in murders.) As a rule.

The Toby of the story isn't any wonder. He's just a nice, bright, lazy boy who means to write fiction some day and is crazy over his charming wife, whom he wooed, won, and married in a few hours' time. He gets complexes over the interest she takes in her job and the money she makes doing outside work—it's more than his salary. It hurts to have her pay the bills, etc.; still, Toby doesn't get around to doing anything about it until Fate swaggers into his life with some Indian clubs that she swings about in ruthless and painful fashion.

It's a pair of staggering blows the lad receives—but they're what he needed.

I thought the book remarkably interesting. The picture entertains, being well made and atmospheric, though with the exceptions of Claudette Colbert as Ann and Charles Ruggles (why DON'T the producers give us more of that man) as Toby's best friend, I couldn't get crazy about the cast. Norman Foster as Toby is nice and natural, but he has none of the magnetism the book Toby possesses. Colorless. And Ginger Rogers as Puff Randolph, the sixteen year old flapper who pursues him, may BE sixteen, but if so—appearances they do deceive!

The dialogue is to the point and well delivered.

Prophecy is that you're going to like "Young Man of Manhattan."

[One need not, of course, remind the Ash fans that there's whipped cream on the Original's strawberries this week, for the "Rajah"—Paul Ash—is there with his gang.

"Mencken Worship Is Not Freedom," Dr. Fosdick Declares

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

One of the greatest needs of the day is independent thinking based upon true freedom. With this declaration the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, New York clergyman, brought to a close the 1929-'30 season of the Chicago Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. Dr. Fosdick stated there is a great dearth of independence of thought on economic, religious, international, and moral questions because of current faultiness in definitions of both freedom and independence.

He pointed to the "flapper" as an example of caricatured freedom and declared that in rejecting the conventional sex goodness of past generations flappers have become slaves to the tyranny of conventional flapperdom.

"Flappers have no independence," Dr. Fosdick said. "They all look exactly alike, dress exactly alike, walk alike, and paint alike. They have lost all individuality and personality in the conventions of their kind. I do not blame them for rejecting some of the former ideas of goodness, but in adopting flapper freedom they have not gained independence."

Dr. Fosdick then turned to the young men who, under the guidance of a faulty conception of freedom, have turned from conventional religious worship "to the very conventional worship of H. L. Mencken. They have gained no freedom, because the H. L. Mencken cult has become widely conventional and represents no independence of thought."

These conclusions Dr. Fosdick based on a definition of true freedom, which he declared to be "the intelligent self-control for self-restraint."

Senn High's Band Wins Cheers After Its Victory at Flint

There was a hot time in the old town last night when the boys came home—the Nicholas Senn High school band boys, who for the second successive year tooted themselves into the national championship at the fifth annual competition held at Flint, Mich. They arrived at the Dearborn station over the Grand Trunk railway, bringing home the bacon, not only figuratively but also literally, as the squealing baby porker constituting their mascot quickly established.

Draping themselves and their instruments over the engine that brought them home, the boys and the squadrons of rooters that met the train did their best to lift the roof off the station with Senn yells and cheers.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you think the United States senators were justified in objecting to dial phones in Washington?

The Answers.

Mrs. Helene Rogers, 1106 East 62d street, tea cup reader—The dial phones would give the senators something to concentrate on. They shouldn't object to that. It would keep them out of arguments over wrong numbers. Dial phones take the complication out of telephoning.

J. F. Wegforth, 5056 Washington boulevard, secretary—When one considers the great benefit the country has derived through the great telephone systems any step that the telephone companies see fit to make to further this service should be welcomed.

Miss Kathryn Valle, 6005 South Keating avenue, page—The dial phone is easier to operate than the other phones. If you get a wrong number it is always your own fault. It saves time; you get quicker service. Those objecting senators ought to forget their old fashioned ways.

George S. McCarrell, 8925 South Bishop street, electrician—I believe they are justified in objecting to the dial phones. There are times when time is very valuable, when the telephone operator could be given the number, make the necessary connections and get the person wanted. In the meantime the senator could be engaged in conversation.

Miss Lillian Hansen, 7 South Dearborn street, secretary—Since we are not senators, we might say that in objecting to dial phones they are too lazy. Can it be they miss flirtations with the telephone girls?

Pupils' Eyes Examined.

The Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness yesterday reported that in the last six months 9,594 school children, believed to be suffering from eye ailments, were examined. Of the number 2,901 had defective vision, 620 were corrected, and 147 are attending eye saving classes.

Germans Cheer Opera of Gay Yankee Living

Composer Gets Frequent Curtain Calls.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 25.—The young composer, George Antheil, from Troy, N. Y., was called before the curtain at the Frankfurt Opera house twenty-four times tonight after the first performance of his opera, "Trans-Atlantic," or The People's Choice." A few hisses were heard, but the applause drowned them out in a few seconds.

The music of the opera fascinated the full house less than its tempo, its plot, novelty of the stage settings, and the brilliance of the performance, and above all the exuberant vitality of life in America as depicted by Mr. Antheil in the libretto he wrote for himself.

The glamour of the New York skyline, the Brooklyn bridge, a trans-Atlantic liner venturing out into the ocean and the emotion hidden under the hard crust of the modern generation of a raucous life swept the staid Frankfurters off their feet and they cheered the opera.

"Most of the music left us cold, but all of the elements of the opera combined gave us a great kick and that is why we applauded." Thus Baron Kellst, a representative of old German traditions, summarized the feeling of the audience.

The public enjoyed what it called "Antheil's jazz," the more melodic passages of his score. Mr. Antheil himself insists that this is not jazz, but a step further of America's new interpretation of the old jazz. The critics aver that numerous passages of Antheil's opera lacked originality, but many of them found charm in the more melodic parts of the music.

The shy, slightly awkward 29 year old composer accepted the applause on the Frankfurt stage. The audience kept on applauding and discussing the event until the iron curtain went down, the lights were turned out, and a fireman stepped on the stage and urged them to go home.

It is understood this opera was refused production by companies in the United States.

Extraordinary stage settings have been devised by Dr. Herbert Graf, with miraculously shifting scenery, and the almost diabolical switching of lights and simultaneous action on several stages add to its furious pace.

THE STAGE

So far as premières are concerned, New York and Chicago are alike this week, without a new play on the calendar. But Broadway is merely marking time until the summer revues are launched, while Randolph street has no hopes of a first night between now and Labor day.

The Chicago list of playbills will be diminished by two titles at the end of this week. "Your Uncle Dudley" will desert the Playhouse, and "Nancy's Private Affair," with Minna Gombell as its star, will end its engagement at the Erlanger.

In reviewing the season, a stage statistician in New York has checked up on the productions that were promised a year ago and not staged. He finds that Mr. Ziegfeld announced a musical version of "East Is West," to be called "Ming Toy," which has not yet seen the footlights; that David Belasco said he would put on a play named "Virgin City" for Beth Merrill, and then apparently forgot about it; that Morris Gest proclaimed an impressive schedule of shows, including "Aha!", a musical comedy by Montagu Glass and a mysterious Russian, which never came true, because Mr. Gest's resources were exhausted by the Freiburg Passion Play and a touring "Miracle" production; that the Theater Guild published its intention to satirize the wild west with Philip Barber's "Dead or Alive," and changed its mind; and that numerous other pieces lived in newspaper paragraphs only, among them, "The Son of Lucrezia Borgia," "The Shyster," "Armistice," and "When Hell Froze."

A year hence one can say the same things about some of the titles that are finding their way into the current announcements for next season. The ambitions of managers always exceed their fulfilment.

Just to keep the announcement business active, it may be said that Alexander McKaig, producer of "Solid South" for Richard Bennett's uses, has a Hungarian comedy which he hopes to stage. Its title in the original translates into "One Cannot Marry a Poor Girl," and it represents the literary work of a certain Istvon Zagan. The play has been a success in Budapest and Amsterdam and is listed for August production of Vienna and Hamburg.

Mr. McKaig recently launched a play called "Broken Dishes" on an engagement in Boston.

"Street Scene" ended its notable New York run last Saturday night with a record of 600 performances and last year's Pulitzer prize to its credit. Two or three companies will carry it on tour next season. Other closings of the week-end in New York were "The Old Rascal" and "Dishonorable Lady"—the latter being Katharine Cornell's latest vehicle, by Margaret Ayer Barnes and Edward Sheldon.

The Dramatic League of Chicago sends word that a similar subscription organization has been founded in Cincinnati with headquarters in the Shubert theater of that city. It will offer a season of six plays, chosen from the list of titles which have been announced for the Dramatic league's uses here. A committee of fifty citizens is lending its auspices to the campaign for subscriptions. C. C.

Veterans Dedicate War Monument in Garfield Park

Pacifism and entangling foreign alliances were denounced yesterday by Attorney General Carlstrom in the principal address at the unveiling of the Norman J. Cornwall memorial dedicated to west side war veterans, erected at Jackson boulevard and Central Park avenue in Garfield park. Three thousand persons attended the ceremonies, held under auspices of Norman J. Cornwall post of the American Legion. Cornwall, a marine, was killed in action.

N O Isaacson, state commander of the disabled veterans' organizations, will speak to the alumni of Dartmouth college at a dinner at the University club today.

A benefit concert under the auspices of the Portage Park Legion post will be given on Wednesday evening at the Portage Park school auditorium, Berteau and Lockwood avenues.

Chicago Plans Day of Honor for War Dead

Veteran of 1861-'65 Will Be Parade's Marshal.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Drums, flags, and marching feet.

Down Michigan avenue where armies have passed on their way to war cheered by throngs, another army will move next Friday — Chicago's peacetime army. The drums will be muffled, and thoughts will be directed to wars that have been, and heroes that are dead. Citizens, watching from the sidewalks and from the windows of skyscrapers, will uncover their heads silently in tribute to the soldier dead.

It is a paradoxical fact that as the "thin blue line" grows thinner the Memorial day parade becomes longer. Gen. James E. Stuart, in his blue and gold trimmed uniform, like that which he wore nearly 70 years ago, will marshal the parade, as he has for many years past. His comrades will be fewer than last year. Stretching back of them for blocks will be their sons and daughters, their grandchildren and great-grandchildren, carrying on in patriotic groups the sacred tradition of honoring the nation's war dead.

Plans for the parade issued by John A. Bell, adjutant general, schedule the formation of organizations at 1 p. m. at Chicago avenue. The head of the column will start south in Michigan avenue at 2 p. m., marching to Roosevelt road and west to Wabash avenue, where it will disband.

Gov. Emmerson, as commander in chief of the state's military forces, will be accompanied at the head of the parade by the recently formed Black Horse troop, Capt. Chauncey McCormick commanding. The governor's personal aids will be Col. William E. Buehler, Col. Charles M. Hayes, Col. Howard P. Savage, and Col. Earl Thornton. Members of the state military staff will follow.

St. John's Military academy cadets, from Delafield, Wis., will form the honorary escort to the reviewing officers, who will include the governor, Mayor Thompson, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, Brig. Gen. Harris A. Wheeler, Brig. Gen. Frank S. Dickson, Col. Nelson Morris, Col. Samuel Insull Jr., Col. Stuart M. Murdoch, and Capt. William P. Wright. Others in the reviewing party will be Michael F. Kelly, Julius Rosenwald, Robert M. Sweitzer, Bernard E. Sunny, W. Rufus Abbott, Edward J. Kelly, Robert E. Crowe, W. R. James, Hugh Smith, Earl H. Caster, Mrs. Nettie A. McGowan, Grank A. Fucik, Morris Huber, the Rev. Edward W. Day, and Will J. Bell.

Northwestern Military and Naval academy will be the honorary escort to the colors with Capt. Joseph R. Kreuser as color bearer, and the escort to the grand marshal and staff will be the band and drill team of the Woodlawn post No. 175 of the American Legion, commanded by Maj. Hamlet C. Ridgeway.

The first division of the parade will consist of veterans of the civil war and auxiliaries — the G. A. R., the Woman's Relief corps, the Ladies of the G. A. R., and the sons of veterans and their auxiliary.

The second division will consist of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the White Star auxiliary, Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba, Veteran corps of the old 1st and 2d Illinois infantry, now the 131st infantry and the 132d infantry of the 33d division.

The army and navy and National Guard units will follow as the fourth division, and the fifth group will include the marine reserve corps, air reserves, civil air corps, National Daughters of the G. A. R., Salvation Army, Boy Scouts of America, and other organizations.

The army and navy groups will follow as the fourth division, and the fifth group will include the Marine reserve corps, air reserves, civil air corps, National Daughters of the G. A. R., Salvation Army, Boy Scouts of America, and other organizations.

A tribute to dead of all wars will be paid at Logan monument at the foot of Ninth street. Immediately after the parade, members of the 124th field artillery, Col. Thomas S. Hammond, commanding, will fire a salute and the artillery band will play the "Star Spangled Banner." Taps will be sounded by 100 members of the drum and bugle corps of Square post, No. 222, of the American Legion.

OUR SECRET AMBITION.

Arnold Blanch Is Modernist Within Reason

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The exhibition of paintings by Arnold Blanch in the Walden-Dudensing gallery comes as a complete surprise. Blanch is a young painter, an American, a modernist, and an active member in the Woodstock group. Woodstock, modernist, young, are three adjectives whose qualifications are practically limitless. In the case of Blanch none of their tritest meanings are with significance. He is of the Woodstock clan, without being inseparably so; he is young, with a refreshing dignity of poise; he is a modernist in the sense of being original.

His paintings are neither banal, imitative, vulgar, commonplace, nor bizarre. They are spiritedly American. They possess reserve and exquisite craftsmanship. The coloring is subtle and delicately varied. Blanch is sensitive to atmosphere and the feel of his landscape is the first thing of which one becomes sure. A little of the German primitive underlies several of the paintings. That same certainty of construction and the same indefinite care with details that marks the German old master is significant in the work of Blanch.

"Mountain Village" has to a great extent the quality of a Currier and Ives print. It is alive, humorous, and drenched with that stolid solitary feel of wayside towns where the flivver at the postoffice door means animation and the single fisherman stands in lieu of a crowd (to his absolute contentment), which we who pass in trains have seen again and again.

"Dry Fields" is a sere and brown landscape, covered with a soft blue sky, ribboned with clouds. "The Blue Road" is a cheerful landscape in greens, and the road winds over a hill, disappearing as suddenly as though the horizon had bitten it off. "Kingston Reservoir" has the added delight of a tiny boat, with white sails and a woodsy feel to the trees, into which ambles an attractive brown path. "Artificial Lake" again is charming for itself and for the precision of its parts.

In still life Arnold Blanch is almost equally sensitive, and there is much to be said for the huge "Legacy" and "Fruit Still Life" and "Onion Still Life." Dealing with persons, possibly, he is less fascinating, because he is still caught in the legend of modernism that a woman to be painted must be fat and never comfortable in her position. Modern women love to lie in the most awkward poses. The "Italian Woman," clothed, is a striking character study.

The etchings by Thomas Blandforth of horses and cows and then more horses are enthralling. They are whimsical and clever. The two groups together, paintings and etchings, make an exhibit well worth seeing.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Mother, on leaving for town, instructed 6 year old Mary to put baby Jack to bed at 4 o'clock. Upon entering the house at about 3:30 mother asked Mary where brother was. "O, I put Jack to bed at 4." Mother said, "Mary, it isn't 4 o'clock yet!" "Yes, it is, because I turned the clock ahead to get rid of Jack." E. H.

The little girl in the apartment next to ours informed us she had a new baby sister.

"Does she look like you?" I asked.

The child thought a moment and then answered earnestly, "O, no, she's a much deeper shade." A. B.

Two Weddings, Racing on List of Day's Events

BY THALIA —

A large wedding in town, the start of the racing at Washington Park and an out of town wedding are the social events of interest on today's calendar.

Miss Helen Farnum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, is to be wed to John Ripley Bigelow of New York City at the Fourth Presbyterian church this afternoon.

Miss Helen Falconer Nicholas, daughter of E. Mithoff Nicholas of Columbus, O., is to become the bride of William Deshler Cox, son of Mrs. Christopher W. Cox of 1539 Astor street in Columbus, also this afternoon.

The Farnum-Bigelow nuptials are to be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock and will be followed by a reception at the Drake hotel. "A large group of eastern guests have come on for the pre-nuptial parties over the week-end and will be in the wedding party.

These include Mrs. Anthony Hasbrouck, the matron of honor, and Mrs. Ernest S. Bush, both of Dayton, O.; Miss Phoebe Drayton of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hudgins of Washington, D. C., the groom's sister and brother-in-law; Horatio Bigelow of New York, and Dan P. Caulkins of Detroit, who are to be best men; Walter B. Booth of Philadelphia, William D. George of Sewickley, Pa., Albert A. Sherman of Westerly, R. I., Malcolm Stevens and John S. McGovern, also of New York. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Bigelow of Charleston, S. C., and Mrs. Wells Henry are others of the out of town guests here.

Chicagoans who have gone to Columbus for Miss Nicholas' wedding to Mr. Cox include the latter's aunt, Miss Ellen Cox; his uncle, Charles Edward Cox; Mrs. Samuel Insull, Miss Cornelia D. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cassiff, the Douglas Harveys, and Mrs. John Ralstons. The service is to be read at 4:30 o'clock at Mr. Nicholas' residence, and a reception will follow. The bride is to wear white satin with a double petal train, a lace veil and tulle veil edged with lace, and will carry a small bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Her attendants, Miss Charlotte Nicholas, Miss Polly Bonney, Miss Anne Orthwein, Mrs. Vincent Hidsey, and Miss Roland Gwynne, are to wear orchid chiffon frocks, long ones with tiny puffed sleeves, and lavender hats, and will carry bouquets of yellow flowers. After a motor trip Mr. Cox will bring his bride to Chicago to reside at 1539 Astor street.

As for the races—they will be attended by a good representation of fashionable race fans, as the Stuyvesant Peabodys and the Howard Gilmans are having two luncheon parties that will include, between them, more than 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. McLennans of Lake Forest are to give a dinner dance tonight this evening at Shoreacres for Miss Virginia Wilson and Charles Dennis, who are to be married on Thursday, and also for Mrs. Claire Childs Wells and Paul McBride, who have set June 7 as the date for their marriage.

The publicity committee for the Garden club's annual flower show, to take place on June 14 at 11 at Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's estate, is to meet at luncheon tomorrow at the Casino. Mrs. Lester Armour is chairman of the committee.

A group of young men, attired in the approved fashions for "barkers," silver tail coats, are to ballyhoo in front of the various side show attractions at the Red, White and Blue club's benefit carnival on June 6 and 7 at the former Potter Palmer residence.

Those will include Knowlton Ames, J. Ward Vilas, Rollin Weary, Prince Michael Cantacuzene, Prince Nicholas Cantacuzene, Darrow Fulton, John Towne Alexander, Kenneth Carpenter, and Thomas Murdock. Mrs. Eames McVeagh and Mrs. Glen E. Taft, co-chairmen of the prize models committee, have added Mrs. Lytton Benello to their group of judges.

The Chicago Smith College club is to have a picnic on June 7 in the gardens of the De Witt Buchanans at Green Bay road, Lake Forest. Mrs. Albert Morrison is in charge of the arrangements.

Prince and Princess Cantacuzene, who have been in Chicago for the last few weeks, are to leave today for Louisville to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Brune Smith, before returning to Washington, D. C. Among the affairs given for Princess Cantacuzene during her stay was a luncheon that Mrs. Silas H. Strawn gave on Friday in her apartment. Prince Michael Cantacuzene has been with Mrs. Hurlbut and her two youngsters since they arrived to spend the summer at Manchester, Mass.

Mrs. Watson F. Blair of 209 Lake Shore drive has returned from a sojourn in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Alan Sharpe, who has been at the Deerpath inn, in Lake Forest, since she returned from her honeymoon in Florida, has departed to join her son and his family in Greenwich, Conn. When she returns in June she will be with her daughter, Mrs. Alice R. Boswell.

Mrs. Abby Farwell Ferry has gone to Pittsfield, Hills, Mass., to visit her son, the Rev. Horace Farwell Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps of Lake Forest left yesterday to motor east. They are to sail on Saturday to spend three months in Europe.

Telegrams on the round-the-world cruise of the S. S. Resolute, who are expected to arrive in New York City today, include Mr. and Mrs. William Emery, Miss Anna Emery, Edward Emery, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner.

[Malcolm Balfour Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Jurgen Petersen of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Dorothy, to George Hassel Craine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Craine, also of Evanston. Miss Petersen attended Saint Mary's school at Notre Dame, Ind. Mr. Craine attended Northwestern university and is a member of Delta Upsilon.

Mother of Listless Child Writes for Helpful Advice

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The following booklets by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope: "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," "Sex Education Booklet," and "Play Booklet." A book on the care of babies by Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

A mother write: "Is there one reason or many for a child of 11 [girl] being listless, especially in her home?"

Since no information is given to the little girl's home or school environment, the answer will have to be general. There certainly are not one, but many reasons why a girl of 11 might be listless, especially at home.

Perhaps she reads too much. This encourages a physical loginess and a tendency to live in a world of unreality. Sometimes the habit of reading too much works this way. But sometimes too much reading is a symptom instead of a cause. It may be a sign of inner dissatisfaction. That is, lack of an interest in life or something awry at home or in school will sometimes cause a child to lose herself in books as an escape.

Perhaps this child has no companions at all or has no companions who are congenial. Perhaps she lives in a neighborhood or under conditions which give her no opportunity or incentive to get air and exercise.

Perhaps she is left too completely to her own devices after school—without manual or artistic work, music, games, or interests of any kind. Perhaps she has not enough of her parent's real interest and companionship. Perhaps her mother is too absorbed in the care of the younger children—or perhaps her mother is more interested in the older children. She may be "left out."

Perhaps she is not well. Perhaps for some one of these or other reasons she is out of key with home, or school, or social life.

Perhaps her parents don't make an interesting home atmosphere.

A child at 11 should not be listless. If she is, she should be helped to be interested in life by the efforts of her parents.

With no more information than is contained in this letter, this is as much help as I can give.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 23.—[Special.]—The Cuban ambassador and Senora De Ferrara gave a luncheon today in honor of their house guests, the Duc and Duchess de Richelieu, the latter formerly Miss Eleanore Wise of Baltimore.

Mrs. Lamont, wife of the secretary of commerce, Robert P. Lamont of Chicago, returned this evening from a few days' visit in Tuxedo. Miss Gertrude Lamont went to Boston last week for a week's visit or more.

Mrs. Hoover has permitted the use of her name as a sponsor for the May fête at Garfield Memorial hospital Wednesday. It will be given by the Women's Aid society of that hospital. Mrs. E. E. Gann and the wives of cabinet members also are acting as sponsors.

Colonel and Mrs. Edward Clifford gave a tea in the garden of their Georgetown home this afternoon to mark the blooming of some of their newest plants.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

More farmers in the midwest states are sharpening pencils and keeping ink flowing from their fountain pens than ever before, according to estimates from Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois on the numbers of account-keeping farmers and the results which they are obtaining.

In Illinois, for instance, 1,933 farmers are poring over their books for last year after having sent them in to the state college of agriculture at Urbana so that experts could analyze and make suggestions. Representatives of the college are starting out now to visit these farmers and give them individual consultations on the theory that other farmers, through keeping records, have reported increased annual profits of as much as $2,000.

In Iowa the system is somewhat different but the results are said to be equally encouraging, with 650 entered in 1929. Farms on which records were being kept last year averaged 47 bushels of corn to the acre, contrasted to the average for the state, which is 40 bushels to the acre.

Returns per farm also show arguments for the record system. The average return per farm in 1929 in Iowa was $560, compared to $458 in 1928—a gain of $102.

Improved Appearance Improves Her Play

By BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen taught the world how to dress for tennis. Paris showed them how. The fair golfer, however, has no such illustrious living examples of fashion form on the links. Dressing for golf so that chic is no handicap to a score of par is a difficult task, but Paris is at last catching on to the technique. Golf clothes with a French accent this season are made out of glorified tricot, because there is no known fabric so perfect for the golfer as the product of the knitting needle. The Paris tricot that goes into golfing suits is firmly knitted in the prettiest of the summer colors, with just enough "give" to the material so you can swing like a champion, and not any oversuppleness to bring on bagginess, which is the greatest menace to the smart golfer.

The suit, which is a champion of all sorts of summer fashions, is also topnotch for golf, and this because Paris has found a way of uniting waist and skirt insolubly and of setting in jacket sleeves so that they respond to the littlest movement. Paris has also found a way of adding individual touches to the golf suit without subtracting its supreme asset of suitability for active sport.

The Schiaparelli suit shown in our sketch is about the smartest example of French chic for the golfer that can be found in Paris. Skirt and jacket are made of bright green and brown tricot knitted in a pattern of wavy stripes. At the top of the sleeves Schiaparelli has set in a wide band of brown jersey, to make the armhole a bit firmer, and she has placed a wide band of the brown jersey about the hips for the same reason, buttoning it with three bright green leather buttons. No chance of the jacket getting out of shape. The blouse of this suit is bright green shantung, with sleeves rolled to the elbows, and it is buttoned on to the skirt under a brown jersey belt.

German Songs Features of Sunday Affairs

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Two choral concerts took the important bookings in yesterday afternoon's musical affairs. The Chicago Singverein appeared at Orchestra hall, an experienced and well trained organization, singing easily and expertly under the baton of Hans Marlow in a program going in for songs rather than more extended examples of choral music.

Several excerpts from Julius Becker's "Die Zigeuner" began the program. A late number was "Das Maerchen vom Glueck" by Franz Wagner, a composer who at the time he wrote this work evidently felt that there was something to be said in favor of the diatonic scale and easily understandable harmonic progressions, and proved his case rather ably. Here there was a solo by Luella Feiertag, who has a good soprano voice and knows how to use it in a convincing manner. She also sang the well known "Un Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville" and a group of lieder.

Max von Weinzierl's "Fruehlingszauber" was the final choral number, and there was further musical assistance from the Bonconi trio, both as accompanying medium for a work by Walter Moldenhauer and independently in two movements from the Mendelssohn trio.

The Chicago Civic Choral society combined with the Waukegan Civic Choral society, two newly organized bodies which have been rehearsing through the winter and spring, made a first appearance at the Studebaker theater under the direction of Ambrose Wyrick. Being young organizations, they are still in the formative period in matters of finesse, but they have made a good start in firm tone and accurate rhythms.

Assisting artists were numerous, four vocal soloists, Nila Franks Weir, soprano, Esther Lea Cole, contralto, J. Herbert Levis, tenor, and J. Francis Lee, bass; two accompanists, Sarah Miller Boyles and Carl O. Behnke; and Richard De Pont, marimba soloist.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Barron G. Collier gave a dinner last night for Miss Helen E. M. Greeff and their son, Barron G. Collier Jr., whose engagement was announced yesterday.

Mrs. Herbert Stewart Stone gave a luncheon yesterday for Mrs. Turnbull Oelrichs.

Mrs. Martin C. Lord and Miss Maria Babcock have gone to Briarcliff Lodge, Briarcliff Manor.

Miss Dorothy M. Chase, who had been at the Berkshire since returning from Palm Beach, has gone to her home in Waterbury, Conn.

FINERY FOR WEDDING IS TOO EXPENSIVE, SAYS BUDGET MAKER

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Teresa Speed, budget expert of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, today presented for consideration by June brides of 1930 the latest thing—trousseau budgets.

There's a $200 budget for the girl who is going to marry a young man who earns $50 a week, a $350 budget for the bride of a $75 a week man, and a $500 budget for the future mistress of a home where the weekly income will be $100.

"It is ridiculous," Mrs. Speed said, "for girls who, after working several years, have $1,000 to spend, to spend all of that when their husbands-to-be earn only $50 a week. They are merely setting up fictitious standards, and later on they will resent their husbands' inability to keep up to those standards."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

An Old-Fashioned Dessert.

The old fashioned snow pudding and its relative or twin, the floating island, make a simple, easy, and acceptable summer dessert. It is a dessert which may be combined with fruit and served in compote glasses and other ways.

For what we may call a simple white and gold dessert for making enough for six people if it is combined with fruit, take one egg, one cup of milk, four tablespoons of sugar, and flavoring. Or we can state this a little more exactly as follows: One egg white, two teaspoons sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one egg yolk, one or two tablespoons cold water, two teaspoons sugar; one cup milk, three tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla or any other flavoring.

Put the milk to heat and when it is hot drop into it a small tablespoon of the white of the egg which has been whipped stiff and sweetened with two teaspoons of sugar and a little salt added. There should be about five tablespoons of the white of egg. These dropped in small tablespoons on the milk, must be cooked until they set. The yolk of the egg, after it is reedy, can be cooked in the same way on the top of the milk. It should be first whipped with the cold water until it is five or six times its original bulk and until every large bubble has disappeared. It can be almost like the egg white, beaten so that it will point.

The egg yolk will fall on the milk in perfect rounds like small cookies, but the white will not. Use two-thirds of the whipped egg yolk for the little rounds, cook these and take them up, then add the rest to the milk to make it custard-like, cook the two to boiling point and then pour this custard over the cooked whites and yolks, which may be in compote glasses, or to make one dish they may be arranged alternately on a layer of cake and then the custard poured over them.

Believe It or Not, Wife Encourages Hubby to Flirt!

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Advice on husband holding, no doubt, is confusing. Women who have no problem whatever with keeping a husband home nights may take too literally suggestions about giving nights off.

"A Contented Wife," for example, has the kind of man obviously content to spend his evenings in her company. But she, as obviously, has been absorbing suggestions that this sort of thing will eventually lead to boredom. So she inspires him to go out—and with other women! Inspires isn't the word. She insists upon his going out and taking some woman companion with him. Which, if you ask us, is going out of your way to invite trouble.

If the wife's generosity were to cover up peccadillos of her own one might understand it. But she is not interested in other men. Her Walter is all she asks of life. But she has been reading about wifely sportsmanship and believes she is playing the rôle and doing it well.

"You may think I am wrong in allowing him to do this sort of thing," she writes, "but after he has been out with other women he comes back to me more appreciative and more loving than ever. And he tells me I am the best pal a man ever had. The reason I do it is that I am afraid he will be bored with me, sitting home seven nights a week. Besides, if he thought I wouldn't be a good sport about it, he might just go out on his own account."

Well, maybe it is the right sort of treatment for Walter. Every woman knows her own husband best. But it is not a course to be advocated generally. There's always the possibility that on one of the free evenings the man may discover his companion to be so attractive that breaking away becomes more and more difficult. It's gambling with a situation that might never arrive were the wife not so full of what she deems good sportsmanship.

All men aren't straining at the matrimonial leash. Some of them like nothing better than to be permitted the pleasure of their homes and their wives' company, night after night. It's all right to let the rope out a bit, but one doesn't have to force a man to take hold of its loose end and go cavorting with it!

Practice Makes Perfect.

Being a beginner stenographer and wishing to keep up my speed in shorthand, I took the opportunity of writing in shorthand the letters which my boss was dictating to his secretary. At one point, not having heard him distinctly, I said, "What was that last part, please? I didn't quite get it all." And up I looked into the bewildered eyes of the boss and his secretary. M. K.

In the Hands of the Assessor.

Before answering the door to the assessor, I slipped my diamond ring in an apron pocket, having heard that diamonds were among taxable articles. When he was through appraising our household goods he arose to go, but first stooped down and handed me my ring which had fallen out of my pocket.

I resolved right there that I would never conceal anything again.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This smart little frock is cut on unusually simple lines. The long-waisted bodice just pretends a hip yoke. This dip at the front combines with the jabot frill, stitched down the center of the bodice, to lengthen the front. The two piece skirt is cut circular and is stitched to the bodice. Printed silk crêpe, georgette crêpe and printed rayon voile are lovely materials for this sort of a dress.

The pattern, 2,654, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 40 inch material with ½ yard of 36 inch contrasting.

Vaseline 'n Patience Make Eyelashes Grow; Here's the Method

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

With a bad-news-from-home look in her usually fine eyes, an acquaintance greeted me with: "Got cream in my eyes; I'm trying to make my lashes grow."

Right there is where a good many women stop trying to make their lashes grow. One or two eye experiences with cream or oil and they're off'n the thing forever. It's a queer thing the way eyelashes aren't given to women in more luxuriant doses. They want them more than a grand complexion. They want them more than anything. Guess that's because they're entwined with romance and more romance, and still more romance.

Eyelash growth can be promoted, but it is one of those things that you can't promote without a deal of patience and grim determination to keep at them every night and every night.

Plain vaseline is the usual domestic expedient and a thoroughly endorsed one, indeed. But vaseline will not do a blessed thing unless you put it on the lashes daily, week and month on end. In most cases it requires a good six months before a marked change is perceptible. But what is six months in a long life that may be made more attractive with finely fringed lids?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

K. R.: YOU MUST DRINK MORE water. Take six to eight glasses every day. Drinking water does much to keep the skin clear and free from odor, and it is necessary to dissolve the food materials and wash away the waste.

H. F. G.: SAGE TEA IS NOT AT all harmful, and is found helpful in many cases of prematurely gray hair.

Because of the wide demand for eyelash grower, the cosmetic trade has responded intelligently with products of quality. Get a good one and stick with it until you have given it a square chance to show what it can do. But remember that health is the basic need for lashes. Good health does not insure longer lashes, to be sure, as witness the many healthy ones of us who'll never get an eyelash prize. Nevertheless, those hairs on the eyelids depend for growth, sustenance, and culture on the same health requisites as does the hair.

If it's curly lashes your heart desires, train them upward and back. When you apply your vaseline or other eyelash growing product, brush up instead of down.

Be careful when you are at it not to get any of the stuff in your eye, so you won't give up after a first day or two.

CHICAGO.

A Specialty

Two necessities in great demand—selling for half of what they could be purchased for anywhere else—terms of a dollar down and a dollar a week.

You should write at least 2 orders a day—yet just one order a day with a dollar deposit pays you $50 a week in full; we prepare your way by getting you right into the home and build for you a clientele that assures additional income.

No competition—we are the world's largest manufacturers of our kind; sincere men of good character assured steady income and financial future. 11TH FLOOR, 23 E. JACKSON-BLVD.

AA1 SALES OPPORTUNITY.

Experienced Auto Salesmen can find a few attractive openings with one of the industry's strongest companies selling a highly popular car.

We can place you near your home.

Ask for W. S. Farrant any weekday between 2 and 4 p. m.

COMMUNITY MOTORS, Inc.,
235 E. 33d-st.

A FEW SALESMEN.

If you want to make money on a new, quick, one-call proposition; if you want to get out and work 5 days on each order and get your money daily, there is a new business for you that is not subject to seasonal or no-business fluctuations. It is not real estate nor stocks and bonds, but something entirely worth while.

Let us tell you about it Monday, between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., in Room 103 La Salle Hotel.

A CITY SALESMAN

who would like a protected territory that will net a real income. You will be paid on sales, whether you work or not at our stores. See Mr. Smith, Room 251, 140 South Dearborn-st.
